Give Up Gibraltar! Spain to Britain

2 MILLION MEN READY TO BACK ME UP—FRANCO

Vows Expansion in Africa, Too.

BY MAURICE ENGLISH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Spain, July 17.—A demand for the return of Gibraltar and the expansion of the Spanish empire in Africa was expressed by Gen. Francisco Franco today at a military ceremony attended by chiefs of the army, navy, and air force.

Gen. Franco.

It is the first time since the European war began that the dictator of nonbelligerent Spain has sponsored demands which have been part of a propaganda campaign since September, Gen Franco declared that to achieve these aims Spain "has 2,000,000 soldiers ready to encounter any one in order to defend her rights." The demand for Gibraltar's return was served on Great Britain.

Decorated in Palace.

The setting of Franco's pronouncements was the Oriente palace where he was decorated with the grand laureate cross of San Fernando—the most coveted Spanish distinction.

Franco declared it was the "duty and mission" of his regime to realize the testament of Queen Isabella—to make Gibraltar again Spanish, to expand in Africa, and to conserve the national unity.

[Gibraltar was annexed to the Spanish crown in 1502, after the Moors had lost it. In 1704 it was captured by a combined force of the Dutch and British, and the prince of Hesse-Darmstadt, fighting for the Archduke Charles of Austria. The Spaniards besieged Gibraltar without success for three years and seven months—from 1779 to 1783.]

Ends Speech With Shout.

Franco declared that the Spaniards must be "ready for continued sacrifices and absolute obedience to their rulers."

He ended his address with the shout, "Arise Spain, Long Live Spain," to which his listeners replied with prolonged cries of "Franco, Franco, Franco."

[The German radio last night said that Gen. Franco and Premier Mussolini of Italy would seek a Mediterranean understanding at a meeting early in August.]

A BRITISH SENTINEL

Gibraltar, the "Policeman of the Mediterranean," stands sentinel for Great Britain over the entrance to that historic sea route. In times of peace, it is a port of call for many ships. Now, in war, it stands as a safeguard against emergence of the Italian fleet into the Atlantic and possible action against the British Isles.

Gibraltar has powerful defenses. Its big guns are emplaced in galleys dug into the rock It is dotted with antiaircraft batteries. It has the protection of powerful units of the British fleet. Britain has boasted that it is an impregnable position. Its food stocks are plentiful.

Envisage Triple Attack.

German strategists have envisaged a combined land, sea and air attack upon the stronghold. German and Spanish troops would attack across the ⅝ of a mile of neutral territory which separates Gibraltar from Spain. The Italians would strike from the air, and big guns, placed in Spain and in Spanish Morocco, would open a heavy bombardment.

Such heavy gun fire probably would be effective, as it is only 4½ miles from Algeciras, Spain, to Gibraltar, and only 15 from Mount Hacho fort in Spanish Morocco across the strait of Gibraltar to the fortress.

This German plan, or course, is predicated on Gen. Franco's entrance into the war. Thus far he has been determined to remain neutral.

The Adventure of a Vacant Pair of Pants

Kenosha, Wis., July 17 [Special].—A tale of a hidden pair of pants was unfolded in court today when an errant wife and her married lover were arraigned following their capture together last night by the woman's sleuthing husband.

The tearful wife, Mrs. Clara Ballweg, 32 years old, mother of two children, and her discomfited sweetheart, Carl Stuebe, 33, who spent the night in jail, were charged with attempted adultery. Their hearing was set for July 22.

One of Husband's Pals.

For years Mrs. Ballweg's husband, Andrew, 38, had worked in the same department at the Massey-Harris company at Racine with Stuebe, and had counted him among his closest friends. But last winter Ballweg began to suspect that Stuebe was even more friendly with Mrs. Ballweg.

He sought diligently but unsuccessfully to learn the exact status of their relationship, even noting fingerprints about the house, but found no real basis for his suspicions until last night.

Hides in Trunk of Auto.

Yesterday he told his wife he was going fishing and would be gone all night. He left the house with his fishing tackle, but went only as far as the garage, where he climbed into the trunk of the family automobile.

He didn't have long to wait until he heard his wife and Stuebe get into the car. They drove for half an hour, with Ballweg bouncing around in the trunk, then the car stopped. The husband heard his wife and his friend get into the back seat.

For a few minutes more he waited, then decided the time for action had come. Stealthily he crawled out of the trunk and approached the side door. He spied an unoccupied pair of trousers. These he seized and hid in some bushes near by. Then he forced his wife and her immobilized lover to remain submissive while he drove the car.

A Blanket for Mr. Steube.

On a well lighted street he zigzagged the car with the desired effect that a police car soon stopped him. All of them went to the police station, where the shivering Stuebe was given a blanket to wrap about himself.

After a telephone conversation with

Steube's wife Ballweg said the two had agreed their mates could stay in jail. But this morning, altho he said he would start divorce proceedings against his wife, Ballweg refused to sign a complaint against her. The action, however, was taken by District Attorney John P. McEvoy.

ROOSEVELT AWAITS ONLY FORMAL NOTICE TO MAKE A SPEECH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18, Thursday.—President Roosevelt sent out word to a waiting group of newsmen at 2:20 a. m. that he will not make any statement regarding his nomination for a third term until he receives official notification of the Democratic convention's action.

Secretary Stephen T. Early said that Mr. Roosevelt expects the official notice of his renomination to come from Senator James F. Byrnes sometime this morning. He then will decide whether he will address the convention by radio this afternoon or tonight.

The President was described by Early as being weary and not particularly happy about the convention's decision. Mr. Roosevelt, with a small group of friends, had huddled close to the radio for nearly six hours. When his renomination was made unanimous by acclamation about 1:37 a. m. he was reported to have turned to those around him and said, with a sigh, "that's that."

HINT ROOSEVELT DELEGATES WILL QUIT HIM IN FALL

Word spread among the Democratic delegates in the Stadium last night that there were hundreds who, after voting for President Roosevelt, as instructed, in the nomination would bolt him in November.

Many of the Democratic delegates who are expected to vote for Wendell Willkie, the Republican nominee, in the fall were reported on good authority to be in the Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas, and Maryland camps.

One Texas leader said, "They may all be for Roosevelt tonight, but there'll be a lot leaving by Friday."

Protests Gag of Efforts to Hit 3d Term

The third term issue burst into flame before the Democratic national convention last evening when Congressman Elmer J. Ryan, a delegate from Minnesota, offered an amendment to the party platform declaring that no man shall be eligible for a third term for the presidency. The proposed amendment reaffirmed, word for word, the traditional position of the Democratic party as set forth in its platform of 1896.

Booing drowned out the clerk's voice as he read the Ryan amendment. There were a few "ayes" and a moment later a roar of "noes."

"The noes have it, the amendment is rejected," announced Chairman Alben W. Barkley.

Denied Hearing by Committee.

Later, while the convention was still in session, Congressman Ryan issued a statement declaring that his amendment was supported by delegates from 24 states. He told how their effort to get a hearing before the platform committee was brusquely denied by the chairman, Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York.

The antithird term plank then was submitted, without a hearing, to the platform committee, and Ryan asked to be heard from the floor on the question. That request, Ryan said, also was denied.

"It is thus apparent," Ryan's statement asserted, "that the Hopkins-Corcoran-Cohen combination is determined to ruthlessly suppress the antithird term sentiments in this convention. In this way, hundreds of delegates who would like to register their opposition to the third term, will be denied that privilege.

Assails the "Palace Guards."

"The President has said he does not desire the nomination; he does not wish to run, and he has released his delegates. The small group of palace guards around him, however, are determined to continue themselves in power regardless of the destruction of American ideals and the third term tradition.

"True lovers of democracy among the delegates will leave this convention with a great feeling of bitterness and frustration. Democratic procedure and principles have been overridden by the gang rules, the boss control and the Kelly-Nash machine tactics employed here. Democratic principles have been denied to the Democratic party in this convention."

PARTY PLEDGES NO TROOPS FOR FOREIGN WARS

Platform Acclaims New Deal Record.

The text of the 1940 platform adopted last night by the Democratic national convention will be found on page 6.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

No participation in foreign wars and national defense adequate to meet any attack by foreign aggressors are outstanding pledges in the 1940 Democratic national platform adopted last night by the national convention. The platform, which was read to the delegates at the Stadium by Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, chairman of the resolutions committee, declared that American army, naval or air forces will not be sent to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas, except in case of attack.

The foreign policy plank furnished the greatest controversy while the platform was in committee. The plank received more attention and discussion than all the rest of the platform.

It has a pledge to provide America with an army, navy, and air force so strong that no combination of foreign powers "would dare to attack us."

It pledges the Democratic party to rigorous enforcement of the Monroe Doctrine.

Aid Against Aggressors.

Concerning aid to the allies the plank pledges to peace-loving people attacked by aggressors all material aid consistent with law and not inconsistent with our own national defense.

It declares America's defense forces are at the peak of peacetime effectiveness.

The platform is silent on compulsory military service. In committee a proposal by Senator Burton K. Wheeler to put in an anticonscription plank shut the gate on any proconscription statement.

The foreign policy plank was written in its final shape after a day of controversy in the resolutions committee. Three times during the day changes were made. At the end the strong noninterventionist group led by Senators Wheeler and Pat McCarran of Nevada declared the plank reiterated all the features of a plank they drafted last Sunday, which for two days was the subject of debate.

Senator Pepper Voted Down.

The aid to the allies question caused most dissension yesterday. Senator Claude Pepper of Florida argued for aid "short of war" as Secretary of Agriculture Wallace had done the day before. Pepper was voted down.

On subversive activities, the platform says we must eliminate treasonable activities of "disguised antidemocratic agencies."

In its preamble and in its planks, the platform extols the record of the New Deal. Its agricultural plank, which has a score or so of pledges, says the Republican party gives promises to farmers and allegiance to exploiters of farmers.

On electric power, the platform praises the party for establishing government hydro-electric plants, and experiments such as the Tennessee Valley authority. It says the Republican party, by nominating a utility executive for President, raises the issue of whether water power shall be used for all the people or for a few.

The platform was divulged to a coast to coast audience by Fulton Lewis Jr. of the Mutual Broadcasting system nearly an hour before it was released by the Democratic national committee.

SENATOR GLASS GIVES HIS PARTY A LAST PROTEST

BY CHESLY MANLY.

Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, the most revered elder statesman of the Democratic party, came to the national convention hall from a sick bed last night to express what may be his last great protest on what he regards as spiritual and moral issues in national affairs.

Senator Glass nominating Farley.

The 82 year old statesman took the convention platform not only to nominate James A. Farley, his esteemed friend, for President of the United States, but was impelled by spiritual considerations, he said, to denounce religious bigotry and to utter his protest, however futile, against violation of the third term tradition.

Gets a Great Ovation.

The audience sensed the drama of the moment when Senator Glass was introduced by Permanent Chairman Alben W. Barkley as one of the most distinguished men who ever sat in the United States senate. There was a burst of applause from the delegates and spectators.

Senator Glass was seated at the rear of the speaker's platform with his bride of one month. The audience gave him a great ovation as he walked slowly to the rostrum.

The senator had no prepared speech. Reporters had ascertained this when they asked him for a copy. He simply uttered the convictions he felt at the moment.

Old Fiery Eloquence Gone.

The senator's voice was hoarse and raspy, an effect of the illness from which he has not fully recovered. He stood grasping the lectern for support during the demonstrations that interrupted his speech.

"There is no material consideration and few spiritual reasons that can draw me from a sickroom half way across the continent to speak a brief word to this national convention of the great Democratic party," Senator Glass said.

Among the spiritual considerations was his desire to present Mr. Farley as "an incomparable Democrat." The others were his protest against violating the third term tradition and his condemnation of religious bigotry, which, he intimated, operated to prevent the nomination of Mr. Farley.

Puts Country Above Party.

Senator Glass described Farley as a man of patriotism who has always put his country above party considerations, and continued:

"He is a genius in matters of political nature; a man of character and intelligence; a man on whose word every human being can always rely; a man who never in all his lifetime ever violated a pledge once given."

Thomas Jefferson, the great Virginian who founded the Democratic party, appealed to that party less than three years before his death never to nominate a man for a third presidential term, Senator Glass declared.

"Always mindful of the principles enunciated by Thomas Jefferson," Senator Glass said, "this man [Farley] stands today unmoved from any source for the principles advocated by the founder of the Democratic party. And out of true consideration for that party itself, for its success and perpetuity, I have come from a sick bed to present to this convention the name of a great Democrat, James A. Farley of New York."

Speech Lasts 12 Minutes.

The senator's speech lasted about 12 minutes, including a four minute demonstration at the first reference to Mr. Farley. At the conclusion of the demonstration following his speech, he extended his remarks, predicting that Mr. Farley would be elected in November if nominated.

Then, in conclusion, Senator Glass said:

"Since I have been sitting on this platform I had two anonymous communications objecting to Jim Farley because he is a Catholic. When I reflected that one of the achievements of Thomas Jefferson which he most valued was the Virginia statute in favor of religious freedom, it made me more determined to present his name than ever before."

There were a few scattered boos at Senator Glass' reference to the third term tradition. The Virginia delegation stood and cheered, waving the state standards, when the senator spoke of that state's loyalty to Jefferson's principles.

STRATEGY WINS 'DRAFT' BEFORE RECORD THRONG

Delegates Rush to Join Bandwagon.

(For a running account of last night's historic convention session, see page 5.)

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

In the presence of 30,000 wildly cheering men and women in Chicago stadium President Roosevelt was unanimously renominated for a third term at 1:25 o'clock this morning by the 28th Democratic national convention. On the first and only ballot the President received 946 13-30 of the 1,100 votes in the convention. The four other candidates had a total of 149 2-30.

The renomination of Mr. Roosevelt shattered the precedent of more than a century's standing by virtue of which no President ever before has been nominated for a third term.

At the conclusion of the roll call before the announcement of the result Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas withdrew the name of Vice President John N. Garner and announced the transfer of the 46 votes of Texas to Mr. Roosevelt.

Farley Joins Parade.

Immediately thereafter Postmaster General James A. Farley, whose name had been presented for the presidential nomination, moved the nomination of the President by acclamation. Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, which cast many votes for Mr. Farley, seconded that motion.

Senator Millard E. Tydings, whose name also had been presented for the nomination, came to the platform next. He withdrew as a candidate and announced the recording of his votes for Mr. Roosevelt.

Gov. Cooper of Tennessee then withdrew the name of Secretary of State Cordell Hull for whom some votes had been cast.

The Farley motion to nominate the President by acclamation was carried with a tornado of ayes in which the galleries joined.

After Chairman Alben W. Barkley had appointed a committee to notify the President of his nomination the convention adjourned at 1:40 a. m. until 2 p. m. today.

Vote for Four Rivals.

The anti-Roosevelt candidates picked up their votes in the following states:

Garner—California, 1; Florida, 1½; Missouri, 1½; Texas, 46; Virginia, 8, and Wisconsin, 3. Total 61.

Hull—Virginia, 4⅗; New York, 1. Total 5⅗.

Farley—Alabama, 1; Massachusetts, 12½; Missouri, 2; Nebraska, 1; Nevada, 4; New York, 25; South Dakota, 5; Virginia, 3 6-15; West Virginia, 4; Alaska, 6; Canal Zone, 6; Puerto Rico, 3. Total 72 9-10.

Tydings—Alabama, 1; Maryland, 8½. Total 9½.

The total of the opposition added up to 149 1-15 votes. There were 1,100 votes in the convention and 4⅗ votes were not cast.

Vice President Next.

The remaining business to which the convention will address itself today is the nomination of the candidate for Vice President. Mr. Roosevelt will have the determining voice in the selection of his running mate. According to members of the Roosevelt board of strategy no decision had been reached this morning.

Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas, majority leader of the house; Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace of Iowa, and Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, permanent chairman of the convention, appeared to lead the field of vice presidential possibilities. Other possibilities for Mr. Roosevelt's running mate include Senator Scott W. Lucas of Illinois, Gov. Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri and Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson of West Virginia.

Federal Loan Administrator Jesse H. Jones of Texas was boomed by Mr. Farley for the vice presidential nomination but he passed out of the picture when the Texas delegation caucused and decided to present the name of Mr. Rayburn.

Wheeler Quits Race.

Shortly before the convention met for the evening session Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana withdrew his name from the presidential contest in the following statement:

"My friends and I have assumed heretofore that the President would neither seek nor accept the nomination for a third term. The events of last [Tuesday] night have changed our opinion. We are now convinced from the President's statement and the character of the demonstration—staged by his managers—who control the convention—that he desires and will accept the nomination. Under these circumstances it would serve no useful purpose to permit my name to be placed in nomination.

"The principles of peace, for which I stand, have been incorporated in the platform of the Democratic party. This is a real victory. If these principles remain inviolate this convention will not have been in vain."

When the platform had been adopted the stage was all set for the "drafting" of the President to break the antithird term precedent. The roll of the states was called and Alabama started with the formal presentation of Mr. Roosevelt's name for the nomination in a speech by Senator Lister Hill.

It took more than two hours to call the roll with one state after another seconding the Roosevelt nomination. Interspersed were the half dozen speeches proposing and seconding the nomination of Garner, Farley and Tydings.

Great Historic Event.

The vast Stadium jammed with sweltering humanity, dissolving from time to time into paroxysms of exultation and adulation, formed the setting of a great historic event. For the first time a major political party bade defiance to the unwritten law since the early years of the republic that has prohibited the election of a President to more than two terms.

The convention renominated Mr. Roosevelt, knowing that he was willing to disregard the tradition, the first President to run for a third term, the first to aspire to a third consecutive term. Two Presidents before him have sought unsuccessfully to serve third but not consecutive terms.

In 1880 Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, who had been out of the presidential office for four years essayed a comeback for another term. But only a small minority of the Republican convention supported him. In 1912 Theodore Roosevelt, who had served seven and a half years as President, and been out of office four years made a similar effort. The Republican convention refused Roosevelt the nomination. He then ran as the candidate of the Progressive or Bull Moose party, split the Republicans and caused the election of Woodrow Wilson with a minority of the popular vote.

Way Paved for Draft.

The statement made to the convention Tuesday night on behalf of Mr. Roosevelt had paved the way to give his renomination the appearance of the drafting of a President unwilling to run for a third term notwithstanding the unwritten law limiting the tenure of the White House to eight years. The responsibility for defying the antithird term tradition, therefore, would be borne not by Mr. Roosevelt but by his party, according to the theory of the President's strategy.

Mr. Roosevelt said in his statement that he does not want another term in the White House, that he is not and never has been a candidate for renomination, that he does not want the nomination, that he never has influenced the selection of delegates to this convention committed to his nomination, and that the delegates are free to vote as they choose.

Unlike Gen. Sherman.

But the convention was quick to note that he did not close the door to his nomination as did Gen. William T. Sherman when he said: "I will not run, if nominated; I will not serve, if elected." In fact, Mr. Roosevelt left the door wide open to his lieutenants in the convention to stage the "draft." The universal opinion of the delegates was that the President could not have told them more plainly that he would accept renomination if he had said it in so many words.

The New Dealers were enthusiastic over the President's coup, which they pronounced the cleverest political strategy that ever sprang from a brain famed for political resourcefulness. They did not doubt that this move to take the curse off the violation of the antithird term tradition and give his renomination the semblance of a "draft" had been contemplated by Mr. Roosevelt thruout the months that he had been aiding and abetting the selection of Roosevelt delegates.

Anti-New Dealers, however, thought the President had outsmarted himself. The strategy to get something he wanted without appearing to want it, they contended, is so transparent that it fools neither the convention nor the country. According to that view, it would react unfavorably upon Mr. Roosevelt in the election canvass.

Delegates Feel Better.

Despite its transparency the statement appears, however, to have created a better atmosphere in the convention. The apparent apathy to the third term in the first three sessions worried the Roosevelt leaders. It was attributed to a feeling of resentment among the delegates at being so completely bossed by the White House. Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins, the President's closest adviser, was on the scene as his vice regent, holding the Chicago end of a private wire to the White House. He was directing the strategy to eliminate all opposition to the naming of the President unanimously on the first and only ballot.

The delegates had the feeling from the start that they were only so many robots going thru a mechanical routine at the pressing of a White House button. The President's statement releasing them to vote as they please, altho recognized as a political dodge, made the delegates feel better. At least, they were human beings again with something to do.

Party Fears Willkie.

One had only to associate with the leaders and delegates for a week to learn that the Democratic party is going into this contest with grave misgivings of the result. On every side one encountered the apprehension that the violation of the antithird term tradition is going to be a millstone around the neck of the Democratic candidate. Also noticeable was the feeling that Mr. Roosevelt, because of his unneutral acts and utterances, falls under suspicion as a President likely to get the country into war.

The spirit of defeatism in the party has increased since the nomination by the Republicans of Willkie, a former Democrat who appears destined to receive the support of millions of conservative Democrats. It has been an open secret since the convention met that scores of the delegates on its floor have declared their intention to vote for Willkie in November.

Yet the very good Democrats who are a prey to these apprehensions are the first to concede that the party could not do otherwise than to renominate the President. He was adjudged the only Democrat who might win the election. To nominate any other would be to present the election to the Republicans on a silver platter. In this connection there was a good deal of bitterness over the fact that Mr. Roosevelt put one rival after another out of the running, thus preventing any of them from building himself up in the public estimation as a potential nominee capable of competing on even terms with the Republican candidate.

2 DELEGATIONS SHARE BALLOTS OF PUERTO RICO

Two contesting delegations from Puerto Rico were seated yesterday by action of the convention credentials committee in session at the Blackstone hotel. The committee, headed by Bernard F. Dickmann, mayor of St. Louis, voted to give each of the 12 delegates one-half vote each.

One group of six delegates, led by W. R. Bennett, national committeeman from Puerto Rico, was pledged to Postmaster General James A. Farley. The other delegates, headed by Louis H. Dexter, was uninstructed, but favorable to President Roosevelt.

Because of the time taken by deciding contests at conventions, the credentials committee instructed the national committee to draw up rules for selecting delegates from territories and possessions. The committee considered a proposal to bar from the 1944 convention any delegates directly chosen by a political body which levies a membership fee. Consideration of the plan was headed off by L. H. Ellis of Alabama, who told the committee its job was to consider contests, not make policy.

Notes of the Convention

Youngest "delegate" on the floor at yesterday afternoon's session of the Democratic convention was Otto Lowe Jr., 7 years old, of Cape Charles, Va. He was wearing the delegate badge of his father, but had no comment to make on the convention.

The delegates appeared a bit frayed around the edges after Tuesday night's demonstration. There was considerable mumbling about corns, bruises, and abrasions.

Lester Marks of Honolulu said the 12 members of the Hawaiian delegation traveled a total of 60,000 miles and paid $12,000 in transportation to attend the convention. He said he thought the convention was worth it, and that the Hawaiian delegation is more than pleased with Roosevelt.

Four cowgirls spent 10 minutes fighting their way to the front of the speakers' platform. When they arrived, a dignitary shook his head and they turned back. Later they reappeared and proved to be the somebody sisters who threatened to sing "Home on the Range" and then did it.

Andy Frain, chief usher, says by actual count 150 deputy sheriffs, deputy coroners, and game wardens have been snooping about the premises. A number of deputy bailiffs have produced warrants or capiases which they maintained they must serve on persons in the Stadium, Frain said.

The count on "God Bless America" was run up to 25 renditions yesterday.

Tom Garry, efficient preparer of the convention hall, added another laurel to his Democratic honors. It was his voice from the radio control room which started the demonstration that awakened the convention.

So well organized were the local Democrats for the Roosevelt demonstration that 10,000 extra demonstrators were reported waiting outside the hall.

Each one of Ald. Jacob Arvey's 50 precinct captains is said to be equipped with an official convention badge. Their honors are reported to run from assistant secretary to assistant sergeant at arms and back again.

Appearance of demonstrations cheered Concessionaire J. G. Grouzard considerably. After a bit of marching the delegates guzzled 20,000 bottles of pop, 5,000 hot dogs, and 3,000 ice cream bars. There was also a boom in photographs of President Roosevelt, 5,000 finding their way to coat lapels of visitors and delegates.

Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien was under the impression that the law and his badge entitled the sheriff to go any place in Cook county. Then he tried to get on to the mezzanine floor.

There was some mystery last night over what happened to a man who organized a three-man Wheeler demonstration in the corridors. The Wheeler placards were found under the grandstand, but the parade organizer was missing. State Representative Arthur Quinn of the 42d ward said he ejected the fellow for misbehaving.

Mrs. Thomas F. McAllister, director of the women's division of the Democratic national committee, tumbled down a flight of stairs in the Stevens hotel and broke a bone in her wrist. Nothing deterred, she appeared at the night session with her arm in a red sling.

William McCormick, 83 years old, Connellsville, Pa., was one of those who won his way into the stadium last night. "Haven't missed a convention since Cleveland was nominated," he said, "and this year we're going to elect Roosevelt."

ROOSEVELT FLIES IN FACE OF AGE OLD TRADITIONS

Seven Others Cast Aside 3d Term Temptation.

In becoming the first President to attempt a third term Franklin D. Roosevelt last night flew in the face of American tradition of 151 years. He disregarded the advice of George Washington and Thomas Jefferson, whose utterances on other matters he has often pointed to as sanction for his own actions, and brushed aside the views of other Presidents who turned deaf ears to the third term urgings of their political backers.

The third term temptation—had Mr. Roosevelt been disposed to look backward—was not one which was faced by Mr. Roosevelt alone. At least seven other Presidents, directly or indirectly, faced the question and indicated their views on the subject. The one President before Mr. Roosevelt who made himself "available" for a third term was Ulysses S. Grant. In his case congress and the processes of party convention saw to it that the matter got no further than availability.

George Washington's Stand.

George Washington was the first to take a stand. Nearing the end of his second term he said:

"The period for a new election of a citizen to administer the executive government of the United States being not far distant, and the time actually arrived when your thoughts must be employed in designating a person who is to be clothed with that important trust, it appears to me proper, especially as it may conduce to a more distinct expression of the public voice, that I should now apprise you of the resolution I have formed, to decline being considered among the number of those out of whom a choice is to be made.

"I beg you, at the same time, to do me the justice to be assured that this resolution has not been taken without a strict regard to all the considerations appertaining to the relation which binds a dutiful citizen to his country; and that in withdrawing the tender of service which silence, in my situation, might imply, I am influenced by no diminution of zeal for your future interest, no deficiency of grateful respect for your past kindness, but am supported by a full conviction that the step is compatible with both."

Jefferson Rejects Plea.

Jefferson was urged to accept a third term, but rejected the idea, reaffirming his belief in the "democratic principle of rotation in office."

"If some termination be not fixed by the constitution or supplied by practice," he asserted, "the term, nominally for four years, will in fact become for life, and history shows how easily that degenerates into an inheritance. Believing that a representative government, responsible at short intervals of election, is that which produces the greatest sum of happiness to mankind, I feel it a duty to do nothing which shall impair that principle; and I should unwillingly be the person who, disregarding the sound precedent set by an illustrious predecessor, should furnish the first example of prolongation beyond the second term of office."

When President James Monroe reached the end of his second term, Jefferson observed that the precedent had become tradition. He wrote:

"The example of four Presidents voluntarily retiring at the end of their eighth year, and the progress of public opinion that the principle is salutary, have given it in practice the form of precedent and usage; insomuch that should a President consent to be a candidate for a third election, I trust he would be rejected at this demonstration of his ambitious views."

Even Regrets Suggestion.

President William McKinley recognized that to entertain the thought of a third term would be to arouse passions which would have an unsettling effect on the country. He said:

"I regret that the suggestion of a third term has been made. But there are now questions of the gravest importance before the country, and their just consideration should not be prejudiced in the public mind by even the suspicion of a thought of a third term. In view, therefore, of the reiteration of the suggestion, I will say now, once for all, expressing a long settled conviction, that I am not only not a candidate for a third term, but would not accept the nomination if it were tendered me.

"My only ambition is to serve thru my second term to the acceptance of my countrymen, whose generous confidence I so deeply appreciate, and then with them to do my duty in the ranks as a private citizen."

Roosevelt the First.

Altho he changed his mind when he launched the Bull Moose party in 1912, Theodore Roosevelt, who served three and one-half years of McKinley's second term, after the latter was assassinated, said upon his reëlection to a second term:

"The wise custom which limits the President to two terms regards the custom and not the form; and under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination."

When he disregarded his own sound conviction in 1912, Roosevelt was defeated. His defense for violating the two term tradition was that he had not been elected to his first term and had not served a full four years.

Probably no latter day President was ever urged so widely to seek a third term as was Calvin Coolidge, who was in the same technical position as was Theodore Roosevelt, having succeeded to fill the unexpired trm of Warren Harding. But on Aug. 2, 1927, Coolidge made his historic statement:

"I do not choose to run."

What Congress Thought."

Following this announcement the United States senate adopted in identical form a resolution passed by the house of representatives 53 years before, when Grant indicated he might seek a third term. The resolution stated:

"Resolved, That in the opinion of this house the precedent established by Washington and other Presidents of the United States in retiring from the presidential office after their second term has become by universal concurrence a part of our republican system of government; and that any departure from this time-honored custom would be unwise, unpatriotic, and fraught with peril to our free institutions."

Grant did not run in 1876, at the expiration of his second term, but his name was placed in nomination four years later. He was rejected by the Republican national convention.

Andrew Jackson, who refused a third term, advocated that the President serve a single term of six years. Andrew Johnson also recommended a single term amendment to the constitution.

WHEELER WINS RENOMINATION IN MONTANA RACE

Helena, Mont., July 17 (AP).— Senator Burton K. Wheeler won Democratic renomination for a fourth term in yesterday's primary election. The senator, mentioned as a possible candidate for President, took a wide lead over Attorney General Harrison J. Freebourn, who campaigned as a Townsend plan champion.

Returns from 807 of the 1,195 precincts gave Wheeler, 53,525; Freebourn, 19,840.

E. K. Cheadle Jr., former Republican state chairman, had more votes than the combined totals of his two opponents for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Miss Jeanette Rankin of Missoula, first woman ever elected to congress, was running a close race with Dr. Jacob Thorkelson, the incumbent, for Republican nomination for first district representative. Returns from 229 of 414 precincts: Rankin, 4,293; Thorkelson, 3,766. In the same district Lieut. Gov. Hugh Adair of Helena led for the Democratic nomination.

FARLEY RETIRES, FAITHFUL TO THE END TO HIS PARTY

Dream Come True Tops Career of Service.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

James Aloysius Farley made his exit from the American political stage last night in a dramatic exhibition of party loyalty for which his name has become synonymous.

After his name was placed in nomination by his political father, Carter Glass, the senior senator of Virginia, and the convention gave him 72 9-10 votes, Farley stepped before the convention to move that the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the man he twice elected to the Presidency, be nominated for a third term.

In the greatest moment of 28 years of political life, Farley received a thunderous ovation from the convention when he was announced at the end of the balloting.

Reads His Swansong.

Grinning broadly he motioned the delegates to take their seats and began reading a statement which he prepared as state after state piled up the vote which shattered American political precedent against a third term.

He began by stating that the convention twice had given him the highest honor in its gift—the chairmanship of the Democratic party—and he was now appearing before that body to ask a courtesy.

"I have pursued a course that has been dictated by the deepest conviction, and when a man fails to follow his convictions he is false to himself, false to his party, and false to his country," he solemnly declared.

"I wanted this convention to proceed as a democratic body should proceed to nominate its standard bearers in keeping with the highest traditions of the Democratic party. That is the democratic method and that has been observed.

Pays Tribute to Glass.

"My name was placed in nomination by a great and noble American. As long as I live I shall be grateful to Senator Carter Glass of Virginia.

"I am grateful to those delegates of this great convention who voted for me and those who would have done so had they not otherwise been pledged.

"Down thru the years I have always been giving my best efforts to the Democratic party. I want this convention to know I will continue to give that same effort to my party.

"Therefore, I move suspension of the rules to declare President Franklin Delano Roosevelt nominated by acclamation."

Delegates Cheer Him.

This example of party devotion, which climaxed the realization of a dream of 28 years—to have his name submitted for the presidency—and a firm conviction against the breaking of the third term tradition, provoked a demonstration from the convention.

Officers of the convention wrung Farley's hand. In tribute to the leader who was making his exit from the American political scene, a tenor sang "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling"—the theme song of the Farley presidential boomers.

Farley turned from the speaker's stand and made his way to his chair the biggest man of the convention equal to the biggest moment of his life. He fought his fight against the third term and when his party turned him down he bowed to the will of his party and in a magnificent gesture, moved to make the third term the unanimous sentiment of the convention.

Cherished Presidential Hope.

From the day he entered political life as clerk of his Republican home town at Stony Point, N. Y., Farley had cherished the hope that he might some day be considered presidential timber.

At the moment he realized that ambition he well knew that he had no hope of securing his party's nomination, but his cup of joy was none the less full, for he had achieved what he considered a fitting climax to his political career.

And he had carried his objective over the combined opposition of both President Roosevelt and a man whom he had saved from a New Deal purge, Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago.

In 1932 Farley's green ink letters and drummer canvass of the country won the nomination for Mr. Roosevelt. In 1936 Farley's political salesmanship brought his chief the greatest indorsement the nation has given a presidential candidate in more than a century.

Recall Aid to Kelly.

Three years ago Farley persuaded his chief not to heed the advice of Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, a Republican turned New Dealer, who urged the President to purge Kelly as the administration had disowned Tammany Hall, in New York City. Last night the man Farley saved was whooping it up for the third term, which Farley could not stomach.

But the few moments of triumph when he was put in nomination last night repaid Farley for the many heartaches ingratitude has brought him since 1936. There was a song in his heart.

"I am truly grateful," he said. "It is the greatest moment of my life. I consider it a high honor to have my name presented, and particularly by such a distinguished American as my old friend Carter Glass. It's great to be an American."

Tomorrow: His Finale.

Farley will complete his exit from the political stage tomorrow when the Democratic national committee names his successor. He will retain his post as New York state Democratic chairman just to keep a hand in at the political table rather than to play the game.

The postmaster general and party chieftain was born at Grassy Point, N. Y., May 30, 1888, of Irish parents. His father died as a result of an accident when Jim, as he is known to hundreds of thousands of Americans, was a youngster.

In his early teens financial circumstances forced his mother to permit him to tend bar in the combination grocery and saloon she operated to keep her family together. Before she would permit him to serve Rockland county neighbors, she made him promise that he would not drink or smoke.

Tapers Off on Gum.

At the age of 52 he has never tasted alcohol nor tobacco. In the last year he has striven to give up the chewing gum habit which displeases his wife.

In 1920 he married Miss Elizabeth A. Finnegan, who has been admiring his convention performance from a box in the Stadium. She is also a Hudson valley native and of Irish descent. They have three children—two girls, Elizabeth and Anne, who have been on the platform with their father—and one son, James A. Jr., the baby of the family, who is at a summer camp.

As a tall, rangy youngster Jim played first base on the town ball team. This brought the early popularity which led county political leaders to place him on the ticket for town clerk of Stony Point in 1912. He held the office until 1919.

In the meantime he entered the cement business as a salesman and he will tell you he was the world's best cement salesman when he quit in 1933 to enter the Roosevelt cabinet after managing the Democratic campaign as party chairman.

In the years between Stony Point and Washington, Farley served in the New York legislature, held the political sinecure of port warden in New York and was chairman of the New York state athletic commission under Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

He and Franklin D. Roosevelt had met only once before the latter became governor of New York and was recognized as a presidential possibility. Once acquaintance was made, it flourished, and Farley worked untiringly to make Roosevelt the leading contender for the nomination at Chicago in 1932. He inspired the deal with Texas and California which made that nomination a reality.

Farley has a tremendous capacity for work. He maintains a huge correspondence, spends hours on the phone and finds time to see all callers while working at a schedule which would break down most men.

In 1936 Farley rolled up his shirt sleeves and by his personal drive he carried 46 of the 48 states for Roosevelt. For this unparalleled campaigning he received public thanks from his chief on election night, 1936.

Forgotten by His Boss.

After election night Mr. Roosevelt forgot the man who had made him President and who is acknowledged to be the political master of the day. Farley was not consulted in the fight to pack the Supreme court, because he was known to be out of sympathy with it. Consequently he was not called on to direct the purge of the senators who defeated that plan.

Jim advised his chief to forget that lost battle and seek to re-establish party harmony. Mr. Roosevelt ignored that advice and put the political campaign in the hands of Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins, a social worker, and Thomas G. Corcoran and Ben Cohen, White House lobbyists.

When this strategy board lost the purge campaign in every state. Mr. Roosevelt secretly blamed Farley for its failure, altho Farley had told him it had no chance of success.

From this coolness developed a break, altho neither Roosevelt nor Farley would acknowledge it when Farley showed himself indisposed to lead the Roosevelt drive for a third term.

Farley went about the country "selling stamps" as he put it, but the White House was confident he was selling himself for the presidential nomination. The White House, however, could not openly break with Farley because he did nothing but praise the New Deal and its chief in his addresses.

Never in those days did the President give Farley any hint of his third term plans and never did Farley ask for them.

Not until the day before Farley left for Chicago to direct convention preliminaries did Mr. Roosevelt confide his secret to Farley's ears. In the President's boyhood home at Hyde Park., N. Y., Farley learned that Mr. Roosevelt would make no move to secure the nomination, but would accept a draft.

After Farley came to Chicago, he learned that Mr. Roosevelt had set up a strategy board consisting of Hopkins, Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.], and Frank Walker, who financed the 1932 preconvention campaign, to conduct the draft movement. Farley found the President did not regard this as lifting his hand for the nomination.

With outward urbanity but inward irritation, Farley watched this group put the heat on his friends among the delegates, and in particular on the Massachusetts delegation, which was pledged to him.

He made no attempts at retaliation. In his frequent contacts with the press he preserved his high good humor and even in his contacts with the opposition groups he showed no rancor.

Works Against Stampede.

He bent his efforts toward heading off a stampede for Roosevelt which would prevent his own name from being offered, a distinction which the administration begrudged him.

Farley balked a New Deal plan to persuade Glass not to nominate him. He balked new efforts to halt all nominations and allow no name but Roosevelt's to be voted upon.

And when the triumph of having his name put in nomination last night was his, Farley did not gloat. Nor does he intend to "take a walk" in the campaign, altho he will no longer be chairman.

He will show his successor the ropes and make speeches for the Democratic ticket.

SCALPERS WAIL AS CONVENTION PLANS CHANGE

Scalpers sent up a wail of dismay yesterday over the change in Democratic convention schedule which set the renomination of President Roosevelt for last night. They were short of seats for the nominating session.

"We loaded up on tickets for the convention fireworks we expected Thursday and Friday," one scalper complained.

Drawing the prospective customer into a Madison street tavern, he promised to deliver a pair of mezzanine seats for $22.50. First balcony tickets were $5, second balcony, $3.50. The Barnes ticket agency in the Palmer House offered only second balcony tickets at $4 each. Cole's agency in the Hotel Sherman said it had two single mezzanine tickets at $8 apiece, with balcony tickets at $2.50.

American Gifts Grow.

LONDON, July 17 (AP).—The London depot for American gifts for civilian relief has assembled 75,000 garments, knitted some 30,000 pounds of wool into wearing apparel, and made up 60 miles of dress goods into clothing since opening last February, it was announced today. The American ambulance corps of Great Britain to which Americans have contributed 115,000 pounds [about $460,000] already has 100 ambulances in service and has acquired an additional 160 cars.

Food to French Refugees.

GENEVA, Switzerland, July 17 (AP).—A trainload of food supplies, provided by a $100,000 fund for French refugees, left Geneva yesterday for Lyons, Toulouse, and other parts of France unoccupied by German troops. A second train is being loaded today.

JAM GALLERIES TO OVERFLOWING FOR NIGHT SHOW

10,000 Mill Outside Hall; 30,000 Inside.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

The Democratic national convention played to an overflow house last night. A crowd of 30,000 persons, nearly 10,000 more than the Chicago Stadium's seating capacity, jammed every inch of the building.

The galleries were a solid mass of spectators. The throngs sat in the aisles, jostled each other in the corridors, rampaged on the floor, in the mezzanine, and in the balconies. And outside, a grumbling mob, estimated at more than 10,000 milled about the gates, fighting vainly to get in.

Ear Splitting Demonstrations.

And the official business of the conclave, in contrast to the dull afternoon session, was charged with excitement as the platform was read and presidential nominations were made. There were periodic ear splitting demonstrations.

At 8 p. m. Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed police, ordered both pass gates locked.

Madison street cars, halted by the disappointed crowd outside, lined up and failed to budge despite clanging bells. Cabs and motorists were snarled in the crowded street.

30,000 Crowd Into Hall.

Andy Frain, in charge of ushers, said it was the largest crowd ever to pack the Stadium. He suspected that of the 30,000 who got inside, 5,000 had used fake tickets. Many holders of genuine tickets couldn't get in.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen said 60 persons were treated at the two emergency first aid stations, and others of whom no record was kept were treated at the five nurse stations. Ten suffered heart attacks, 12 fainted, and 25 had cuts and bruises.

EVENING SESSION

Seats began filling early for the evening session.

Down in the Illinois section, on the arena floor, Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th] and County Chairman Pat Nash were the earliest arrivals, occupying the two choice places on the center aisle.

Permanent Chairman Alben W. Barkley had selected a conservative gray business suit, single breasted, for the occasion. A dark maroon tie completed the ensemble.

At 8:10 the gavel was still silent. By this time the top galleries were completely filled and spectators were standing at the rear of the seats all around the great oval of the Stadium.

Wagner Takes His Seat.

Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, chairman of the platform committee, took a seat about 10 feet behind Barkley, and mopped his face with a big tan handkerchief.

Barkley began pounding the gavel at 8:20.

The delegates arose for the prayer of invocation by the Rev. William McInnes of Mayfair Presbyterian church, Chicago.

There was confusion on the floor after the prayer and Barkley admonished the delegates to preserve order because "we are about to enter an important session of this convention."

Phil Regan, Irish tenor, sang the national anthem. The convention applauded what Barkley described as a beautiful rendition.

Slattery Gets Ovation.

Barkley introduced Senator James M. Slattery, the junior senator from Illinois. Illinois delegates gave their colleague an ovation.

The Illinois senator launched into a welcoming speech. Before he had gone a minute, however, he took a sidewise swipe at Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican standard bearer.

The speech then veered to the familiar "We want Roosevelt" motif.

The Chicago Opera company chorus of 60 voices was then ushered to the stage. Accompanied by the organ, the chorus offered "In Old New York" for the east, "Swanee River" for the south, "On the Banks of the Wabash" for the middle west, "Home on the Range" for the far west, and closed with "God Bless America."

Barkley announced that "after long and arduous labors" the committee on resolutions was ready to report. He recognized Senator Wagner and tossed him a bouquet for sponsoring "more progressive legislation" than any man in the country.

The platform was unanimously adopted, Wagner said, and there was applause. Then he launched into the reading of the document.

Farley Greets Glass.

National Chairman James A. Farley and Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, both wearing light tan summer suits, greeted each other warmly on the stage when the latter entered at this moment.

Cheers burst out whenever Wagner mentioned Roosevelt's name or any measure which the administration claims has moved the country nearer to the millenium.

As Wagner neared the end Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, floor leader of the Roosevelt drive, paid a visit to the stage. He went into a series of huddles with several of the third term supporters there and then dashed back to the floor.

Wagner continued against a rising hubbub on the floor. An Iowa delegate tied a corn stalk to his state standard. Klieg lights attached to the balconies were turned on and flooded the vast auditorium with a dazzling whiteness.

Wagner finished the platform at 9:35 p. m., and it was adopted soon afterwards.

Gavels House to Order.

Chairman Barkley then gavelled the house to order. He reminded the delegates that nominating speeches would be limited to 20 minutes and seconding speeches to five.

The call of states was about to begin.

At 9:42, Barkley announced the convention would proceed with the call of the states.

"Alabama!" was called.

Barkley said a spokesman for the delegation would come forward. It was Senator Lister Hill.

"The Alabama delegation places its duty to the country above selfish aims," he asserted. "Our delegation first had desired to place in nomination the illustrious son of Alabama, the speaker of the house of representatives, William B. Bankhead.

Tells of Duty to Country.

"But that desire was overwhelmed by the desire to put duty to the country first.

"This is no time for untried hands to pilot the ship of state."

The encomium for the President followed. The historic moment was approaching.

"If war is inevitable he can win for us and he will," shouted Hill.

There was a spattering applause.

"I am proud to offer——"

At this point something went wrong with the microphone and Hill's voice was transformed into an unintelligible gurgle. The crowd laughed.

"I place in nomination, for President of the United States, Franklin Delano Roosevelt," he said.

A great shout went up. The demonstration swept over the convention like a forest fire. It began at 9:53 p. m.

New Jersey's banner was first in the parade.

Washington swung into line.

Utah followed, and then Colorado and Massachusetts.

Arvey Carries Banner.

Alderman Arvey carried the Illinois banner.

Six states and two territories stayed out of the stampede. They were Oklahoma, Kansas, Virginia, Nevada, Texas, Maine, Alaska, and the Panama Canal Zone.

Signs and posters popped up all over the hall.

They said:

"We want Roosevelt."

"Give us Roosevelt."

"Roosevelt and Humanity."

Jake Factor, the one time stock promoter whom England tried to grab for trial, was in a front row joining in the jubilation.

The Iowa corn stalks waved madly. Cowbells rang.

Texas, pledged to Garner, again became a storm center. While virtually all Lone Star state delegates watched the wild procession coolly, one seized the standard and joined the marchers.

At 10:01 Barkley pounded his gavel, but a shout of protest arose. He tried again a few minutes later.

The demonstrators know he wasn't really serious about the command to come to order and they kept going.

The Din Builds Up.

The din built up in crescendo and tempo.

There was a shower of paper from the galleries at the west end of the Stadium but the spectators were generally observing the celebration rather than participating in it.

At 10:15 after the demonstration had gone for 22 minutes Barkley pleaded for order so the call of states could continue. The noise died down.

Arizona passed.

Arkansas yielded to Virginia.

Senator Glass was introduced with a word of praise from Barkley for his long career as a statesman. The aging Virginian received an ovation. Then he made his speech nominating Farley.

Farley Demonstration Starts.

When he had finished, a roar went up.

The Farley demonstration was on.

There was a fight over the Massachusetts banner, but a Farley delegate finally got in line. The Farley parade included also Ohio, Montana, New Jersey, Arizona, and the Canal Zone.

Gov. Herbert H. Lehman and Tammany Leader Christopher Sullivan had a pulling contest over the New York state banner.

California was called and her allegiance to Roosevelt was reaffirmed by Gov. Culbert L. Olson.

Connecticut was called, and the microphone was turned over to Senator Francis Maloney of that state. He called attention to the European war.

"It's no time to take off our national armor," shouted Maloney, and he seconded the nomination of Roosevelt.

Gov. Lehman Speaks.

Delaware, next on the roll call, yielded to New York.

Gov. Herbert H. Lehman was recognized and got a hand.

The New York governor recalled his long political association with Roosevelt. In a brief speech he said it was a matter of great pride to repeat his words of the 1936 convention and second the President's nomination.

Senator Claude Pepper was introduced to second Roosevelt when Florida was called.

This was the end of the Roosevelt seconding speeches because under the rules only four could be made for any candidate. With Barkley's consent, delegation chairmen were allowed to second nominations without speeches attached.

Nash Seizes Microphone.

Pat Nash seized the microphone on the floor when Illinois was called to announce the entire delegation would plump for the President.

When Maryland was called, Edward J. Colgan Jr., a delegate from Baltimore, appeared on the stage and was recognized. Hearkening to troubled world conditions, he said the Democratic party was qualified to furnish the best man for the White House.

As Colgan's speech lengthened out over the 20 minute limit, the crowd was restless.

"Name him! Name him!" came the shouts.

Colgan went on in the face of a rising storm to nominate Maryland's native son, Millard Tydings, one of those who beat the Roosevelt purge in 1938.

Mention of Tydings' name precipitated a short demonstration.

Massachusetts was next. Patrick A. Doyle, a delegate from the Bay state, was recognized to make a statement on behalf of "a group of delegates." It was a seconding speech for Farley.

Down the roll of states went the reading clerk, stopping at New York, where Raymond Fisher of Rockland county seconded Farley's nomination.

Little Rhode Island was called. Former Gov. Robert E. Quinn said the state was for Roosevelt, altho Farley was an eminent gentleman.

Texas came along and Wright Morrow of Houston took the rostrum to nominate Vice President John Nance Garner.

The Garner nominating speech wound up at 11:45 p. m. From the organ loft came the strains of "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon Us."

Following the Texas banner was House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn, his bald head glistening with perspiration under the lights. Other state standards failed to budge.

The Garner demonstration died a natural death at the end of nine minutes.

Utah Goes for Roosevelt.

Utah was called and went for Roosevelt.

West Virginia announced there would be five votes for Farley when the time came and the rest for the President.

When Wisconsin's turn came, a voice from the Badger state delegation said the state was for Roosevelt.

Delegate Willis E. Donley of Menomonie took issue with the statement and was offered the stage microphone. He took it to remind the convention that Garner had garnered three delegates in the primary. Then Donley launched into a seconding speech for the Vice President.

Senator Joseph O'Mahoney of Wyoming announced his state seconded the Roosevelt nomination.

There was a burst of applause when Alaska seconded Farley's name.

Good Words for Both.

Alaska seconded Farley but District of Columbia said it was for Roosevelt despite its high regard for the postmaster general.

Puerto Rico split between Roosevelt and Farley.

Virgin Islands ended the roll call with a second for Roosevelt.

Routine committee announcements were made at 12:10.

It was 12:15 a. m., two and a half hours after the nominating began when the voting started.

Howls went up each time the votes for Roosevelt were announced.

Pat Nash announced the entire bloc of 58 Illinois votes were for Roosevelt.

When Maryland was called, Tydings went to the microphone to say he had requested his state's delegates to do as they saw fit. Maryland's Governor Herbert R. O'Connor announced 7½ for Roosevelt and 8½ for Tydings.

Demand Poll of State.

The chairman of the Massachusetts delegation announced there were 21 1-3 votes for Roosevelt and 11 2-3 for Farley. Delegate John T. Coan of Swampscott protested and demanded a poll of the delegation. Chairman Barkley granted the request.

A groan went up from the galleries.

The official count on Massachusetts was: Roosevelt, 21½; Farley, 12½.

When the chairman of the Minnesota delegation announced his state cast 22 votes for Roosevelt there was a shout of protest.

It came from Congressman Elmer J. Ryan, author of an antithird term amendment to the platform which was squelched earlier in the evening.

Ryan finally withdrew, saying he conceded a poll would show his as the lone Farley vote. Chairman Barkley ruled in that case the state's unit rule applied and all 22 went for Roosevelt.

Hull Gets Complimentary Vote.

New York cast 64½ votes for Roosevelt, 25 for Farley, and a complimentary ballot for Secretary of State Cordell Hull. The hands on the convention clocks pointed to 12:55 a. m., and Roosevelt already had plenty of votes for the nomination.

Farley obtained 5 from South Dakota, while Roosevelt received 3.

Virginia was fractionally split and the chairman could not figure out how the state stood on the first announcement.

The Virginia chairman said he would simplify the tally. It went as follows: Roosevelt, 5 and 14-15; Farley, 3 and 6-15; Garner, 8, and Hull, 4 and 10-15.

Groans swept the galleries again when the Washington delegation was polled.

Two of the delegates from Washington announced they were for Roosevelt because they knew he was for cherished dam projects in their state.

Farley came up to the stage toward the end of the Washington poll. Barkley was finally notified that the state had a unit rule and announced all Washington's 16 would go to Roosevelt.

The West Virginia vote, as announced by the chairman, was then challenged. Another poll started.

After Roosevelt's nomination had been made uanimous on a motion by Farley the convention adjourned until 2 p. m. today.

AFTERNOON SESSION

It was 2:16 p. m. when Senator Barkley rapped the gavel for order for the afternoon session. The seats on the floor and the galleries were only partly occupied and many of the delegates were reported resting after their strenuous cheering the night before.

Miss Virginia Verrill, movie and radio star, sang "God Bless America," and Ken Murray of the movies made a speech in which he poked fun at Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican nominee. He predicted that Willkie would be "back in his power plant next November," and wouldn't have time to deliver any dynamo side chats.

The only formal oration was delivered by Homer Mat Adams, president of the Young Democratic clubs of America and Illinois state pay roller, who declared that the youth of America was dedicated to a program of adequate national defense, but was solidly opposed to sending soldiers out of the western hemisphere to fight.

HERE'S PLATFORM OF DEMOCRATIC PARTY FOR 1940

Full Text as Adopted by the Convention.

Following is the text of the Democratic platform as adopted by the national convention last night:

PREAMBLE.

"The world is undergoing violent change. Humanity, uneasy in this machine age, is demanding a sense of security and dignity based on human values.

"No democratic government which fails to recognize this trend—and take appropriate action—can survive.

"That is why the government of this nation has moved to keep ahead of this trend; has moved with speed inexplicable to those who do not see this trend.

"Outside the Americas established institutions are being overthrown and democratic philosophies are being repudiated by those whose creed recognizes no power higher than military force, no values other than a false efficiency.

"What the founding fathers realized upon this continent was a daring dream, that men could have not only physical security, not only efficiency, but something else in addition that men had never had before—the security of the heart that comes with freedom, the peace of mind that comes from a sense of justice.

Defense Against World Revolt.

"To this generation of Americans it is given to defend this democratic faith as it is challenged by social maladjustment within and totalitarian greed without. The world revolution against which we prepare our defense is so threatening that not until it has burned itself out in the last corner of the earth will our democracy be able to relax its guard.

"In this world crisis the purpose of the Democratic party is to defend against external attack and justify by internal progress the system of government and way of life from which the Democratic party takes its name.

"Toward the modern fulfillment of the American ideal the Democratic party, during the last seven years, has labored successfully.

"1. To strengthen democracy by defensive preparedness against aggression, whether by open attack or secret infiltration;

"2. To strengthen democracy by increasing our economic efficiency; and

"3. To strengthen democracy by improving the welfare of the people.

Must Use All Resources.

"These three objectives are one and inseparable. No nation can be strong by armaments alone. It must possess and use all the necessary resources for producing goods plentifully and distributing them effectively. It must add to these factors of material strength the unconquerable spirit and energy of a contented people, convinced that there are no boundaries to human progress and happiness in a land of liberty.

"Our faith that these objectives can be attained is made unshakable by what has already been done by the present administration—in stopping the waste and exploitation of our human and natural resources, in restoring to the average man and woman a stake in the preservation of our democracy, in enlarging our national armaments, and in achieving national unity.

"We shall hold fast to these gains.

"We are proud of our record.

"Therefore the party in convention assembled indorses wholeheartedly the brilliant and courageous leadership of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his statesmanship and that of the congress for the past seven trying years. And to our President and great leader we send our cordial greetings.

FOREIGN RELATIONS

"The American people are determined that war, raging in Europe, Asia, and Africa, shall not come to America.

"We will not participate in foreign wars and we will not send our army, naval, or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas except in case of attack.

"We favor and shall rigorously enforce the Monroe Doctrine. The direction and aim of our foreign policy has been, and will continue to be, the security and defense of our own land and the maintenance of its peace.

"For years our President has warned the nation that organized assaults against religion, democracy and international good faith threatened our own peace and security. Men blinded by partisanship brushed aside these warnings as war mongering and officious intermeddling. The fall of 12 nations was necessary to bring the belated approval of legislative and executive action that the President had urged and undertaken with the full support of the people. It is a tribute to the President's foresight and action that our defense forces are today at the peak of their peacetime effectiveness.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

"Weakness and unpreparedness invite aggression. We must be so strong that no possible combination of powers would dare to attack us. We propose to provide America with an invincible air force, a navy strong enough to protect all our seacoasts and our national interests, and a fully equipped and mechanized army. We shall continue to coördinate these implements of defense with the necessary expansion of industrial productive capacity and with the training of appropriate personnel. Outstanding leaders of industry and labor have already been enlisted by the government to harness our mighty economic forces for national defense.

"Experience of other nations gives warning that total defense is necessary to repel attack, and that partial defense is no defense.

UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES

"We have seen the downfall of nations accomplished thru internal dissension provoked from without. We denounce and will do all in our power to destroy the treasonable activities of disguised antidemocratic and un-American agencies which would sap our strength, paralyze our will to defend ourselves, and destroy our unity by inciting race against race, class against class, religion against religion, and the people against their free institutions.

"To make America strong, and to keep America free, every American must give of his talents and treasure in accordance with his ability and his country's needs. We must have democracy of sacrifice as well as democracy of opportunity.

GOOD NEIGHBOR POLICY

"To insure that our armaments shall be implements of peace rather than war, we shall continue our traditional policies of the good neighbor; observe and advocate international respect for the rights of others and for treaty obligations; cultivate foreign trade thru desirable trade agreements, and foster economic collaboration with the republics of the western hemisphere.

AID AGAINST AGGRESSORS

"In self-defense and in good conscience, the world's greatest democracy cannot afford heartlessly or in a spirit of appeasement to ignore the peace loving and liberty loving peoples wantonly attacked by ruthless aggressors.

"We pledge to extend to these peoples all the material aid at our command, consistent with law and not inconsistent with the interests of our own national self-defense—all to the end that peace and international good faith may yet emerge triumphant.

CIVIL LIBERTIES

"We do not regard the need for preparedness a warrant for infringement upon our civil liberties, but on the contrary we shall continue to protect them, in the keen realization that the vivid contrast between the freedom we enjoy and the dark repression which prevails in the lands where liberty is dead affords warning and example to our people to confirm their faith in democracy.

AGRICULTURE

"We must strengthen democracy by increasing our economic efficiency.

"The Republican party gives its promises to the farmer and its allegiance to those who exploit him.

"Since 1932 farm income has been doubled; six million farmers, representing more than 80 per cent of all farm families, have participated in an effective soil conservation program; the farm debt and the interest rate on farm debt have been reduced, and farm foreclosures have been drastically curtailed; rural highways and farm to market roads have been vastly improved and extended; the surpluses on the farms have been used to feed the needy; low cost electricity has been brought to five million farm people as a result of the rural electrification program; thousands of impoverished farm families have been rehabilitated; and steps have been taken to stop the alarming growth of farm tenancy, to increase land ownership, and to mitigate the hardships of migratory farm labor.

PLEDGES ARE LISTED

"We pledge ourselves:

"To make parity as well as soil conservation payments until such time as the goal of parity income for agriculture is realized.

"To extend and enlarge the tenant purchase program until every deserving tenant farmer has a real opportunity to have a farm of his own.

"To refinance existing farm debts at lower interest rates and on longer and more flexible terms.

"To continue to provide for adjustment of production thru democratic processes to the extent that excess surpluses are capable of control.

"To continue the program of rehabilitation of farmers who need and merit aid.

"To preserve and strengthen the ever normal granary on behalf of the national defense, the consumer at home and abroad, and the American farmer.

"To continue to make commodity loans to maintain the ever normal granary and to prevent destructively low prices.

"To expand the domestic consumption of our surpluses by the food and cotton stamp plan, the free school lunch, low cost milk and other plans for bringing surplus farm commodities to needy consumers.

"To continue our substantially increased appropriations for research and extension work thru the land grant colleges, and for research laboratories established to develop new outlets for farm products.

"To conserve the soil and water resources for the benefit of farmers and the nation.

"In such conservation programs we shall, so far as practicable, bring about that development in forests and other permanent crops as will not unduly expand live stock and dairy production.

"To safeguard the farmer's foreign markets and expand his domestic market for all domestic crops.

"To enlarge the rural electrification program.

"To encourage farmer owned and controled coöperatives.

"To continue the broad program launched by this administration for the coördinated development of our river basins thru reclamation and irrigation, flood control, reforestation and soil conservation, stream purification, recreation, fish and game protection, low cost power, and rural industry.

"To encourage marketing agreements in aid of producers of dairy products, vegetables, fruits, and specialty crops for the purpose of orderly marketing and the avoidance of unfair and wasteful practices.

"To extend crop insurance from wheat to other crops as rapidly as experience justifies such extension.

"To safeguard the family-sized farm in all our programs.

"To finance these programs adequately in order that they may be effective.

RESETTLEMENT PROGRAM

"In settling new lands reclaimed from desert by projects like Grand Coulee, we shall give priority to homeless families who have lost their farms. As these new lands are brought into use, we shall continue by federal purchase to retire from the plow submarginal lands so that an increased percentage of our farmers may be able to live and work on good land.

"These programs will continue to be in the hands of locally elected farmer committees to the largest extent possible. In this truly democratic way we will continue to bring economic security to the farmer and his family while recognizing the dignity and freedom of American farm life.

INDUSTRY AND THE WORKER

"Under Democratic auspices more has been done in the last seven years to foster the essential freedom, dignity and opportunity of the American worker than in any other administration in the nation's history. In consequence labor is today taking its rightful place as a partner of management in the common cause of higher earnings, industrial efficiency, national unity and national defense.

"A far flung system of employment exchanges has brought together millions of idle workers and available jobs. The workers' right to organize and bargain collectively thru representatives of their own choosing is being enforced. We have enlarged the federal machinery for the mediation of labor disputes. We have enacted an effective wage and hour law. Child labor in factories has been outlawed. Prevailing wages to workers employed on government contracts have been assured.

"We pledge to continue to enforce fair labor standards; to maintain the principles of the national labor relations act; to expand employment training and opportunity for our youth, older workers, and workers displaced by technological changes; to strengthen the orderly processes of collective bargaining and peaceful settlement of labor disputes and to work always for a just distribution of our national income among those who labor.

"We will continue our efforts to achieve equality of opportunity for men and women without impairing the social legislation which promotes true equality by safeguarding the health, safety, and economic welfare of women workers. The right to work for compensation in both public and private employment is an alienable privilege of women as well as men, without distinction as to marital status.

COAL STABILIZATION ACT

"The production of coal is one of our most important basic industries. Stability of production, employment, distribution, and price are indispensable to the public welfare. We pledge continuation of the federal bituminous coal stabilization act and sympathetic consideration of the application of similar legislation to the anthracite coal industry, in order to provide additional protection for the owners, miners, and consumers of hard coal.

"We shall continue to emphasize the human element in industry and strive toward increasingly wholehearted coöperation between labor and industrial management.

CAPITAL AND BUSINESS

"To make democracy strong, our system of business enterprise and individual initiative must be free to gear its tremendous productive capacity to serve the greatest good of the greatest number.

"We have defended and will continue to defend all legitimate business.

"We have attacked and will continue to attack unbridled concentration of economic power and the exploitation of the consumer and the investor.

"We have attacked the kind of banking which treated America as a colonial empire to exploit; the kind of securities business which regarded the stock exchange as a private gambling club for wagering other people's money; the kind of public utility holding companies which used consumers' and investors' money to suborn a free press, bludgeon legislatures and political conventions, and control elections against the interest of their customers and their security holders.

"We have attacked the kind of business which levied tribute on all the rest of American business by the extortionate methods of monopoly.

Follow Thru with Remedy.

"We did not stop with attack—we followed thru with the remedy. The American people found in themselves, thru the democratic process, ability to meet the economic problems of average American business where concentrated power had failed.

"We found a broken and prostrate banking and financial system. We restored it to health by strengthening banks, insurance companies, and other financial institutions. We have insured 62 million bank accounts, and protected millions of small investors in the security and commodity markets. We have thus revived confidence, safeguarded thrift, and opened the road to all honorable business.

"We have made credit at low interest rates available to small business men, thus unfastening the oppressive yoke of a money monopoly and giving the ordinary citizen a chance to go into business and stay in business.

"We recognize the importance of small business concerns and new enterprises in our national economy and favor the enactment of constructive legislation to safeguard the welfare of small business. Independent small scale enterprise, no less than big business, should be adequately represented on appropriate governmental boards and commissions, and its interests should be examined and fostered by a continuous research program.

BUILDING AND HOUSING

"We have provided an important outlet for private capital by stimulating home building and low rent housing projects. More new homes were built thruout the nation last year than in any year since 1929. We have fostered a well balanced American merchant marine and the world's finest system of civil aeronautics, to promote our commerce and our national defense.

CURRENCY STABILIZATION

"We have steered a steady course between a bankruptcy producing deflation and a thrift destroying inflation, so that today the dollar is the most stable and sought after currency in the world—a factor of immeasurable benefit in our foreign and domestic commerce.

FREE TRADE AMONG STATES

"We shall continue to oppose barriers which impede trade among the several states.

"We pledge our best efforts in strengthening our home markets and to this end we favor the adjustment of freight rates so that no section or state will have undue advantage over any other.

TAX EXEMPT SECURITIES

"To encourage investment in productive enterprise, the tax exempt privileges of future federal, state, and local bonds should be removed.

ANTI-TRUST LAWS

"We have enforced the antitrust laws more vigorously than at any time in our history, thus affording the maximum protection to the competitive system.

INSURANCE

"We favor strict supervision of all forms of the insurance business by the several states for the protection of policy holders and the public.

"The full force of our policies, by raising the national income by 30 billion dollars from the low of 1932, by encouraging vast reëmployment, and by elevating the level of consumer demand, has quickened the flow of buying and selling thru every artery of industry and trade.

"With mass purchasing power restored and many abuses eliminated, American business stands at the threshold of a great new era, richer in promise than any we have witnessed — an era of pioneering and progress beyond the present frontiers of economy activity—in transportation, in housing, in industrial expansion, and in the new utilization of the products of the farm and the factory.

"We shall aid business in redeeming America's promise.

ELECTRIC POWER

"During the past seven years the Democratic party has won the first major victories for the people of the nation in their generation old contest with the power monopoly.

"These victories have resulted in the recognition of certain self-evident principles and the realization of vast benefits by the people. These principles, long opposed by the Republican party, are:

"That the power of falling water is a gift from God, and consequently belongs not to a privileged few but to all the people, who are entitled to enjoy its benefits;

"That the people have the right thru their government to develop their own power sites and bring low-cost electricity to their homes, farms and factories;

"That public utility holding companies must not be permitted to serve as the means by which a few men can pyramid stocks upon stocks for the sole purpose of controlling vast power empires.

"We condemn the Republican policies which permitted the victimizing of investors in the securities of private power corporations, and the exploitation of the people by unnecessarily high utility costs.

Power Interests' Opposition.

"We condemn the opposition of utility power interests which delayed for years the development of national defense projects in the Tennessee valley, and which obstructed river basin improvements and other public projects bringing low cost electric power to the people. The successful power developments in the Tennessee and Columbia river basins show the wisdom of the Democratic party in establishing government-owned and operated hydro-electric plants in the interests of power and light consumers.

"Thru these Democratic victories whole regions have been revived and restored to prosperous habitation. Production costs have been reduced. Industries have been established which employ men and capital. Cheaper electricity has brought vast economic benefits to thousands of homes and communities.

"These victories of the people must be safeguarded. They will be turned to defeat if the Republican party should be returned to power. We pledge our party militantly to oppose every effort to encroach upon the inherent right of our people to be provided with this primary essential of life at the lowest possible cost.

"The nomination of a utility executive by the Republican party as its presidential candidate raises squarely the issue whether the nation's water power shall be used for all the people or for the selfish interests of a few. We accept that issue.

DEVELOPING RESOURCES

"We take satisfaction in pointing out the incomparable development of the public land states under the wise and constructive legislation of this administration. Mining has been revived, agriculture fostered, reclamation extended and natural resources developed as never before in a similar period. We pledge the continuance of such policies, based primarily on the expansion of opportunity for the people, as will encourage the full development, free from financial exploitation, of the great resources—mineral, agricultural, live stock, fishing and lumber—which the west affords.

RADIO

"Radio has become an integral part of the democratically accepted doctrine of freedom of speech, press, assembly, and religion. We urge such legislative steps as may be required to afford the same protection from censorship that is now afforded the press under the constitution of the United States.

UNEMPLOYMENT

"We must strengthen democracy by improving the welfare of the people.

"We place human resources first among the assets of a democratic society.

"The Democratic party wages war on unemployment, one of the gravest problems of our times, inherited at its worst from the last Republican administration. Since we assumed office, nine million additional persons have gained regular employment in normal private enterprise. All our policies — financial, industrial, and agricultural—will continue to accelerate the rate of this progress.

"By public action, where necessary to supplement private reëmployment, we have rescued millions from idleness that breeds weakness, and given them a real stake in their country's well being. We shall continue to recognize the obligation of government to provide work for deserving workers who cannot be absorbed by private industry.

RELIEF

"We are opposed to vesting in the states and local authorities the control of federally financed work relief. We believe that this Republican proposal is a thinly disguised plan to put the unemployed back on the dole.

"We will continue energetically to direct our efforts toward the employment in private industry of all those willing to work, as well as the fullest employment of money and machines. This we pledge as our primary objective.

"To further implement this objective, we favor calling, under the direction of the President, a national unemployment conference of leaders of government, industry, labor, and farm groups. There is work in our factories, mines, fields, forests, and river basins, on our coasts, highways, railroads, and inland waterways. There are houses to be built to shelter our people. Building a better America means work and a higher standard of living for every family, and a richer and more secure heritage for every American.

SOCIAL SECURITY

"The Democratic party, which established social security for the nation, is dedicated to its extension. We pledge to make the social security act increasingly effective, by covering millions of persons not now protected under its terms; by strengthening our unemployment insurance system and establishing more adequate and uniform benefits, thru the federal equalization fund principle; by progressively extending and increasing the benefits of the old age and survivors' insurance system, including protection of the permanently disabled; and by the early realization of a minimum pension for all who have reached the age of retirement and are not gainfully employed.

HEALTH

"Good health for all the people is a prime requisite of national preparedness in its broadest sense. We have advanced public health, industrial hygiene, and maternal and child care. We are coördinating the health functions of the federal government. We pledge to expand these efforts, and to provide more hospitals, and health centers, and better health protection wherever the need exists, in rural and urban areas, all thru the coöperative efforts of the federal, state, and medical, dental, nursing and other local governments, the scientific professions and the voluntary agencies.

YOUTH AND EDUCATION

"Today, when the youth of other lands is being sacrificed in war, this nation recognizes the full value of the sound youth program established by the administration. The NYA and CCC have enabled our youths to complete their education, have maintained their health, trained them for useful citizenship, and aided them to secure employment.

"Our public works have modernized and greatly expanded the nation's schools. We have increased federal aid for vocational education and rehabilitation, and undertaken a comprehensive program of defense-industry training. We shall continue to bring to millions of children, youths, and adults, educational and economic opportunities otherwise beyond their reach.

SLUM CLEARANCE

"We have launched a soundly conceived plan of loans and contributions to rid America of overcrowded slum dwellings that breed disease and crime, and to replace them by low cost housing projects within the means of low income families. We will extend and accelerate this plan not only in the congested city districts, but also in the small towns and farm areas, and we will make it a powerful arm of national defense by supplying housing for the families of enlisted personnel and for workers in areas where industry is expanding to meet defense needs.

CONSUMERS

"We are taking effective steps to insure that, in this period of stress the cost of living shall not be increased by speculation and unjustified price rises.

NEGROES

"Our Negro citizens have participated actively in the economic and social advances launched by this administration, including fair labor standards, social security benefits, health protection, work relief projects, decent housing, aid to education and the rehabilitation of low income farm families. We have aided more than half a million Negro youths in vocational training, education and employment. We shall continue to strive for complete legislative safeguards against discrimination in government service and benefits and in the national defense forces. We pledge to uphold due process and the equal protection of the laws for every citizen, regardless of race, creed, or color.

VETERANS

"We pledge to continue our policy of fair treatment of America's war veterans, and their dependents, in just tribute to their sacrifices and their devotion to the cause of liberty.

INDIANS

"We favor and pledge the enactment of legislation creating an Indian claims commission for the special purpose of entertaining and investigating claims presented by Indian groups, bands, and tribes, in order that our Indian citizens may have their claims against the government considered, adjusted, and finally settled at the earliest possible date.

CIVIL SERVICE

"We pledge the immediate extension of a genuine system of merit to all positions in the executive branch of the federal government except actual bona fide policy making positions. The competitive method of selecting employés shall be improved until experience and qualification shall be the sole test in determining fitness for employment in the federal service. Promotion and tenure in federal service shall likewise depend upon fitness, experience and qualification. Arbitrary and unreasonable rules as to academic training shall be abolished, all to the end that a genuine system of efficiency and merit shall prevail thruout the entire federal service.

TERRITORIES

"We favor a larger measure of self-government leading to statehood, for Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. We favor the appointment of residents to office, and equal treatment of the citizens of each of these three territories. We favor the prompt determination and payment of any just claims by Indian and Eskimo citizens of Alaska against the United States.

"We also favor the extension of the right of suffrage to the people of the District of Columbia.

"We pledge to continue to stand guard on our true first line of defense—the security and welfare of the men, women and children of America.

DEMOCRATIC FAITH

"Democracy is more than a political system for the government of a people. It is the expression of a people's faith in themselves as human beings. If this faith is permitted to die, human progress will die with it. We believe that a mechanized existence, lacking the spiritual quality of democracy, is intolerable to the free people of this country.

"We therefore pledge ourselves to fight, as our fathers fought, for the right of every American to enjoy freedom of religion, speech, press, assembly, petition, and security in his home.

"It is America's destiny, in these days of rampant despotism, to be the guardian of the world heritage of liberty and to hold aloft and aflame the torch of western civilization.

"The Democratic party rededicates itself to this faith in democracy, to the defense of the American system of government, the only system under which men are masters of their own souls, the only system under which the American people, composed of many races and creeds, can live and work, play and worship in peace, security and freedom.

"Firmly relying upon a continuation of the blessings of divine providence upon all our righteous endeavors to preserve forever the priceless heritage of American liberty and peace, we appeal to all the liberal-minded men and women of the nation to approve this platform and to go forward with us by wholeheartedly supporting the candidates who subscribe to the principles which it proclaims."

Foreign Policies Compared

Here is a comparison of Republican and Democratic platform planks on four phases of foreign policy:

REPUBLICAN.	DEMOCRATIC.
FOREIGN WARS.
"The Republican party is firmly opposed to involving this nation in foreign wars."	"We will not participate in foreign wars, and we will not send our army, naval, or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas, except in case of attack."
AID TO FOREIGN NATIONS.
"We favor the extension to all peoples fighting for liberty, or whose liberty is threatened, of such aid as shall not be in violation of international law or inconsistent with the requirements of our own national defense."	"We pledge to extend to these [liberty loving peoples wantonly attacked] all the material aid at our command, consistent with law and not inconsistent with the interests of our own national defense."
DEFENSE.
"We declare for the prompt, orderly, and realistic building of our national defense to the point at which we shall be able not only to defend the United States, its possessions, and essential outposts from foreign attack, but also efficiently to uphold in war the Monroe Doctrine."	"We favor and shall rigorously enforce and defend the Monroe Doctrine. . . . We propose to provide America with an invincible air force, a navy strong enough to protect all our seacoasts and our national interests, and a fully equipped and mechanized army."
CHARGE AND COUNTERCHARGE.
"The present national administration has already spent for all purposes more than 54 billion dollars . . . and yet by the President's own admission we are still wholly unprepared to defend our country. We . . . fasten upon the New Deal full responsibility for our unpreparedness and for the consequences of involvement in war."	"For years our President has warned the nation that organized assaults against religion, democracy, and international good faith threatened our own peace and security. Men blinded by partisanship brushed aside these warnings as war mongering and officious intermeddling. . . . It is a tribute to the President's foresight and action that our defense forces are today at the peak of their peacetime effectiveness."

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. T. S. Allen of Lincoln, Neb., sister of William Jennings Bryan, and Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy, at Bryan memorial breakfast yesterday in the Hotel Sherman.

William Jennings Bryan was the father of the "good neighbor" policy of the present administration, Josephus Daniels, United States ambassador to Mexico, told a breakfast gathering yesterday honoring the memory of Bryan. The meeting was in the Hotel Sherman.

"Mr. Bryan was a secretary of peace," said Daniels.

Referring to the resignation of Bryan from the cabinet of President Woodrow Wilson preceding this country's entrance into the world war, Daniels said: "I have always believed that he should have remained with the ship. Whatever may be the final verdict of Bryan's course in those troubled days, his government has now approved his insistence that it was wiser for Americans not to assert the right of traveling on ships voyaging thru the zone of war."

Daniels was Democratic committeeman for North Carolina and attended the convention here 44 years ago when Bryan was nominated for the presidency after his "Cross of Gold" speech.

PLATFORM PUTS FIGHT OFF AIR; FANS PROTEST

New York, July 17 [Special].—The reading of the Democratic platform at the convention in Chicago tonight drew violent protests from radio listeners here because it interfered with the scheduled broadcast of the fight between Henry Armstrong and Lew Jenkins at the Polo Grounds.

From shortly after 9:45 p. m., when the fight was scheduled to go on the air, until after 11 o'clock, the National Broadcasting company telephone switchboard was swamped with more than 2,000 calls. During the same period, newspapers in whose pages the fight had been listed as a broadcast, received hundreds of telephone calls.

"Are we expected to listen to all that stuff?" and "Take that convention off the air and let us hear the fight," were a few of the comments by indignant telephoners.

Pamphlet on Un-Americans in Public Office Distributed

Kenneth G. Chapman, New York representative of the Constitutional Educational league, announced yesterday that distribution of the league's latest pamphlet, "The Fifth Column," has been started in Chicago. The publication deals with persons on the federal pay roll whom it accuses of being un-American. About 42,000 copies were distributed in Philadelphia during the Republican national convention.

WOMEN EXERCISE THEIR NEW VOICE IN PARTY COUNCIL

Put Thru Changes in Two Platform Planks.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Democratic women were jubilant last night over the voice they had in the making of their party's platform. It was their first voice since women got the vote and was, they believe, a strong and helpful voice.

Twenty-eight women assisted in the final drafting of the platform. Under a new rule adopted Tuesday, women were to have an equal voice with men, but, thru confusion or lack of time, many states failed to appoint their representatives.

Nevertheless, the work of the 28, as evidenced in the final platform, was not small.

Alters Foreign Policy Plank.

To a woman, Mrs. Arthur D. Condon of Washington, D. C., went credit for a change in the foreign policy plank. At her insistence, after argument of no small measure, the phrase "except in case of attack" was added to the pledge not to send the "army, navy, or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas."

"The real fight came, I think," she admitted later, "when I got the men behind me stirred up."

Mrs. Condon also was responsible for inclusion of the plank favoring extension of suffrage to the District of Columbia.

To another woman, Congresswoman Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, went credit for inclusion of the plank pledging work toward "equality of opportunity for men and women without impairing the social legislation which promotes true equality by safeguarding the health, safety, and economic welfare of women workers." The plank also provided that a woman's marital status should not interfere with her right to hold a job.

Avoid Equal Rights Issue.

The plank was couched in the exact wording suggested by the women's advisory platform committee of 18. In accepting it, the resolutions committee scorned the moot controversy of equal legal rights for men and women, over which the women have been pulling hair for 20 years. [The Republican platform included a plank favoring submission of an equal rights amendment to the states for vote.]

Nan Wood Honeyman of Oregon, who previously had spoken against an equal rights amendment and who served on the final platform committee, commented: "The constitution provides equal rights for all persons. If women are persons, why should we need such an amendment?"

Substitute for Men's Planks.

The matter of equal rights didn't come up at all while the women were in the resolutions committee sessions, Mrs. Norton said later. The men simply had about eight planks ready dealing with equality, she said. "I didn't think any of theirs was strong enough," she said. "So I put in our substitute phrasing, which was adopted."

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Conkey, Illinois' woman member, said the women were "active, but not overly so," in the making of the platform, adding, "The women who had interests weren't afraid to present them."

All the women members reported with sprightly pride that "the men were cordial!"

Mrs. Thomas F. McAllister, director of the Democratic women's division, commented that the finished platform "demonstrates strikingly the unity of purpose and close coöperation between men and women."

Atlantic Clipper Delayed; Bullitt Among Passengers

New York, July 17 (AP).—Mechanical difficulties of the Atlantic Clipper have delayed until Friday arrival here of William C. Bullitt, United States ambassador to France, and the former Empress Zita of Austria-Hungary. The plane has been held 48 hours at Horta, the Azores, while the Yankee Clipper has been delayed there 72 hours, also because of mechanical difficulties. It, too, is now scheduled to arrive here Friday. Each ship is carrying 19 passengers.

Boy, 15, Tosses a Wrench in British Machinery; Fined

BIRMINGHAM, England, July 17 (AP).—A 15 year old boy appeared in Juvenile court today charged literally with throwing a wrench into the machinery. The prosecutor called him a "saboteur and traitor" for causing a 15 minute delay at a brick works. The boy, who was fined £5 [about $20], said he threw the wrench because he was tired of working.

DEMOCRATS ASK WOMEN FOR PAY AND PUBLICITY

Penny-a-Day Plan and a Candidate Show Up.

Democratic women workers will boost the coming presidential campaign by a program of publicity and pennies. It was outlined for women delegates yesterday morning at a meeting in the Tower room of the Stevens hotel.

Mrs. Thomas F. McAllister, director of the women's division of the national committee, agreed that "it's the woman who pays," but added "if she wants to play politics." She urged the collection of campaign funds by the distribution of donkey penny banks among Democratic families in the precincts. "A penny a day keeps the elephant away," she told the delegates.

Advises Speaking Contests.

For the development of political spellbinders, the program advised every county organization to conduct a public speaking training class. State contests would be held to select the woman who could take the stump most effectively. Miss Helen Hansen, national committee woman from Maine, objected to this plan.

"I think such contests are not only undemocratic but would undermine the confidence of many good speakers who didn't happen to win," she contended. "Altho the losers might not show it, there would be competent women who would feel slighted."

As a third point, the program urged the appointment of certain women in the county organizations to study phases of the New Deal and to report on their findings at meetings. Use of the women's division publication, the Democratic Digest, was also recommended.

Publicity thru radio programs and newspapers were other suggestions outlined.

A Candidate Announces.

The neatly organized discussion of the morning met with a slight interruption when a middle aged woman in a pink wash dress attempted to take the floor without recognition.

"I am running for President of the United States," she announced above the babble. "I am Elvira Agnes Taft of New York, a graduate nurse. When I was a little girl, my mother took me by the hand . . ."

Then the gavel under the clenched fist of Mrs. McAllister silenced her appeal.

ABANDON PLANS TO PUT WILLKIE IN NOMINATION

A group of "Nominate Willkie Democrats" at the Democratic national convention decided yesterday that the nomination was in the bag for President Roosevelt and abandoned plans to attempt to get Wendell Willkie, the Republican nominee, offered in nomination to the Democrats.

Collapse of the movement, which originated in Texas, was announced by Guy Warren, founder and chairman, who said that headquarters in the Palmer House were being closed. He said that sentiment for Willkie among Texas Democrats may still result in establishment of an active organization in that state.

Paul Morand, leading French contemporary writer, who has been head of the French economic mission here will be France's agent. The British agent to France will be announced soon.

French officials will leave Friday morning on a British ship. Britain has advised the Germans of the time and place of departure and has asked for safe passage of the ship.

ALLOT $1,100,000 FOR ROAD ALONG OLD CANAL SITE

Another step was taken yesterday in the plans to make a scenic highway out of the Cook county stretch of the old Illinois-Michigan canal when the state highway division in Springfield approved an allotment of $1,100,000 in gasoline tax funds for the project.

The conversion of the abandoned canal into a useful motor artery has been a long cherished dream, according to Maj. George Quinlan, county highway superintendent. The Cook county road would extend about six miles from a point near California avenue to Summit. Eventually the scenic road might be extended to Ottawa, in La Salle county.

Maj. Quinlan said yesterday's action would make possible further preparatory work, but that it does not mean actual highway construction. Before that can be done the state legislature and the federal government must pass enabling acts, because the original land grants for the canal specified they would be used only "for canal purposes."

PARKS TRUCK AND THEN DIES.

Ernest Peterson, 39 years old, 8450 Ashland avenue, died of a heart attack yesterday at 84th street and Green Bay avenue after parking the truck he was driving.

Chimpanzee Gets Grippe from Brookfield Zoo Visitor

Charley, the Brookfield zoo's 13 year old chimpanzee, was down with the grippe yesterday, but was showing more consideration for others than the person did who gave him his sniffles. Physicians said the ailment was contracted from some zoo visitor. To prevent Charley from passing it on, he was isolated in a cage, where he takes his orange juice and aspirin in solitary suffering.

Who rides after Paul Revere?

"WAKE UP! WAKE UP! The Germans are marching!...Wake up! Wake up! The brownshirts are coming!"

Once more America hears that ringing shout of alarm, with only two words changed after 165 years.

▶ Since the tenth of May, every flying bundle of newspapers that thumps against a way-station platform has been the thunderous knock of the rider sent out by the lantern signal in the Old North Church. With editorial and news dispatch, cartoon, column, and special article, the far-sighted among America's newspapers have roused the town and the countryside.

Never had citizens been more soundly asleep in their complacent beds. "Safe behind three thousand miles of good green water"... smugly confident of the power and might of friendly former allies... blandly indifferent to the condition of our fighting forces... blind to sinister stirrings in neighbors to the south and even in our own midst.

That voice in the darkness, that knock at the door came not a moment too soon.

▶ Where and how the present-day menace to freedom will strike, no man knows, or whether it will strike by direct invasion at all. We know that attack is possible—and that is enough.

So now, as always before, Americans have sprung to action. Today's Ethan Allens are gathering together their Green Mountain Boys in training camp, machine shop, and flying field. Today's Israel Putnams have left their plows standing in the furrow, scrapped their plans for making the peaceful machines of work and play, put their factories and their brains at their country's command.

▶ Today, if Knudsen and Stettinius, Stimson and Knox had time for such thoughts, they would know how George Washington felt when he took command at Cambridge. The same swarm of eager civilian volunteers, no two alike in equipment and training, but all anxious, devoted, impatient. Across the desks of the defense chiefs flows a steady stream of letters, thousands of them, all of the same tenor, "I'm ready. Put me to work."

▶ The Paul Reveres of the American press have done their work well. Now they are riding out again with other messages—just as important. Messages of courage... and patience... and hope.

For we too have our fainthearts who are ready to quit when the outposts are taken. We have our near-sighted who imagine that they would rather lose their liberties than their comforts, and don't see that they stand to lose both.

We have our cynics, young and old, who suppose that all wars are futile because the victory in the last one was thrown away. We have our warped and embittered—our potential Charles Lees and Benedict Arnolds.

All of us need protection from the defeatism that seeps from such sources. We need our own uncertainties and fears cleared up. We need our spirits heartened about what we have done, can do, and are now doing.

▶ This protection, this enlightenment, this encouragement, the press is supplying now every day. Day after day, our newspapers are bringing us news of plans completed at Washington in weeks, whose details in normal times would have consumed years. Soon they will tell us of raw-material problems solved, of factories and mills swinging into stream-lined production, of rapid organization and training of our man power.

We have asked for miracles and we are getting them. But the press will remind us that even Aladdin's palace took a night to build.

▶ In this planning stage, when all roads lead to Washington, the metropolitan newspapers and wire services have increased or reassigned their staffs in the Capital.

They are covering stories so big, developments so rapid, that even the early days of the New Deal seem quiet in retrospect. Economic relations of the Americas, history-making moves of the State Department, expansion of Army and Navy on a scale never seen in this hemisphere, sensational industrial decisions affecting hundreds of centers from Hartford to Southern California... the situation is the greatest challenge to energy, ingenuity, and vision that this generation of newspapermen has ever met.

Because the question of security for our country is today's No. 1 problem, TIME, the Weekly Newsmagazine, has decided to establish a new department, to be devoted exclusively to the progress of National Defense.

Here, in one place, the anxious citizen will find reports from every field—government, management, materials, factories, shipyards, man power, training schools, public opinion—every detail in the current picture of the nation's defense effort. TIME's much-discussed summaries, which have been so widely quoted in recent weeks, give some idea of the completeness and grasp with which this vital news will be handled.

▶ As the circles widen out from Washington, TIME's fact-finders and trend-observers will be ready and waiting wherever the ripples roll in. If things go wrong, bog down in personalities, get tangled in red tape, TIME will say so. If things go as well or better than can humanly be expected, TIME will say that too.

TIME, along with all loyal Americans, believes that an intelligent, informed, single-minded citizenry can and will build a strong defense—a defense so strong, so dynamic, and so efficient, that no power on earth will be able to attack or challenge the vital interests of the American people.

This is one of a series of advertisements in which the Editors of TIME hope to give all the readers of this newspaper a clearer picture of the world of news-gathering, news-writing, and news-reading—and the part TIME plays in helping you to grasp, measure, and use the history of your lifetime as you live the story of your life.

WILLKIES ATTEND FESTIVAL IN OLD GOLD MINE TOWN

Sleep in Room Occupied Twice by Grant.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Central City, Colo., July 17 [Special].—Wendell Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, was entertained tonight in this deserted gold mining town, brought to new life by the ninth annual play festival of the Opera House association, sponsored by the University of Denver.

Willkie and his wife occupied a room at the old Teller House, a room occupied by President Grant in 1868 and again in 1873. Not much has happened here since in the way of a big political event. After dinner and a barn dance, the Willkies attended a performance of a comic opera, "The Bartered Bride," presented by a cast from the Metropolitan Opera company of New York.

Test of New Deal.

After the show Willkie turned to the radio to watch progress of the Democratic convention and see his prediction that Roosevelt would be nominated on the first ballot fulfilled.

"I am gratified," he said when the nomination became certain. "It ought to be a great campaign. We will have presented to the voters of the country the issues which have been created by the New Deal advocated for the New Deal by the author and ablest advocate of that philosophy and the directing force of the New Deal practices. In addition, the American voters will have their first opportunity to pass upon the question of a third term.

"Other Presidents have aspired to a third term, but that issue heretofore has been determined in the negative by political conventions.

"This election voters themselves will have the opportunity to pass upon the doctrine of the indispensibility of one man and the sanctity of our two term tradition. The issues are fundamental and important which the people must and should determine. I hope I may be able to do my part in their adequate presentation."

Has More Visitors.

Willkie's visitors today were the Rev. G. W. Read, bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal church in the west; J. Finlay Wilson, grand exalted ruler of the Negro Elks; former Judge Joseph L. Dailey of Albuquerque, N. M., a leading Democrat of that section; former Senator and Mrs. L. C. Phipps of Colorado, and Frank A. Kemp, president of the Great Western Supar company. Tomorrow he will take up agricultural questions with Gov. George Wilson of Iowa. He planned to return to Colorado Springs late tonight.

FIRST DIVISION SCHOLARSHIP IS GIVEN CHICAGOAN

Cadet Captain Edwin M. Wojdak of the Crane Technical High school R. O. T. C. regiment is one of six high school graduates in the United States selected for the 1st division, A. E. F., scholarships to the Citadel, military college in South Carolina.

Edwin M. Wojdak.

The appointments were announced by Gen. Charles P. Summerall, president of the college, who formerly was chief of staff of the army and was the wartime commander of the 1st division and the 5th army corps. The scholarships, established by the Society of the 1st Division in 1932, pay all expenses at the Citadel for four years.

Last December, in competition with 8,000 riflemen, Wojdak won the expert division match in the Open Road for Boys rifle championships, sponsored by the National Rifle association. Previously he received a rifle marksmanship decoration from the war department and other awards. Young Wojdak lives at 1751 North Whipple street.

Another of the six youths selected for the scholarships is J. M. Paulson of Wausau, Wis.

CONFIRM CHICAGO GROUP TO HANDLE WAR REFUGEES

Altho the program is in abeyance, a committee of 30 Chicagoans was confirmed yesterday to represent the United States Committee for the Care of European Children in finding temporary homes here for any refugee children evacuated from England for the duration of the war.

The committee was authorized in a wire from Marshall Field, chairman of the national organization in New York, to M. K. Reckord, general director of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, who will serve as chairman of the Chicago division. Wilfred S. Reynolds, director of the Council of Social Agencies of Chicago, will act as secretary.

Reckord said the Chicago committee is prepared to proceed when and if the British government rescinds its order of a week ago, which indefinitely postponed the project of sending thousands of children to homes in this country.

First U. S. Clipper Plane Arrives in New Zealand

San Francisco, Cal., July 17 (AP).—Pan American Airways said tonight the American Clipper, trail-blazing a new commercial air route over the south Pacific, arrived at Auckland, New Zealand, at 7:48 p. m. [10:48 p. m. Chicago time]. Total elapsed flying time was 54 hours, 11 minutes, for the 8,000 mile flight from San Francisco, where it started last Friday.

Japanese Attack

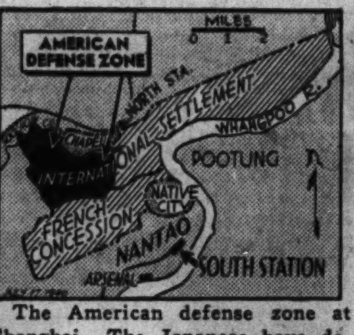
Chungchow (1), Chinese port, was attacked by Japanese marines yesterday. The Japanese announced capture of a Chinese fortress at Mount Paichi (2).

SHANGHAI, July 17 (AP).—A communique today said that Japanese naval forces landed marines in a surprise attack on Chungchow, a hitherto unmolested port of South Fukien province, at dawn on Tuesday. It said the Chinese fortress of Mount Paichi, on the south shore of Hangchow bay, fell after six hours of land and sea attacks.

1,644,988 Casualties for Japan.

HONGKONG, July 17 (AP).—Chinese military headquarters declared today three years of warfare had cost Japan 1,644,988 men killed, wounded or dead as a result of disease.

Tokio recently admitted that 85,800 Japanese had been killed in the war with China and claimed China's losses totaled 3,000,000 men, of whom more than half were said to have been killed in battle.



The American defense zone at Shanghai. The Japanese have demanded that the United States apologize for alleged insult to gendarmes by American marines or disarm the marines in the area.

SHANGHAI, July 18, Thursday (AP).—Japanese-American difficulties over the arrest by United States marines of Japanese gendarmes 11 days ago reached a dangerous deadlock today, after 3,000 Japanese demanded that the marines be disarmed unless an apology is made. Authoritative circles declared the case has far outgrown its original proportions.

Col. De Witt Peck, marine commander, reiterated that the marines acted within their legal rights when they arrested the 14 Japanese plainclothes men in the United States defense area of the Shanghai international settlement July 7. He rejected evidence that the gendarmes were "brutally mistreated."

A Japanese embassy spokesman described as "unfortunate" the action of 100 prominent Americans in Manila, who sent messages here and to Washington, D. C., urging a firm stand by the United States.

Stalin Has a Lengthy Talk with British Ambassador

MOSCOW, July 17 (AP).—Dictator Josef Stalin, who rarely receives foreign envoys, was reported reliably tonight to have had a long talk recently with Sir Stafford Cripps, the British ambassador. The conversation was understood to have been in general terms, but it aroused the deepest interest in foreign quarters here. Neither British nor soviet officials would make any definite comment.

KONOE SELECTS CABINET TO PUSH JAP EXPANSION

'March to South Seas' Is Envisaged.

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, July 18, Thursday (AP).—An admiralty spokesman declared today a statement by Secretary of State Hull of the United States regarding the Japanese-British Burma road agreement was "an uncalled-for intervention in the wrong place." Britain has agreed to shut off war supplies to the Chinese central government via the Burma road and also thru Hongkong.

[Hull said Tuesday the United States considers actions such as shutting the Burma road "would constitute unwarranted interpositions of obstacles to world trade."]

TOKIO, July 18, Thursday.—Premier-designate Prince Fumimaro Konoe today completed his choice of a strong pro-expansionist inner government circle to back his military dictated policies for a new east Asia—possibly a "march to the South Seas."

Yosuke Matsuoka, an ardent expansionist and strong supporter of the prince's plan for totalitarian one party rule, accepted Hachiro Arita's place as foreign minister.

Lieut.-Gen. Eiki Tojo, military aviation expert and preparedness advocate, was named minister of war, succeeding Gen. Shunroku Hata.

Further strengthening the army-navy power in the cabinet, the navy's choice, Zengo Yoshida, was retained in his position of secretary of the navy.

Those three and Prince Konoe will map Japan's new national and international policies first, then fill out the rest of the cabinet to fit the "new situation."

That situation, it seemed certain, would pivot about the South sea holdings of European powers. It is there, army circles have said, that Japan's future field of action lies.

The premier, designated to form a new government after the collapse Tuesday of the cabinet of Premier Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai, picked his top men from the ranks of those who have agreed with his one-party plan.

Rise to Popularity.

The removal of Premier Yonai and Foreign Minister Arita took out of the government the two strong advocates of noncommitment with Germany and Italy and of a careful course in treading on the interests of the western powers.

The American educated new foreign minister rose to high popularity in Japan when the Japanese delegation withdrew from the league of nations after a bristling statement by Matsuoka on Japanese intentions and rights in Manchuria [now Manchukuo.]

Tojo, inspector general of military aviation, is considered an open admirer of German military tactics.

French Indo-China, the Dutch East Indies, British Burma, and Thailand [Siam] all may figure in the policies of the new cabinet.

BRITAIN'S BURMA ROAD DEAL HIT AS APPEASEMENT

LONDON, July 17.—(AP)—Announcement of Britain's tacit accord with Japan to shut off war supplies to the Chinese central government moved a critic of the government to use the words "appeasement" and "Munich" in the house of commons today.

The words "appeasement" and "Munich" were used by Geoffrey Mander, opposition Liberal party member, after R. A. Butler, undersecretary of the foreign office, said an agreement with Japan was impending.

"Substantial progress" already has been made, Butler said, and news of the conclusion of the agreement may be expected at any time. [At about the same time, the Japanese foreign office announced the British already had agreed to shut off supplies from both Burma and Hongkong.]

Mander thereupon asked Butler if he thought "this act of appeasement of an aggressor is likely to be more successful than previous attempts made at Munich and elsewhere."

Other members cried "shame!"

"That's exactly what it is," Mander shouted. "It is shameful!"

Mander then asked Butler if he was going to refuse access to United States goods over the Burma road to China in view of the protest which had been made, and Butler suggested he await the full statement on the situation.

Wilfred Roberts, Liberal member, asked Butler "whether, in view of the public statement of Secretary of State Cordell Hull yesterday, the American government expressed approval or disapproval of the arrangements which had been made."

"I think I must leave the interpretation of American statements to Americans," Butler replied.

Secretary Hull yesterday said that the United States has a "legitimate interest in the keeping open of arteries of commerce in every part of the world and considers actions such as this would constitute unwarranted interpositions of obstacles to world trade."

VICHY, France, July 17.—Every morning at 7:30 o'clock the new French capital is awakened by the noise of a whirring airplane motor. People scramble to their windows an see the plane marked with a swastika shaving the house tops, taking off for Wiesbaden and carrying diplomatic dispatches to the armistice commission.

Dotted line shows planes' course; diagonal lined area is new France.

Another plane comes back in the evening carrying secrets of the negotiations between the French and German commissioners.

The new government of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain is gradually getting organized. Vichy is still crowded with politicians who are unable to believe the old régime has vanished, but slowly they disappear to other parts of France.

Telegraphic communication is still bad. The postal service slowly is improving.

Food Shortage Feared.

Train service is being resumed, but the trains are usually crowded with soldiers and civilians requiring special permits. In some areas the food shortage is being felt. In others there are surpluses of butter and milk. The problem is one of transportation.

Prices are held firm by control. A shortage of consumer goods, such as shoes and cloth, is anticipated.

Political life centers around the lobby of the Hotel du Parc. Vice Premier Pierre Laval and Foreign Minister Paul Baudoin have their offices there. Thousands seek interviews and most are refused. Marshal Petain has moved from the hotel to the Sevigny pavilion vacated by former President Albert Lebrun.

Cabinet sessions are now held at the Sevigny pavilion, situated in a shady park on the banks of the River Allier.

Lebrun Goes Quietly.

Former President Lebrun has gone. Quietly and unnoticed the 14th president slipped out of town without the blare of a single trumpet or escort and took up life as a private citizen in Vizille.

The government is preoccupied about its return to Paris, about the future of the governors of the provinces, about transportation, about everything, including gasoline. At Vierzon and Moulins, towns on the line of demarcation between the occupied and unoccupied areas, long lines of cars are held back by the German authorities.

Newspapers now are practically all printed at Clermont-Ferrand. News is scarce and represents official handouts. French papers now frequently quote Adolf Hitler's DNB, official German news agency, on foreign news.

Deputy Marcel Deat today in the newspaper L'Oeuvre calls for a definite and complete break from England and a deal with the Germans and Italians to incorporate France into the continental economy.

Minister of Transport Francois Pietri said today 6 million people required repatriation, which meant 5,000 trains carrying 1,200 people each.

ULSTER OUSTS FORMER LEADER OF I. R. A. STAFF

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 17 (AP).—Gen. Eoin O'Duffy, former chief of staff of the outlawed Irish Republican army, who led an Irish brigade to fight with the Nationalists in the Spanish civil war, was ordered to leave Northern Ireland today.

The general visited Eniskillen in Fermanagh county to attend the funeral services of the wife of Cahir Healy, former Nationalist member of parliament. Police took him in charge.

He was told that if he returned to Northern Ireland he would be imprisoned.

Proposes British Miners Be Armed for Invasion

BLACKPOOL, England, July 17 (AP).—"If the enemy comes it's not much use throwing my hat at him," W. J. Sadler, a miner of South Wales, suggested today to the Mine Workers federation. He proposed that all miners be armed to meet possible invasion.

Last year she represented Chicago at the New York World's Fair and has been winning beauty contests since she was 16. She lives at 1642 Pratt boulevard and is employed as an elevator operator in a loop department store.

PARIS CAFES THAT DODGED GERMANS NOW SEEK THEM

Reopen as the Soldiers Spend Freely.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 14 [Delayed] [By courier to Berlin].—Famous Paris restaurants which closed in the hectic days of the German advance are reopening to reap the golden harvest offered them by Fuehrer Adolf Hitler's officers and soldiers, all of whom are eager to be initiated into the subtelties of French culinary arts.

Gastronomic places like the Cafe de Paris, Larue's, and Maxim's are crowded nightly with smartly uniformed officers, accompanied by chic Parisiennes, who are only too glad in these hard times to find a host able to pay for good meals.

Hitler's warriors are not blasé. They never order champagne and rarely wines, sticking modestly to beer, but they are all well supplied with "reichkreditkassen" bills, which are better than dollar bills in Paris today.

While Americans—quite in a fog as to the value of their dollars and very short of francs—are beginning to find Paris restaurants rather expensive, the German conquerors with their marks worth 20 francs are not complaining about prices.

But a simple meal in a first class restaurant costs from 80 to 150 francs per person [nominally from about $1.60 to $3]. The meal usually consists of soup or hors d'oeuvres, one meat or fish dish, fruit, coffee, and a bottle of wine. Cheese, formerly an ingredient of such meals, has become a rarity, but there is plenty of butter.

ITALIANS REPORT CAPTURE OF TOWN IN BRITISH SUDAN

Another Submarine Lost, Rome Admits.

ROME, July 17 (AP).—The Italian high command today reported the capture of Kessan in the region of Kurmuk, in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, and the occupation of the strong British fort of Moyale on the edge of the Ethiopian plateau. It acknowledged the loss of another submarine.

The Italian high command said their troops had beaten off a heavy British attack on positions north of Fort Capuzzo in Libya, and aviators again had bombed Alexandria, Egypt, the British fleet base.

Two British planes were shot down in a fight over Malta, it added.

The high command reported a total of 610 Italian killed in action since Italy entered the war June 10.

Ciano Still in Rome.

Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, whose departure for Berlin has been widely expected, was still in Rome today and there was no indication as to when or if he would go.

[Reports current on Tuesday were that Ciano was going to the German capital for a conference with Nazi officials, perhaps to discuss a final peace offer to Britain.]

Today the Rome authorities not only were silent, but warned against any further speculation about the trip, and one official denied the Rome radio had carried a report the foreign minister would arrive in Berlin on Friday.

Raid Ethiopian Positions.

CAIRO, Egypt, July 17 (AP).—British bombers were reported today to have successfully raided Italian positions on Monday at Moyale, on the Kenya Colony-Ethiopian border and obtained a number of "direct hits."

British planes raided the Italian Libya port of Tobruk again last night.

DICTATOR THREAT TO CUBA PARLEY HARMONY SEEN

HAVANA, Cuba, July 17 (AP).—Cuba's secretary of state, Miguel Angel Campa, who will preside over the Havana conference of American foreign ministers, said today the rupture of relations between Spain and Chile might be an authoritarian move to disrupt the harmony of the conference. The prime purpose of the meeting starting on July 20 is to unite the 21 American republics in a western hemisphere defense program.

Early arriving delegates said the Chilean-Spanish break might prove a ticklish question for the conference, but predicted it would be solved. For all but Brazil and Haiti of the Latin-American nations Spain is the mother country.

Embassy Staff Ordered Home.

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 17 (AP).—Chile's Popular Front government tonight instructed its chargé d'affaires, German Vergara, and his staff in Madrid to leave for home following Nationalist Spain's severance of diplomatic relations yesterday in a dispute arising from Spain's civil war. Chilean affairs will be left in charge of the Brazilian embassy in Madrid; Spain will intrust hers to the Italian ambassador here.

BRITISH CHILDREN TO GO ABROAD IF SHIPS ARE FOUND

Lack of Convoys Given as Cause of Delay.

LONDON, July 17 (AP).—Geoffrey H. Shakespeare, undersecretary for dominions, told the house of commons tonight that the military situation "is the only reason for postponement" of Britain's plan to send her children to safety overseas.

He said Britain would accept any offer by the United States to send American ships for the children.

He emphasized that arrangements for the evacuation—postponed last week because sufficient convoy facilities could not be spared—are progressing "so that if the situation improves there will be no delay in giving the children safe refuge."

Before the postponement was announced, 70,000 children already had applied for transportation to Canada or the United States.

[Other dispatches from London quoted the official American committee for the evacuation of children as saying that at least 1,000 children from various classes of society will be sent to the United States the first three weeks of August. The ministry of shipping was said to have guaranteed space on ships.]

Urge U. S. to Send Ships.

New York, July 17 [Special].—The women's committee to send ships for European children was organized today to urge the American government to provide "mercy ships" to bring to this country 200,000 refugee children from Great Britain.

The committee proposes, thru women's clubs, to deluge President Roosevelt with letters and petitions demanding that the neutrality laws be amended or revised to permit sending American ships into the war zone.

The committee is not officially connected with the American committee for the care of European children, headed by Marshall Field III. Members of the new women's group, however, include supporters both of the Field committee and of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, which is headed by William Allen White.

Homes for Oxford Children.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 17 [Special].—F. Cyril James, principal of McGill university, announced today that university authorities had made arrangements to accommodate 150 evacuated British children with their mothers from Oxford university until such time as they could proceed to the United States to homes offered them by members of the staffs of Yale, Harvard, and Princeton universities.

THREE BRITISH PORTS WRECKED BY BOMBS, DUTCH SEAMEN SAY

BOSTON, Mass., July 17 (AP).—Members of the crew of the Dutch freighter Zypenberg, arriving to load scrap metal for United Kingdom ports, asserted today that Plymouth, England, and Pembroke and Cardiff, Wales, had been devastated by almost continuous raids by Nazi bombing planes and that many ships had been sunk in British harbors.

[In London authoritative circles denied that the ports had been wrecked.]

The Zypenberg was among Dutch vessels taken over by the British ministry of shipping after the German invasion of Holland. Officers and crew criticized treatment they said they had received. They said they had been given a 50 per cent wage reduction, and had been forced to operate unarmed in dangerous waters.

The Zypenberg's crew said that while their vessel was anchored in one British port a Nazi bomber sank a British ship anchored close astern. Wharves in the three British ports they mentioned have been demolished, they said.

Explosion on Big Vessel of Swedish Navy Kills 9

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 17 (AP).—Nine men were killed by a boiler explosion aboard "one of the bigger ships" of the Swedish fleet during maneuvers at sea, the admiralty announced today.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—NICE THINGS TO HAVE

NAZIS ROAR OVER SOUTH BRITAIN IN NIGHT AIR RAIDS

Loose High Explosives Hour After Hour.

LONDON, July 18, Thursday (AP).—German raiders roared thru the dark hour after hour last night, loosing high explosive bombs all across southern England, where an undisclosed number of persons were killed in earlier daylight raids.

A communique issued this morning said:

"During the night there was some enemy activity over the southeast and southwest of England and over Wales. Bombs were dropped at several points. Damage is reported from a few places where there were some casualties, a few of which were fatal."

A German pilot, severely wounded in an air battle off the west coast of England, landed his fighter plane on the neutral Irish soil of County Leix, at Portarlington. He was taken to a hospital. Portarlington is 40 miles southwest of Dublin.

During raids yesterday residents of one rural community saw one bomber drop 12 explosive bombs, then dodge into the clouds to escape British pursuit planes. A communique last night minimized the casualties and damage, saying four houses were wrecked and "a very few" persons killed.

Admit Cruiser Damaged.

At least one woman was killed and two persons injured in one bombing attack, which was then interrupted by a large number of British fighter planes. In another attack a "scream" bomb of the kind intended to spread terror smashed three houses and killed a 3 year old girl. Another attack was directed at a town in Scotland, where it was said bombs were dropped.

The British admiralty today announced that "information now has been received that one of our cruisers received damage" during Italian air attacks on July 8. An unstated number of casualties was admitted.

The cruiser was not named, but it was disclosed that the attacks took place during last week's British and Italian air and naval clashes in the Mediterranean.

The damage "did not affect the ship's fighting efficiency and it took its full part in the action against the Italian fleet on July 9, in which there were no casualties," the admiralty communique said. It added, "the ship is ready for service."

Two Ship Sinkings.

The disclosure came a few hours after the announcement of two ship sinkings. The Irish information bureau stated that the 1,359 ton ship City of Limerick had been lost in an air attack off Cape Ushant [Ouessant] on Monday. The cape is 27 miles northwest of Brest, France, a key points in the old British blockade of Brest in the Napoleonic wars.

Two of the crew were reported lost, with the rest landed at a southern English port. The vessel was said to be carrying a cargo of fruit from Cartagena, Spain, to Liverpool. Altho operated out of Dublin, the vessel, a small passenger ship, sailed under the British flag.

The admiralty announced that a naval auxiliary vessel, the 13,241 ton Van Dyck, formerly a 400 passenger liner of the Lamport and Holt company, was sunk by bombs off the Norwegian coast on June 10. Seven officers and men were killed in the bombing, and 161 taken prisoner, it was stated.

Special Units for Americans.

Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair warned in a broadcast to the empire that Britain is "certain" to face an air attack "many times greater than any which the enemy has yet launched."

A "great onslaught" of simultaneous air, sea, and land attack may come "within the next month" he declared, but "it will fail."

Britain is considering the formation of volunteer Americans into special squadrons of the British air force, it was disclosed yesterday.

"Great numbers" of men from the United States are seeking to enlist in the air force, an authoritative source reported. These volunteers "gradually" may be formed into flights and eventually into squadrons of Americans," this source said.

No Loss of Citizenship.

Washington, D. C., July 17 (AP).—The justice department said today that American citizens in Great Britain need not fear loss of citizenship by enlisting in the British air force, so long as they do not take an oath of citizenship to a foreign power.

Justice department officials said informally that enlistment in foreign armies is forbidden only when some portion of the action takes place within the territory or jurisdiction of the United States.

This means, it was said, that no one may enlist or recruit others for foreign military service while either is in the United States nor may anyone provide transportation or encourage another to leave this country for the purpose of enlisting abroad.

Canada Removes a Barrier.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 17 (AP). — A spokesman for the air ministry said today that American pilots and recruits who have the necessary qualifications now may join the Canadian air force without taking the oath of allegiance previously required.

Charges Cruelty

MRS. BARBARA SKILLMAN.

Mrs. Barbara Barnhart Skillman, 122 Harrison street, Barrington, filed suit for divorce on the ground of cruelty yesterday in the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan against John Van Dyke Skillman. They were married June 5, 1937, in the Fortnightly club, and separated last Sunday. The bill, filed by Attorney Harry R. Begley, charged that Skillman slapped his wife July 10 and struck and shoved her two days later. Mrs. Skillman, the daughter of Eugene M. Barnhart, executive of a clothing concern asked return of her maiden name. An answer filed by Skillman denied the charges, but indicated there would be no contest.

Mexico Finds Even a State Capital Can Run Out of Gas

HERMOSILLO, Sonora, Mexico, July 17 (AP).—This Mexican state capital of some 16,000 inhabitants found itself without gasoline for its automobiles today. Blaming the shortage on the government's distribution system, the newspaper El Pueblo, remarked, "Now that the oil is ours, we haven't any."

FUEHRER SHAPES BLITZ DECISION IN MOUNTAIN HOME

Germany Awaits Verdict on British Attack.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 17.—Germany is waiting expectantly for the decision it believes Fuehrer Hitler is taking at the moment. He is reported to be in his mountain retreat in Bavaria, where in recent years he perfected other plans which proved of decisive importance.

The public is divided into two schools of thought. There are those who ask, "Is a peace compromise possible?" and those who are eagerly tell one another dates on which it is certain that the attack on England will be started.

Some assert that Hitler is awaiting the outcome of the Democratic convention in Chicago, believing that the speeches there will reveal the "political temper of America" and indicate whether there is a possibility of America's participating more actively in the European war.

Say Aid to England Is Tardy.

The reported slowness of American deliveries of war materials to England has filled many German hearts with delight. They see in this evidence that the slowness of "industrial concerns operating along the old liberalistic pattern" is bound to render illusory whatever help America may have promised to England.

"It must be remembered," writes the Hamburger Fremdenblatt, that the English were able "to win the world war only because they succeeded in inducing the United States to participate in the conflict." Therefore, German leaders are following American developments most closely, hoping that this time "all England will get from the United States will be declarations of sympathy."

To judge from editorials such as those in the Fremdenblatt, which often reflects the opinion of the German foreign office, a compromise between the German and the English viewpoint is no longer possible.

Retreat from Continent.

"Any solution of the problems pending between England and Germany calls for a voluntary retreat of England from the European continent and the retention of her position in the empire," the Fremdenblatt said. "If England under Churchill [Winston Churchill, British prime minister] prefers to allow itself to be defeated by military force on its own land, then it will have to draw the consequences which will not end at the island. The speech of Churchill allows only one answer—a military blow by the reich which will be struck with merciless vigor."

[Churchill, in a speech last Sunday, said that Britain would fight to the end.]

Big Battles in Near Future.

Most influential circles envisage "decisive battles in the nearest future."

Most Nazis feel sure that the battle for England will last only a few weeks. Some are offering bets stating that two weeks after the campaign starts the Germans will be in London.

Despite this belief in a quick victory, the nation is continuing economic and military preparations which she is convinced will enable her to carry on the war for months if that is necessary. New factories are being erected at top speed in the industrial suburbs of Berlin.

Bad weather today prevented a continuation of the heavy air raids which the Germans have been making against Britain. However, a merchant ship was reported set afire in an air raid on a northern Scottish port. Troops also were said to have been bombed at Scapa Flow, in the Orkney Islands.

GERMAN ADMITS HE FAILED TO REGISTER AS COURIER OF NAZIS

BALBOA, Canal Zone, July 17 (AP).—Dr. Emil Wolff, German chemist, admitted in magistrate's court today that he had sailed from San Francisco, Cal., with a trunk containing Nazi diplomatic papers without registering as a German courier. He was ordered to stand trial in United States District court on two charges.

He is charged with failing to file a registration statement with the state department showing he is a German government agent and with failing to notify the state department he was acting as a courier of the German consulate at San Francisco. Bond of $5,000 for each count was posted.

The diplomatic papers were addressed to the German consulate at Valparaiso, Chile. The chemist said he had been instructed not to let any person open the trunk and to dump the trunk overboard if a British warship approached the Japanese steamer on which Dr. Wolff traveled from San Francisco to Balboa.

HOUSE MISSION STUDIES DEFENSE NEEDS OF CANAL

BALBOA, Canal Zone, July 17 (AP).—A house military subcommittee, headed by Representative Charles I. Faddis of Pennsylvania, arrived at Albrook field today for investigation of the military needs of the Panama canal.

Committeemen said preliminary observations indicated good progress had been made toward adequate defense of the canal, but precautions against sabotage appeared to be the most urgent need.

Much of their interest centered on protective features such as a third set of locks and antiaircraft defenses. Congress has appropriated $19,000,000 directly for the canal and President Roosevelt can use up to $100,000,000 if necessary.

THE THIRD TERM.

Mr. Roosevelt reached the climax of political hypocrisy Tuesday night when he had Senator Alben Barkley make an explanation of his attitude toward the third term.

Mr. Roosevelt, thru the medium of a character appropriate to the occasion, said that he never had and did not have any desire to continue in the office of President, to be a candidate for that office, or to be nominated by the convention. The delegates, he said, were free to vote for any candidate.

He didn't want the nomination. He said so—with Harry Hopkins and his New Deal place holders pulling the wires from their hotel headquarters to the convention puppets to get for him what he didn't want.

Mr. Roosevelt has had a desire to continue in the office of President. He has pursued that desire with an intensity increasing every day as the convention drew near. In this pursuit he has befuddled his party. He has suppressed the political ambitions of men he could control or threaten. He has manipulated offices and preferments to keep his potential rivals in check. He has permitted his place holders to clamor that he be drafted. He has encouraged every boodling Democratic politician who needs the New Deal for his own purposes to din the ears of the country for two years with demands for him.

When he could have settled the whole business by one word he refused to speak. His acts were speaking for him but he declined to answer the question they raised. Of any other man finishing his second term it would have been assumed, without a doubt, that he was permitting the nomination to seek another candidate. The party would have been looking for its new man.

If Mr. Roosevelt had not desired to continue in office and if he had not desired the nomination, he would have said so at least two years ago. He would have stopped the claque of office holders which was demanding that he be drafted. He would not have timed a series of political strokes, all calculated to put every other man out of the running and to increase the hysteria or its manufactured equivalent to give him what no other American has ever had and what the sound opinion of the country condemns as vicious.

Mr. Barkley's was the appropriate voice to make the announcement to the convention, because Mr. Barkley personifies the manner in which Mr. Roosevelt plays politics. Mr. Barkley in speaking for Mr. Roosevelt was paying for his keep. He got his renomination to the senate by the methods by which Mr. Roosevelt paved his own way to the White House. Mr. Roosevelt talked cash money to the Kentucky voters in telling them why they should prefer Mr. Barkley to the then governor, Mr. Chandler.

Mr. Barkley, said Mr. Roosevelt, was an old Washington hand who knew his way about and who seldom came to the White House without leaving it with something handsome in the way of a donation for his state from the federal treasury. Kentucky could not expect Mr. Chandler to have so much success in lugging the loot away. Mr. Roosevelt reminded the Kentucky voters that Mr. Barkley, with the White House assistance, had sweetened the Kentucky larder with 300 million dollars. This able getter had dragged down over a quarter of a billion dollars and for that reason Mr. Roosevelt recommended him to his constituency. There was more where he got the 300 million.

Such are the political methods by which Mr. Roosevelt sought control of this Democratic convention, and it was proper that Mr. Barkley, the boy with the golden touch, should nominate his chief for the third term. That is what Barkley virtually did as he represented Mr. Roosevelt as not desiring what he has pulled wires and spent money to get ever since he was elected for the second term. A more hypocritical statement never was made to a political convention, and the character of the man who used Mr. Barkley as his loud speaker is fully revealed by it.

Mr. Roosevelt has undertaken to throw the responsibility for the third term upon the delegates of the convention. He first saw to it that no other candidate would be in a strong position and that his own fellows would be opposed only by a few forlorn elements—by men who would have no confidence whatever in themselves and no courage to make a determined stand against what they might well regard as a disaster to free government.

Some of them knew that the day of Mr. Roosevelt's renomination would be a black day in American history. They knew when Mr. Roosevelt spoke the hypocritical words which they were prepared to hear, that a man seeking the road to dictatorship, with the temperament fitted for it, would be before them. He would stage his coup d'etat at the worst possible moment. In no other period of American history has there been such an opportunity for the man on horseback and at no other time has there appeared a man whose character faults would make him so formidable if he were presented with the opportunity.

The man and the opportunity came before the Democratic convention and the appearance found the convention divested of the spirit of Americanism. The delegates were prepared in critical times to throw away the greatest safeguard the country has. That safeguard is the unwritten article of the constitution which would keep a permanent tenure from the doors of the White House, a tenure procured by the use of the public purse and the mercenaries of a political organization. The public debt of 43 billion dollars has spoken in its master's voice. It paid for the crown which he pretended to push aside. The menace of that debt presents itself in the person of the man who has created it. He said it would ruin the country and he intends to complete the job if he can.

To win this nomination, which he said he did not want, he worked up a series of war scares, each more threatening than its predecessors, adding them to the domestic turmoil and presenting impending catastrophe as the reason for his continuance in power. He has kept the war drums going for three years, introducing specters to his countrymen and pointing to the battlefields for which he is preparing to arm his conscripts.

So far as he could, without giving congress a chance to stop him, he has waged war. He has done so partly to insure for himself the third term, which would be one of a dictator, and to satisfy his desire to be the first President of the United States to break down tradition and serve continuously, and also to gratify his further ambition to be the great architect of world destiny. He has inherited all Mr. Wilson's desire for world leadership and has added to it his own irresponsibility and the faults of his furtive nature.

The day of his renomination should be a day of mourning. A great American party will have ceased to be an American party. It has betrayed its country, and if the delegates search their consciences they will know that this is the truth.

MR. CHURCHILL DEFIES THE NAZIS.

Prime Minister Churchill in his public addresses of late has not been the best of prophets. He was wrong in Norway and he was wrong again in France. Hitler in the Scandinavian peninsula was not Napoleon in Spain and the French after the break-thru at Sedan were not able under Weygand's new dispositions to offer the resistance which Mr. Churchill may have been persuaded at the time that they could reconstruct.

Even if Mr. Churchill had more hope than real confidence in the other two phases of the war, he is not the man to allow any words of his to carry an impression of weakness or weariness. When he spoke to the world Sunday it was as the representative and the head of a nation waiting for the first great test of its defenses, "here in our island . . . in good health and in good heart."

The heroic addresses of other rulers in countries about to be stricken by the Nazi blows were not followed by the last street and last man defense which was promised. But there must be a feeling that Mr. Churchill is relying upon qualities which will not fail when put to trial.

The British in their preparations for this war may have been careless, they may have relied too much upon the idea that some things just can't happen, but they need very little prompting to realize what a failure now would mean. Britain subjugated is Britain at the end of its history as that history has been written to date. English speaking people would remain a power but the resurrection of the island kingdom as the heart of empire would seem to have even less probability than the complete restoration of France or of Poland. England would live and English customs would survive, but who would be bold enough to think that the old power could be recovered?

Mr. Churchill says, as if he meant it in every syllable and every tone, that there will be no peace with the Nazis which subjugates continental Europe to their rule. That is the defiance to Hitler with which the war began. The road to this end is now longer and darker than it was before. All the purposes Mr. Churchill has in mind are not apparent when he says that in 1942 he expects that the character of the war will change and that Britain will be ready to take the offensive, meaning, it may be supposed, that then it will be prepared to send another army across the channel.

If this is a brave idea, it is also an appalling thought that for the remainder of this year, thruout the winter, and into another summer there is to be a Europe locked in a deadly struggle. Mr. Churchill asks the world to believe this and he wants the Germans to think it. It has been predicted that if the war goes into December and longer the winter will be something terrible in the recollections of the people who survive it. It is certain that Nazi fighting forces will be the last to feel its deprivation.

Hitler, it would seem, has said too much to refuse to make the mass attack upon Great Britain. He has promised the Germans to smash thru the air and sea defenses and pour his troops into the island. It would seem that he must try it or have difficulty in finding explanations which will preserve prestige. If Mr. Churchill can back up his statements the attack will fail and if the war is to continue another two years it will be a test of the two blockades, the British which is trying to strangle the continent, and the German which is trying to cut the lifelines of the island. That may be the exhausting war for which communist Russia has prepared its design of revolution and conquest.

MISS DOROTHY THOMPSON: A DEADLY PARALLEL.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Miss Dorothy Thompson's mental gyrations are blitzkrieg swift.

In an article scheduled for publication in this newspaper [but not printed] June 6, less than one month ago, she told congress that the country "should go to war, and go now." At the time, French and British resistance was collapsing before Hitler's onrushing armies. Miss Thompson was explicit. She said: "We should move now, sending every ship not in the Pacific to the Mediterranean and the North sea, and sending the 300 fittest of our army planes to France and Britain to help them protect their factories and production."

In her latest article we find Miss Thompson advising the country what strategy to adopt to meet the threat of total Nazi victory. "This strategy," says Miss Thompson, "must be one which will neither involve us in a war, which in our present state of preparedness and in view of already lost opportunities, will be insane . . ."

On June 6 Miss Thompson wanted to go to war without a moment's delay. Today [July 5] she says that going to war would be insane.

"THE PUBLIC BE DAMNED."

When and where did William H. Vanderbilt, the railway magnate, make his much quoted remark, "The public be damned"?

John Kelley, former Tribune reporter, has researched the incident carefully and recorded his findings in "Forty Years of Newspaper Nights." [See the Erie (Pa.) Daily Times, Feb. 20, 1933.]

Vanderbilt was interviewed by two reporters at Michigan City, Ind., Oct. 8, 1882, in his private car on a Michigan Central train running toward Chicago. They were John D. Sherman and Clarence Dresser. These men supplied Chicago newspapers with syndicated news of the Hyde Park region, then outside the city.

The only paper that quoted Vanderbilt as saying "The public be damned" the next day was the Morning News. Dresser, who was Sherman's assistant, gave the same story to the other papers, but his copy did not contain "the public be damned." He explained the matter by stating that in the News office he had been questioned about the interview by Col. Nate Reed, an editor, and had told him about "the public be damned." The latter added it to the interview.

Vanderbilt denied the utterance when interviewed later in Denver, saying "This is an injustice to me." When he passed thru Chicago on his return, he refused to be interviewed. Both Sherman and Dresser agreed that he had made the remark. Sherman was the questioner at the interview. The dialog between them, as published in the Morning News, follows:

REPORTER—Does your limited express pay?

VANDERBILT—No. We run it because we are forced to do so by the action of the Pennsylvania road. It doesn't pay expenses. We would abandon it if it were not for our competitor keeping its train on.

REPORTER—But don't you run it for the benefit of the public?

VANDERBILT—The public be damned. What does the public care for the railroads except to get as much out of them for as small a consideration as possible? . . . Railroads are not run on sentiment but on business principles.

This context discloses that the remark was merely an impatient interjection of a realist, and fairly innocuous of intention.

THE LITTLE DOG OF DUNKIRK.

"The most pathetic of all the living creatures on the beach at Dunkirk were the dogs. They had been abandoned in the ruins and had fled to the human companionship of the crowded beach."—The Manchester Guardian.

Terrified by noise of shellfire
All the little dogs of Dunkirk
Looking for another home.
Shepherds, spaniels, setters, mongrels,
They were waiting on the beach,
And the soldiers, their companions,
Gave a kindly word to each.

Little victims of the Fuehrer,
Shivering little refugees;
Should a soldier not show pity
Even to the least of these?
One black puppy off to England
Rescued from that pleading pack—
British soldiers paid their shillings
Just to take that puppy back.

As If vs. As Tho.

Big legal firm, preparing important brief, consults the Linemaster [gratis] on the point: Which is correct, as if or as tho?

The Linemaster strongly advises in favor of as if, altho he admits as tho into the realm of decent English.

Then he turns to Fowler's "Modern English Usage," which can split hairs finer than a Philadelphia lawyer, and reads:

"As tho is precisely equivalent to as if."

But he trusts that the learned barristers will cause the words to be followed by a past conditional and not by a present tense.

[Robert Browning, 1812-'89.]

We stand, dear Philo, on a jagged crest,
Of cupola and minaret possessed,
A world within a world, beyond decay;
A world of nobly ordered turbulence.
No poor, unhappy, idle millionaires,
No men of sixty starched in stale pretence,
But gallant and unmindful of the years
Are they who plow the cortex, and aspire
To chart the path of Betelgeuse, and melt
The ores of literature in living fire,
And sound the glories where their bodies dwelt.
If discords from such energies arise,
Still new and grander concords are the prize!

Doorway Into a Vanished Theater.

The discovery of an extant doorway to the vanished Alhambra theater, reported by Max of the Second Gallery [June 29] caused a certain Floyd Howard Ashley, who appears to be a 33d degree theatrical archæologist, to lead an expedition to State street and Archer avenue. He reports that this portal, still bearing "Alhambra" lettering, was not the gallery entrance as claimed by Max, but the side door, leading thru an arcade to the main lobby.

The learned Dr. Ashley then proceeds to shoot this column's reminiscences of old playgoers full of holes, and talks by the book, quoting such recondite treatises as Edward Freiberger's "From Sauganash to Iroquois" [a rare item] and Charles Nixon's "Epitome of Chicago's Theatrical History." After writing a veritable thesis on accuracy in such matters, he commits the eighth deadly sin of stage chroniclers by spelling the Shuberts as if they were a family of famous German musicians!

Why should the Democrats worry over a candidate for Vice President? Just make the ticket Roosevelt & Sons. G. J. S.

ELECTRICAL HEARING AIDS.

WITHIN recent years those who are "hard o' hearing" have been assisted materially by means of electrical devices capable of communicating sound. While these appliances have achieved remarkable perfection, nevertheless the end is not yet and year by year we may hope for improvements which will reproduce natural tones and inflections.

Unfortunately, salesmanship has entered the picture and sometimes claims are made which cannot be borne out by performance. The instruments are expensive—requiring, in some instances, a substantial outlay. Hence, none should be purchased except after a careful trial and—with the advice and counsel of the ear physician who knows the case.

Even with the most complete equipment, it may be necessary to practice for weeks before it can be worn with ease and satisfaction. The whole business is an experiment and—at best—it may not be possible to detect one voice from another, or the direction from which it comes. Furthermore, some discomfort may need to be endured for a time before correct adjustment can be effected.

No one enjoys advertising an infirmity—such as wearing ear phones. But we are so accustomed to observing these gadgets that there is little embarrassment either to the wearer or to the one who is speaking.

There are two accepted types: The miniature telephone with a carbon transmitter and an earpiece; and the radio. The former is easier to handle as it is lighter. The upkeep is moderate and the batteries will last for quite some time. Furthermore, the apparatus is readily concealed. Its shortcoming lies in the fact that overtones—which give quality to the voice—are not caught. In a conversation carried on between three or more persons—unless the eye catches the movements of the lips—just which one is holding forth may be difficult to determine. The monotony is disturbing to some.

The vacuum or radio variety will amplify the entire range of sounds—speech or music. By the use of filters, low as well as overtones may be heightened. Then, the finger sized tubes have reduced the rather bulky appearance of earlier makes. But the batteries require more frequent renewal. Another drawback is that the contrivance is somewhat more fragile and cannot stand bumps and jars as readily as the telephone form. Either can be adjusted to air or bone conduction.

Those who present a mixed deafness—who can detect higher notes with reasonable efficiency—usually do well with the telephone. But the greater the loss, that is, the greater the deficiency in the upper range, the less helpful will it be.

Medical science has not as yet solved the problem of deafness. It would be far better if—instead of carrying on treatments for months or years [many of which are ineffectual] some hearing utensil be suggested at the outset so that the victim may function fairly well. Later, the machinery can be discarded if lip reading is mastered. Needless to say, proficiency in this latter accomplishment is of great value and should be taught as an essential to the interpretation of conversation.

No longer can the specialist remain indifferent to what happens to his deaf patients. But, first of all, he must acquaint himself with the several types of conductors offered and work with the manufacturer in making available those that will be most beneficial.

Parents can watch their children to make certain that every infection is so treated that the delicate mechanism within the middle ear shall not be injured beyond repair. Attention in childhood may avoid the necessity for a machine of this sort.

LAXATIVE DRUGS.

D. S. writes: What is the difference between a cathartic and a purgative?

REPLY.

Virtually none. Each implies excessive action of the bowel.

PSYCHOSIS AFTER PREGNANCY.

S. K. writes: I suffered a psychosis after the birth of my child five years ago. I spent seven months in a mental hospital but have been normal since. Do you think it would be safe for me to have another baby?

REPLY.

The chances are that you will encounter no difficulty. It goes without saying that careful attention will need to be given to diet, exercise, rest, etc. Your physician should keep closely in touch with the progress of events.

BATHING THE BABY.

H. R. S. writes: Is it harmful to bathe a 2 months old baby in water reaching above the ears?

REPLY.

A baby is not a porpoise and should not be treated as one. Why be so generous with water? A level that reaches the hips is adequate.

OPERATION FOR POISE.

C. M. writes: My sister is troubled with extreme nervousness when speaking before an audience. She has difficulty in breathing and talks very rapidly. A friend recently told her that there is a minor operation [clipping the cord in the back] that cures this condition completely and the person is perfectly calm afterward. Is there any truth to this statement?

REPLY.

What tales our friends do tell! We are all nervous on occasions—particularly when facing an audience. Practice is the only cure.

INFECTED TONSILS.

A. V. writes: Can infected tonsils cause backaches and headaches?

REPLY.

Any kind of ache—including heartache. Rout them out at some suitable time.

TODAY IN HISTORY

July 18, 1914

Congress inaugurated military aviation in the United States by authorizing an aviation section of the United States army signal corps. A sum of $250,000 was provided for aircraft. At our entrance in the world war there were 65 officers and 1,120 men in the army aviation section, and 35 officers and 163 men in the navy division. At the armistice we had a grand total of approximately 220,000 in all branches of aviation.

66 LETTERS; ONE PENSION.

Granite City, Ill., July 16.—A "Chicagoan" wants to know if any reader can tell him how long it takes for an old age pension applicant to have same approved. Cutting the answer short, there is no time limit.

I was nearly 67 years of age March 6, 1936, when I filed my application, and it was Nov. 19, 1937, when I received my first pension check.

I now live in Madison county, but I was born in the adjoining county of Macoupin in 1869. My mother was born in that county in 1842 and reared there. Her parents, Ohio born, were old settlers in that county, about 1830.

After I filed my application I heard nothing for five months. I then wrote a letter to the welfare department in Springfield. That letter was the first of many I wrote to the assistance division and elsewhere. I received many replies to the letters I had written before my application was approved. I now have 66 letters in my file of the case. These are arranged in numerical sequence and, along with the notes accompanying each letter, they make a volume of about 44,000 words which I hope to have printed in book form.

Toward the end of the contest I wrote a letter to Congressman Schaefer from this district. He wrote to the county department and to the assistance division in Springfield, asking them the reason for the long delay in approving my application. The county department told him in a second letter, which was necessary to make plain the first reply, that it was my citizenship that was in doubt. The state department told him that it was my age that was in doubt; both of which, of course, were false statements. But the authors got busy and approved my application, anyway.

I blame the delay on the downright cussedness of the superintendents in the department of public welfare.

ALBERT A. THOMPSON.

PROPOSES MRS. ROOSEVELT.

Jackson, Miss., July 15.—Since folks want Roosevelt but do not want a third term, why not have a Roosevelt who has traveled more extensively than any President, who knows much of economic and political conditions, who has seen more of the people of the country, and has talked with more of them than any President; one who is as energetic and active as any President could be? I refer to our first lady, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

LAURENCE C. JONES,

THE BENEVOLENT STATE.

Sparta, Ill., July 14.—In Spain five hundred years ago, July, 1440, instead of July, 1940, imagine the futility of sending out letters designed to cast discredit upon the theory of a flat earth. In July, 1940, it may be as foolish to send to literary strongholds of the United States letters of protest against the present conception of the Benevolent State.

The Benevolent State is not aligned with that benevolence which Jesus exalted as a measure of the human individual's own free will. The state constitutes an enforcement agency and the Benevolent State therefore constitutes the exaction of benevolence by force from some people for other people. The disciples of the Benevolent State are meeting in convention this week.

REACTIONARY.

COULD IT HAVE BEEN WILSON?

Alliance, Neb., July 14.—Mr. Roosevelt says he will not let us get into the European war. Seems to me I recall some other Democratic idealist saying something like that just before an election about 24 years ago.

Do you remember a catch line of the comedian in the "Prince of Pilsen" opera years ago? "Where did I hear that song before?"

JAMES K. ALLEN.

BLAMES THE MARTINETS.

Chicago, July 14.—I can understand perfectly why they are having tough sledding trying to inveigle young men into the regular army. I reckon the government should now realize that it has been unwise to discriminate against the regulars. A West Point martinet sure fixed me up good when I was a young fellow.

GUINEA PIG NO. 1.

NOT SO EASY TO GET BACK.

Chicago, July 13.—Regarding the letter "Welcome in Canada" in today's TRIBUNE: Will the writer please relate the amount of trouble and inconvenience he was put to and credentials necessary for his return to the U. S. A. providing it was not thru his point of entry [Portal, N. D.].

H. S. TANSLE.

FOR AMERICAN CHILDREN FIRST.

Northbrook, Ill., July 13.—Why not be patriotic for a change and suggest in your paper that American children be taken care of before the British? Certainly the children of the slums could stand a little country life.

WALTER O'NEILL.

NEED TRIBUNE IN THE EAST.

Seymour, Ind., July 12.—I wish you could circulate THE TRIBUNE in the east. The easterners have a different point of view from the middle westerners, I believe, at least during these unusual times. The sane, sensible policy of THE TRIBUNE is sorely needed at the present time.

I think [if it is at all possible for you to manage it] it is your patriotic duty to send your paper regularly to eastern cities, and to conduct a campaign for circulating it there, especially in Washington and New York.

The middle west is the backbone of the country, and our ideas and ideals should have a chance to play a part in the nation's capital and on the seaboard.

A TRIBUNE ADMIRER.

WHY ALL THOSE CLOCKS?

Chicago, July 15.—Having had the opportunity of going thru the county jail, I was much impressed by its cleanliness. I think it one of the finest jails in the country.

But one thing I want to know, as a taxpayer, who authorized the purchase of all those clocks which they have no use for and which remain at "12." I asked the guard why they didn't run; he said they didn't want the prisoners to know the time. So why the clocks?—and there are a great number.

Who profited by that deal?

DORIS COUGHLIN.

IF ENGLAND FALLS.

Chicago, July 15.—The hatred expressed in your editorials for everything that stands for Roosevelt and the New Deal seems to have dulled your sense of right and wrong. What's wrong, for instance, with Roosevelt's desire to back England with everything short of war? Haven't Hitler and Mussolini made clear that their avowed purpose is to destroy the democracies, and that if England falls the United States will be their next objective?

M. B.

THERE'S A LARGER LAKE HERE.

Chicago, July 15.—"Crowd Hurls Two Communists Into Rice Lake in Wisconsin": News item in THE TRIBUNE. Well, what are we here in Chicago waiting for, with a much better lake on our frontage than Rice lake and with a lot of communists and Nazis in our midst that need a good fresh water bath to cleanse them of the foreign filth adhering to their bosoms? May the spirit of Rice lake clean up Chicago.

INDIAN JOHN.

RADICALS ON THE SOAP BOX.

Chicago, July 14.—What are we going to do about it? I mean those sidewalk soap box orators; those groups of foreign radicals who threaten our form of democracy.

Are we going to let them undermine the morale of our people? They are the fifth column of the foreign dictators. They want to run and ruin our nation. Shall we let them?

DIVORCE PROCEEDINGS.

Chicago, July 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My nephew's wife employed an attorney and [1] my nephew didn't get a divorce.

2. Is there a law where one attorney can represent wife and husband and [3] must my nephew pay the attorney she hired? She got the divorce and he was forced to pay court costs also soon after divorce. She got married again. Nephew had a girl three years of age.

4. Must he still pay her $6 a week or [5] does this do away with paying for baby after she is married? F. N.

1. It is not clear whether you mean the case went by default or both parties were openly represented in court.

2. In general this practice is frowned upon, but it can be done where there is a complete disclosure.

3. In general the husband is required to pay his wife's attorney's fees.

4. His obligation depends largely on the wording of the court order.

5. No, her contracting a new marriage does not alter his position as father of the child. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

RECORDING DEED.

Chicago, July 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Will you please tell me how long I can legally keep a quit claim deed in my possession without having it recorded in this or other states? L. W.

You can keep it indefinitely in the sense that there is no penalty by fine or imprisonment, but delay in recording invites litigation on the question whether the deed was validly delivered during the grantor's lifetime.

GEN. MARSHALL TELLS SPEED OF DEFENSE MOVES

Predicts 16 Fully Armed Divisions by Jan. 1.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 17.—Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, today predicted that the army will have 16 divisions completely equipped with modern weapons by Jan. 1.

Gen. Marshall.

The divisions, Gen. Marshall said, will include the nine regular army streamlined infantry divisions, the four National Guard divisions President Roosevelt intends to call out for intensive training [when and if authorized by congress], the two new mechanized divisions, and one cavalry division.

[A "streamlined" division is a highly mobile unit of quick striking power, incorporating some of the ideas tested by the Germans in their European offensives. It is about half the size of a world war infantry division. The mechanized units will be equipped with motorcycles, armored cars, tanks, and all other means necessary for rapid movement and heavy striking power.]

Spending 41 Millions Daily.

William S. Knudsen of the national defense commission yesterday announced that rearmament contracts are being cleared at the rate of $41,000,000 a day, a total of 1 billion 390 million dollars in contracts for army equipment having been let in the last 40 days. Navy contracts in the same period totaled 271 million dollars.

The war department announced that E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. has signed a contract for constructing a $25,000,000 smokeless powder plant at Charlestown, Ind., across the Ohio river from Louisville, Ky.

The plant, which will be owned by the federal government, will be operated and constructed by du Pont on a fixed fee basis. About 4,500 acres of land are being purchased. The plant will require about 10 months to build.

Powder production will be about 200,000 pounds a day. This will more than treble the present American output of smokeless powder.

Five thousand men will be employed in constructing the plant and a like force will be required to operate it.

Favors Selective Draft.

Gen. Marshall said the war department is eager to protect the jobs of white collar workers if the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training bill is enacted and they are called for defense training.

"We are very much concerned with this matter, especially with the small salaried man who faces a serious situation," Marshall said. "I believe it is very important to have a formal selective service law in effect. This will avoid taking men from pivotal posts or those with dependents. If it is a haphazard procedure, very unfortunate results may develop."

The army must work toward a strength of 1,200,000 men with 800,000 reserves, Marshall said, but emphasized that the goal must be geared to the amount of equipment available.

SMILIN' JACK—GONE BUT NOT "FOR-COTTON"

GEN. L. R. FREDENDALL IN CITY; TAKES OVER POST COMMAND TODAY

Brig. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall, new commander of Fort Sheridan, arrived by auto last night from La Jolla Cal., accompanied by Mrs. Fredendall. Gen. Fredendall will assume command this morning, taking over his duties from Col. John L. Homer, acting commander.

Gen. Fredendall.

Gen. Fredendall, who is 56 years old, had been assigned to duty in Washington.

Brig. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, assistant chief of staff, flew to Chicago yesterday from Washington and went to Fort Sheridan to inspect the business and professional men's military training camp.

He was conducted on a two hour tour by Col. Homer and Col. John B. Johnson, in charge of the encampment, and interviewed many of the campers. He told officials he was highly pleased with what he saw.

STATE DEMOCRAT MACHINE SPEEDS SLUSH PAYMENTS

Lump Sum Demands Are Reported.

Investigation of rumors yesterday that the collectors for the Illinoisans, Democratic 2 per cent club, have been asking state employés for lump sum payments to the state Democratic machine's campaign chest led to the following disclosures:

1. Monthly payments, which fell off considerably last spring after the mysterious death of F. Lynden Smith, state director of public works and chief of the slush fund, and the subsequent legislative inquiry, are being speeded up to supply funds for the fall election campaign.

2. State employés are being told, according to reliable information from Springfield, to make payments directly to the offices of the Illinoisans instead of to the designated collectors in various state offices, as was the custom in previous months.

Demand on Workers Reported.

The report regarding the lump sum payments was that collectors had told workers, including some civil service employés in the Chicago office of the state finance department, that they must pay up their arrears for the months in which no collections were made and that henceforth the regular monthly contributions of two per cent of their salary checks would be expected.

Robert M. Stowers, head of the finance office in Chicago, denied emphatically that such pressure was being placed on his employés. Sam Nudelman, director of the state finance department, was busy at the Democratic convention and could not be reached for comment.

Altho regular monthly payments have been made by state employés, it was learned that for the most part civil service employés, especially those in Springfield, have not been bothered by the slush fund collectors. Officials of the state civil service commission reported yesterday that no complaints had been received on this score since the spring primary.

Probed by Legislators.

The legislative committee which inquired into slush fund activities was headed by Representative Clinton Searle [R., Rock Island]. After weeks of investigation of alleged waste and corruption in the administration of Gov. Horner's sickroom regency, the committee adjourned early in June. Among its recommendations were: reduction of 10 per cent in departmental expenditures, ending of the political shakedown of contractors doing state work, and creation of a standing committee to hold down governmental costs. The committee was dissolved an hour after it reported, and no action has been taken on its recommendations.

Last February H. A. Stone, a slush fund collector, was indicted by a Will county grand jury for unlawfully and feloniously receiving political contributions and assessments from state civil service employés. The indictment still is pending.

In connection with an injunction suit recently brought by Sylvester Steskal, a state policeman, to restrain the Illinoisans from spending funds turned over to it by its predecessor, the Illinois Iroquois league, numerous code department officials admitted receiving slush fund contributions from employés and turning these over to the Illinoisans.

Continue Slaying Inquest Over Danny Stanton Aids

An inquest into the slaying of Michael McGovern and James McGlade was continued indefinitely yesterday for further police investigation. The bodies of the two men were found several weeks ago in an automobile in front of 58 East 69th street. They had been shot to death. Both men had been in trouble with the police in recent years. Lieut. Otto Erlanson of the homicide squad said they were aids of Danny Stanton, one of the leaders of the Frank Nitti gang.

Jury Orders Young Killer Held on Charge of Murder

A coroner's jury yesterday ordered Raymond Sobol Jr., 19 years old, 1318 Webster avenue, held to the grand jury on a charge of murder. The youth admitted he seized a shotgun June 30 in his father's tavern and fatally wounded George Sawalish, 30, of 3909 Altgeld street. He said he acted in self-defense. The shooting was preceded by a fight between Sawalish and the elder Sobol.

HELD TO JURY IN SLAYING.

Angelo Timpone, 36 years old, was ordered held to the grand jury on a murder charge yesterday by the coroner's jury investigating the fatal shooting of Philip Malloy, bouncer in the Tun-O-Fun tavern, 704 West 63d street, on July 8.

UNIONIST ADMITS BOMBING 6 MILK STATIONS IN CITY

Leads Police to Cache of Explosives.

A member of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, shot and captured early yesterday after he had set off a bomb in a nonunion milk depot, confessed to investigators that he had bombed five other stores in the last three weeks.

To corroborate his story the bomber, Edmund Iwanski, 35 years old, 5362 North Nottingham avenue, led detectives to the basement of his home and showed them two spare bombs he had expected to use later. Another, which dropped from his pocket as he fled after his latest blast [at the Edgebrook Farms depot, 5718 Elston avenue], was recovered.

Bombs Skilfully Made.

Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford and other investigators said last night that they were frankly skeptical of Iwanski's declaration that he acted without accomplices and that he stole the dynamite he used from a farm near Bensenville. Experts said the bombs were skilfully made.

Three policemen, especially assigned by Deputy Chief of Detectives Walter Storms to stop outrages against dairy stores, were parked across the street from the Edgebrook Farms store yesterday when Iwanski smashed a window and hurled the bomb in. They are John Greer, George Tambling, and James Lynch.

Shot as He Flees.

The policemen pursued the milkman, who dropped his second bomb and fled toward his car a short distance away. When he refused to halt, Greer fired a shot that shattered his right arm.

Iwanski said it was his habit to set his bombs as he was on the way to the Bowman Dairy company barn at 4310 North Kenneth avenue, where he is employed, so that he would have an alibi if suspected. Most of his bombs were hung on door knobs.

The store bombed yesterday is owned by Ray Abrahamson, 835 Lawrence avenue. Iwanski said the other bombings were at 2821 Milwaukee avenue, on June 26; at 5140 Irving Park road, on June 30; at 4450 Diversey avenue and 5159 Addison street, on July 8, and at 2452 North Sawyer avenue, on July 10.

Iwanski is married and has three children. Officers of the drivers' union said he was a member, but that they knew nothing further about him. A writ of habeas corpus in his behalf was requested by Attorney John M. Nagle, and a hearing on the application will be held before Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court this morning.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by HOMER CNEISZ

July 17, 1940.

Cool Weather for Hay.

HAY making, ordinarily associated with hot weather and men in shirt sleeves and wide brimmed straw hats, took a new turn at the Du Page county farm this week when harvesters in heavy sweaters and jackets shivered while working in the meadows cutting and baling timothy hay. Curing hay has been a slow job all season because of a lack of warm sunshine to dry it.

The timothy being harvested this week is cut and left in the swath about 24 hours and then taken with sweep rakes directly to the baler. The baled hay is stored in barns to be fed next winter and spring to horses. The manager prefers to feed loose hay, but is having to bale this to conserve storage space.

Bright and Clean.

The hay is bright and clean, but not quite as ripe as the men like to have it, especially for baling. They would have let it stand a few days longer, but they want to get the hay harvest out of the way before wheat is ready to cut. The bales are arranged in the hay mows so air can circulate between them and help dry them out. The bales average about 80 pounds and the men say there is not likely to be any spoilage.

The weather lately has offered one advantage in hay making—there has been little dew, and work could be started early in the mornings. Workers hope to finish with the timothy this week. It looks now as if the second cutting of alfalfa would be ready to put up right in the midst of the small grain harvest.

Corn is not growing well because of the cool nights and lack of moisture, altho the plants still have a healthy, green color. Chinch bugs are said to be damaging corn in some sections of central and northern Illinois, but they have not appeared at the farm so far this year. Often these pests are not noticeable until after small grains are cut, when they crawl out of the stubble fields into nearby fields of corn. Planting is arranged at the farm to keep wheat, oats, and other small grains as far as possible away from corn.

Berries Need Rain.

Gardens and the berry plantation are beginning to need rain badly. Field crops appear to have suffered less. Some of the berries are drying up and the blackberries, dewberries, and others that ripen late are expected to make light yields unless rains come soon.

Strawberries are gone except for a few on the everbearing plants. Red, yellow, purple, and black raspberries are being picked now. The pickers always are glad when the raspberries are ripe for they think these are the easiest to pick of all. They consider picking strawberries the hardest job around the berry patch.

WITNESS LINKS 42 HOLLYWOOD FIGURES TO REDS

Asserts They Give $1,200 a Month to Party.

Beaumont, Tex., July 17 (AP).—A spokesman said the Dies committee to investigate un-American activities today was given a list naming 42 of Hollywood's most prominent screen figures in connection with the communist party.

Approximately 60 per cent of those named were members of the party and the rest furnished money and other support, the committee was told in closed session. The list was reported to embrace actors, actresses, directors, producers, and writers.

Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman of the house committee, for several days has been digging into evidence of communist and Fascist activities.

Reports $1,200 Monthly Gifts.

John L. Leech of Portland, Ore., who yesterday outlined what he said was the general communist program on the west coast, today detailed what he asserted was communist activity in the film colony. Leech described himself as a former communist leader in California. He said he was expelled by the party in 1937.

The professional group in Hollywood, he told the committee, contributed $1,200 to $1,500 a month to the party, exclusive of campaign contributions and special assessments.

One producer, Leech reportedly testified, contributed $500 each month, and in 1936 spent several months in the soviet union. The party, Leech's testimony asserted, played upon a fear of anti-Semitism and of Naziism to build its strength in Hollywood.

Says Browder Was Guest.

Earl Browder, communist leader in America and candidate for president, was present at a meeting in a prominent director's home in 1936, Leech said. Several thousand dollars were raised there for a campaign fund, he testified.

Another witness, whose identity committee sources refused to reveal, testified regarding an alleged confederation of Mexicans whose aim was to further Mexican interests in the United States.

The witness, a naturalized American citizen of Mexican descent, said a Mexican consul in this country in 1936 offered him a trip to Mexico, with all expenses paid, to study socialism on the understanding that he would teach it later.

The witness testified he refused the offer before learning where he was supposed to teach. He said a meeting of the confederation was held recently in Galveston, Tex., to consider moving headquarters from San Antonio to Galveston.

DR. C. F. REISNER, NOTED NEW YORK PASTOR, IS DEAD

New York, July 17 (AP).—Dr. Christian F. Reisner, 68 years old, a former city editor who became one of America's best known clergymen and church builders by applying the principles of advertising to religion, died tonight. Pastor of the $3,500,000 Broadway Temple Methodist Episcopal church, Dr. Reisner, who originated billboard advertising for churches, underwent a gallstone operation June 4. Before he was ordained in 1896 he was city editor of the Atchison Daily Champion. He was pastor of the London Heights church in Kansas City, Kas., from 1897 to 1903; of Grace church in Denver, Colo., from 1903 to 1910, when he came to New York as pastor of Grace church. He took the pulpit of Broadway temple in 1919. He defended "flappers" during the prohibition era and told his congregation he had visited a speakeasy "so that when I talk about it I know what I am talking about." His widow and a son, the Rev. Ensworth Reisner, pastor of the Strathmoor Methodist church in Detroit, survive.

A MOTHER WINS CUSTODY OF SON FROM PARENTS

Mrs. Catherine Ave Maria Hutter, 29 years old, was awarded temporary custody yesterday of the 8 year old son she permitted her parents to adopt three years ago. She appeared before Judge John J. Lupe in Superior court to ask that the decree of adoption be voided.

Mrs. Hutter, who lives at 653 North Mayfield avenue, charged in a petition filed by Attorney Louis L. Cohen that her parents, William Ave Maria Sr., 63, and his wife, Sophia, 67, of 2246 North Monitor avenue, had used intimidation in obtaining her consent to the adoption of the child, Richard Ave Maria.

On April 15, 1939, she was married to William Hutter. Her husband, she told Judge Lupe, knew about the child, and was eager to adopt him.

Because of the failure of Mrs. Hutter's parents to respond to a summons to the hearing, Judge Lupe entered an order for a deputy sheriff to obtain the child from the parents, and to turn him over to Mrs. Hutter.

CLEAR PUBLICIST BYOIR OF CHARGE MADE BY PATMAN

FBI Probe Reveals No Evidence.

Washington, D. C., July 17 (AP).—A government official revealed yesterday that the federal bureau of investigation had found no evidence to support charges of un-American activities made against Carl Byoir, New York publicist, by Representative Wright Patman [D., Tex.] in the house a month ago.

The official, who is in the justice department, added: "No basis for action has been found, and the case is regarded as closed."

Byoir Happy Over Outcome.

Byoir commented in a statement that he was "most happy" over the outcome of the investigation. He attributed the charges to Patman's "hope of discrediting some of the opposition to his now dead chain store tax bill," which Byoir had opposed in his work as a public relations counsel.

Patman told the house that Byoir, an army reserve lieutenant colonel, was hired by Germany "to establish here in the United States the greatest espionage and spy system ever organized on the face of the earth." The Texan also said Byoir was "the man who rode Hitler's first Trojan horse into the United States."

Suggested Dies Inquiry.

At the suggestion of Byoir, the Dies committee to investigate un-American activities offered to investigate Patman's charges, but has not yet held a hearing on the subject. Byoir said in a letter to Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.], committee chairman, that the charges were "wholly false."

Byoir said in his statement that an important principle was involved in the incident, and that the quick investigation by the FBI had shown that "no citizen will be burned at the stake in this country by irresponsible attacks even in high places."

The justice department undertook the inquiry on its own initiative, an official said.

SPEEDER BLAMED FOR TWO DEATHS GETS 1-14 YEARS

The driver of a speeding automobile was sentenced to the penitentiary yesterday as a result of an accident which cost two lives. Judge William J. Lindsay heard the case without a jury. He found the motorist, Clarence Littwin, guilty of manslaughter and sentenced him to one to 14 years in prison.

Littwin is a painter, 21 years old of 4141 Oakdale avenue. On May 4, he was driving with Edward Zukowski, 21, of 4020 Nelson street. Witnesses called by Robert Donigan, assistant state's attorney, said the men invited Miss Helen Keller, 18, of 4111 Grace street, and Miss La Vergne Steffen, 17, of 4015 Cornelia avenue, to go for a ride. On the way home, according to the testimony, Zukowski protested Littwin's reckless driving and asked permission to drive. Littwin replied that if his car were going to be wrecked, he would wreck it himself.

Soon afterward the car, going 65 miles an hour, struck a tree at Higgins road and Austin avenue, killing Zukowski and Miss Keller, a model. Judge Lindsay refused Littwin probation, but released him on bond of $5,000 pending appeal.

BEG YOUR PARDON

John A. Lapp, chairman of the Illinois Civil Liberties committee, objects to an item from Belvidere, Ill., published in THE TRIBUNE on July 4, which quoted Sheriff Perry Bennett as saying the committee asked for protection for a delegation it might send to Boone county, a group the sheriff said he believed would attempt to obtain signatures to nominating petitions for communist candidates for office.

Lapp says the only matter sent to the sheriff was a form letter mailed to all sheriffs in Illinois drawing their attention to the law on civil rights of individuals and warning them not to be parties to any violation of these laws.

Sheriff Bennett said he made the statement attributed to him in the story. He amplified it with the explanation that the sheriff of Winnebago county [Rockford] received the same form letter and two days later a "bunch of communists" entered his county and caused a lot of trouble. Consequently, Bennett said, when he received the committee's letter he swore in extra deputies in the expectation of the same thing happening in Boone county.

JUDGE WHO FINED ST. LOUIS PAPER DIES IN CHICAGO

Circuit Judge Thomas J. Rowe Jr. of St. Louis, Mo., who last April fined the St. Louis Post-Dispatch $2,000 and ordered its cartoonist and editorial page editor to jail for contempt of court because of editorial criticism directed at him, was found dead of a heart attack yesterday in his room in the Hotel Sherman. Judge Rowe had come here with the Missouri delegation as a visitor to the Democratic national convention. He was 57 years old and had been on the Circuit court bench four years.

The Post-Dispatch case, now on appeal to the Missouri Supreme court, was discussed widely in its aspects as an attack on the freedom of the press. The newspaper criticized Judge Rowe for his handling of the case of State Representative Edward M. Brady and John P. Nick, deposed head of the Motion Picture Operators' union in St. Louis, who were indicted jointly on an extortion charge. The indictment was an outgrowth of an alleged payment of $10,000 by theater owners in 1936 to forestall a wage increase.

Judge Rowe sustained a defense demurrer at the trial of Nick, and later instructed the prosecuting attorney to drop the charge against Brady. Another judge in a civil suit found Nick had received the money secretly from the theater men and ordered him to pay the money to the union.

In addition to adjudging the Post-Dispatch guilty of contempt, Judge Rowe sentenced Ralph Coghlan, the editorial page editor, to 20 days in jail and fined him $200. Daniel R. Fitzpatrick, cartoonist, was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $100.

M. L. ANNENBERG TO BEGIN PRISON TERM ON MONDAY

Court Overrules His Plea for Probation.

Moses L. Annenberg's long drawn efforts to escape going to a federal penitentiary for income tax evasion ended yesterday in complete failure.

The last petitions which might have saved him from serving a sentence of three years—a sentence imposed July 1 on his plea of guilty to evasion of $1,217,296 taxes for 1936—were overruled by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

Annenberg must surrender to the government and begin serving his term not later than 5 p. m. Monday, when the present stay of execution expires.

Outstanding in Tax History.

Thus, as far as the federal courts and government prosecutors are concerned, ends one of the most celebrated income tax cases in history. Annenberg's personal liability was set at $5,549,384, the largest amount ever claimed from an individual.

Another 3½ million dollars was claimed as unpaid tax on 65 corporations which he controls. Annenberg has already agreed to pay the treasury nearly 10 million dollars, including penalties and interest, in the next seven years, to settle all claims back to 1923. As part of the first installment he mailed the government a check for $800,000 last Friday.

It was learned yesterday that Annenberg will be imprisoned in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., near the city where he reached the height of his power as publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer and in which in 1938 he took part in the successful fight to depose Senator Joseph F. Guffey's Little New Deal in Pennsylvania.

Commitment Papers Signed.

United States Marshal William H. McDonnell has the commitment papers, signed by Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, but withheld any announcement pending Judge Wilkerson's final ruling.

Annenberg was reported yesterday to be trying thru his attorneys to arrange with James V. Bennett, director of federal prisons, who is here observing the Democratic convention, to surrender to the warden at Lewisburg. This to spare him the further humiliation of being taken into custody in Chicago.

Annenberg's final pleas were based on claims of ill health. At a hearing Monday three Philadelphia physicians testified that he is suffering from numerous ailments and is in need of several operations. He asked that he be placed on probation or, as an alternative, that he be granted six weeks in which to secure proper treatment.

Both requests were opposed by federal prosecutors led by United States Attorney William J. Campbell.

Court's Order Brief.

Judge Wilkerson's reply in yesterday's order was very brief:

"Motion for probation denied. Motion for a further stay denied," he wrote on a slip of paper which he filed with the court clerk.

Judge Wilkerson merely visited the court building long enough to file the order and then departed with the comment:

"That ends it as far as I'm concerned."

The doors of Annenberg's suite at the Drake hotel were closed to visitors. Informed of the ruling over the telephone, the publisher said:

"Well, I'll go home and say goodby to my family. I'll do the best I can if I live. At least, I'll be able to look at my first grandson before I go."

SIX FINED ON BETTING CHARGES.

Six men pleaded guilty yesterday of accepting bets in handbooks and were fined $5 and costs each by Judge Erwin J. Hasten in South State Street court.

NEGRO GETS LIFE TERM FOR RAPING YOUNG MOTHER

Vernon Douglas, colored, was sentenced to life imprisonment by Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court yesterday for the rape of a young south side mother. The judge said the crime was so brutal that he will ask the pardon board to keep the rapist in prison for life, without time off for good behavior. Douglas, 22 years old, has confessed raping 15 other women whose homes he entered as a burglar.

The rapist entered his latest victim's home at 5 a. m. on May 29, shortly after her husband, a truck driver, had left on a trip. The mother was sleeping beside her baby, 20 months old, when she awakened to find Douglas standing over her with a gun in his hand. Police trailed him to his room at 359 East 50th street and arrested him. Douglas made a technical plea of not guilty, but offered no denial of the facts.

QUIZ SUSPECT AFTER FATAL TAVERN FIGHT

Robert Bain, 23 years old, 932 George street, was held by Albany Park police for questioning yesterday after the opening of an inquest into the death of Albert J. Balmes, a city fireman of Evanston. Balmes, who was 40 years old and lived at 1319 Greenleaf street in the suburb, died Tuesday night in the Alexian Brothers hospital.

Balmes' widow, Beatrice, testified at the inquest in the chapel at 1503 Maple avenue, Evanston, that her husband was critically injured when Bain flung a beer stein during a quarrel in a hall at 4558 North Pulaski road on June 22. The occasion was a wedding dance for Balmes' nephew, William Klamforth, and his bride, Elfrieda De Seife. Mrs. Balmes said Bain objected when Balmes danced with the bride's sister, Paula, who is Bain's fiancée.

Deputy Coroner Edward Edelstein continued the inquest to July 24.

BANDIT VICTIM'S WIDOW HELPS TO CAPTURE GUNMAN

Mrs. Anne Seelig, whose husband, Philip, was slain by three bandits in an attempted robbery in 1936, yesterday led police to a colored gunman who tried to rob her tavern at 4259 South State street. The gunman, who identified himself as Lionel Lewis, 627 East 33d street, a WPA worker, was wounded by five police bullets.

Lewis fled when Mrs. Seelig screamed. She followed him to an apartment at 49 East 42d street, then summoned police. A squad led by Policeman Napoleon Sutton chased Lewis from the apartment to an alley near 42d street and Michigan avenue where he was seized. He was taken to the Bridewell hospital in a serious condition. John Brienson, colored, of 51 East 42d street, was struck by a police bullet and was taken to County hospital.

Store Owner Is Fined $25 for Illegal Fireworks Sale

Fred Petersen, owner of a candy store at 2323 North Albany avenue, was fined $25 and $10 costs yesterday by Judge Justin F. McCarthy in the Shakespeare avenue court for selling fireworks illegally. He was arrested July 4, when police seized a suitcase full of firecrackers.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

This Is Day Sally Has Big Movie Party, Picks Circus Guests

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Party day is here at last—altho I don't imagine the boys and girls who've won invitations to our special screening today need to be reminded of it.

Every single one of the 100 boys and girls who've been invited to see Freddy Bartholomew, Jimmy Lyndon, and Billy Hallop in "Tom Brown's School Days" should have received a personal letter giving details about this party. Be sure to bring those invitations with you, boys and girls, and please try to be prompt. We're going to see an interesting and exciting picture, and I'd hate to have any of you miss it.

Today's going to be a busy day, because in addition to meeting my party guests, I'm going to select 50 boys and 50 girls to be my guests at the circus next week. I hope that all of you who want to come with me to see the big, new Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus have letters in this big pile on my desk, because if you haven't, you're out of luck—it's too late to write now!

Starvation Is Not Necessary in Reducing

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The amazing thing about menus for reducing is that often they seem to recommend more food than you normally eat. The answer to this enigma lies in the choice of food.

It is really comforting to those who think of reduction in weight as slow starvation. Unless you are an unusually heavy eater, abnormally fat, or trying to reduce quickly, you really can eat quite ample meals and still lose weight.

You substitute thin soups for cream potages, leafy green vegetables, more salads, fruit instead of pie, buttermilk instead of plain milk or cream, lean meat instead of pork chops or fattening gravy.

You don't have to become a martyr every meal to keep slender. It is much more a matter of discrimination than of acute discipline. Of course, if you live for favorite items on the menu, some discipline may come in, too.

Certainly a reducing diet does not necessarily mean hunger, but if you are fond of eating, it might be wise to lunch or dine with friends who have delicate appetites. If you wish seriously to take off many pounds, consult your physician about a regimen.

Parents who have the "no" habit and the poor results they get, was the subject of yesterday's article. Also a few examples of the good results of a more positive management were given.

If you think about it a moment, you can see that just to stop something isn't enough. It doesn't take care of the impulse which made your son or daughter try to do something in the first place. It's very much like damming up a bubbling brook and expecting the water just to stay put. The moving force of the water makes it go somewhere. It's merely sensible to provide another outlet for it.

So with children. If you must stop their doing something they shouldn't, don't just stop it. Say "no" if you must, but also furnish some way for that desire to express itself. Substituting a permissible activity for something you must forbid is not being weak. It's being sensible.

Incidentally, it's interesting to see the results where an intelligent treatment of a child's curiosity is concerned. A quick "no!" or "stop!" may often make a child grab wildly at some object before interference can arrive, while a quiet permission with a "but be very careful" will give your child time to be deft and firm in using his hands, and also allow him time to receive delicate touch impressions, and so further the training of his muscles and his senses.

Now having made up your mind to avoid using "no" and "don't" so much, also try the opposite. See how often you can say "yes." I believe you will be surprised to find how frequently it is possible. Try it, and you'll find life with your children much sunnier and smoother.

One Pattern---Two Dresses

WOMAN'S AND MISS' SPORTS DRESS.

This pattern provides for both active and spectator sports dresses. At the left, a halter model with shirtwaist front and strapped back, grand for tennis and golf. Two patch pockets bring it strictly up to date, no matter how classi cits lines. The skirt is widely flared for action. The waist-high bolero with short puffed sleeves creates an ensemble with the frock, and may be thrown over the shoulders after a stiff game on the courts. Or you may not wear the costume for active sports at all, reserving it for smartness on "dog days."

Style No. 3364 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires 2⅝ yards of 39 inch material for dress, 1½ yards for jacket.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., July 17.—By now Director William Keighley has got as far as "Four Mothers," and if you have mothers you have to have babies, too, to prove it. So Keighley has eight babies in a bold and diabolical circumvention of the rules governing child labor in the movies.

There is no society for the prevention of cruelty to directors and grown up actors, if actors ever grow up, but there are powerful organizations controling the use and treatment of children on the screen. As everybody knows, a very young baby can be under the lights only thirty seconds at a time. Slightly older ones can be in a studio four hours a day, but must be used only two hours on a set.

Hollywood can't afford to throw money around these days, and keeping a whole company down to two hours' work a day on account of a baby sounds like economic waste to the Warner brothers. If you have twins, they have reasoned, nobody will know the difference if you switch them around, and you can get four hours' work out of 'em.

For "Four Mothers" there are two sets of twins and four other independently born children who look enough alike to double for one another. Today, when I got there, they were working one, Beverly Quintanella, or maybe it was Barbara Quintanella, age 18 months and cute as a bug. Miss Q. was supposed to sit at a piano and whang it a couple of times, whereupon Priscilla Lane was to rush into view, pick her up, have a little chitchat with Claude Rains and then hand her to Rains.

But there were so many distractions for Barbara, or maybe it was Beverly. A white-clad nurse would plop her on the piano stool and she was supposed automatically to be entranced by the big, lovely keyboard. But here was Rains, in a gray wig and a Dudley Digges mustache, playing a flute at the bass end of the keyboard. Here, also, was a beautiful Irish setter, sitting patiently beside the stool and asking to be petted. Repeatedly Miss Quintanella would say the hell with the piano, how about that flute or that lovely dog? Meanwhile the camera is wasting film and everybody is standing around quiet.

An assistant director, Frank Heath, takes off his Leghorn hat, coos affectionately at the baby, hits his hat a couple of times and says "play the piano." The infant hauls off and hits the keys. Headman Keighley sits by the camera and looks masterful. Heath succeeds where others fail because he has six children of his own.

Miss Lane then steps into the picture, picks up the female Mozart, gabbles with Rains, then hands the child to him. Whereupon the twin sets up a yowl and spoils the take. Maybe she is right. Rains looks too old for a girl to be going out with, and he once played the Invisible Man. So everything stops. Miss Lane takes the child back in her arms and this is all right by the child, who is no dope. Rains pulls out a gold pencil and waves it. Heath comes over with his hat. In about 30 seconds the baby is happy again and they try another shot.

Same thing happens this time. Miss Quintanella puts up a yawp as soon as she is handed to Rains. Again Miss Lane does the comforting. They try once more. Same thing. "If she cries this time," says Keighley, "report her to Actors' Equity." Somebody crushes him with "the Screen Actors' guild, chump. You're in Hollywood." Keighley laughs, "I'm sorry."

And so it went. Maybe they had to use all of Beverly's two hours and all of Barbara's two hours before they got that one scene. Patience and kindness would win in the end, of course. I didn't stay for the end. Somebody told me that the twins are playing the rôle of the late John Garfield's daughter, John having died in a previous picture of the "Four Whatsits" series. Maybe that was why the infant cried. It's sad to think of Garfield having passed away like that.

Style Experts Are Being Good to Travelers

BY REA SEEGER.

Designers have planned, cut and fitted handsome travel costumes by the dozens for what is unquestionably the travel summer of fashion history. Every one who can pull away goes places and, of course, the first shopping problem is a smart ensemble either of pajamas and matching robe or nightgown and robe. Dark colors are the most popular, with precise prints of dots or small geometric designs the most popular patterns.

There are all kinds of smooth silk tailored affairs, stuff that packs without wrinkling. Dubonnet, red, dark green, brown, copper and navy, with a few dull blacks, offer a splendid assortment. Pajamas come with either short or long sleeves with shirt tops that can be tucked in or worn over the trousers. The companion coats are long and smartly fitted and the entire outfit rivals anything masculine that usually costs a small fortune.

Cool prints in a silk mixture material are other slick finds with amazingly low price stickers. For sums around $6 to $10 you can find some knockout duets more than effective for the most exacting expedition. There's a soft, cool, gray and white print, for instance, that rates plenty of interest because it's neat, slim, and still softly feminine.

The nightgown and matching coats are getting a big rush. . . . Sometimes the nightgown is in reverse color scheme from the robe, the robe a dark print with a white design, the companion gown a white affair, the print in dark color, and so on.

Engagement of Julie Walcott Is Made Known

BY JUDITH CASS.

SUPERSEDING all political news in interest to the young people along the north shore is an announcement that Mr. and Mrs. Chester Howe Walcott of Highland Park, formerly of Winnetka, are making. It is of the engagement of their daughter, Julie, to David Rudolph Gallagher, only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Gallagher of Highland Park. No date for the wedding has been set.

Miss Walcott went to Bennington college and then to the University of Chicago. She made her debut in 1935. Mr. Gallagher was graduated from Dartmouth and then attended Oxford for two years. He was graduated from the Yale law school last month.

Bride and Bridegroom-to-Be Each Have One Sister.

Miss Walcott has one sister, Mrs. Roderick McKenzie of Winnetka, and Mr. Gallagher has one sister also, Mrs. Charles A. Butland, formerly of China. Mr. and Mrs. Butland and their little son and daughter and Mr. Gallagher are spending the summer in the stunning house on Deere Park drive that the Gallaghers built about ten years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Butland are moving shortly, they hope, to a farm they bought recently near Lake Geneva. Mrs. Gallagher [Eleanor Garrigue] was one of the founders of The Cradle in Evanston and was the author of the book, "The Adopted Child." Mr. Gallagher was a lawyer and a nationally known librarian.

Friends of Mrs. Eleanor Patterson were delighted yesterday to see that the poison ivy infection which threatened to keep her from coming to Chicago for the convention proved to be no deterrent. Mrs. Patterson arrived last evening and is staying at the Ambassador East hotel.

Janet Kalker's Troth Announced in New York.

More interesting romantic news comes from New York where Bernard Kalker is announcing the engagement of his daughter, Janet Taylor, to Thomas Blackwood Rodgers III. of Orange, N. J. Miss Kalker, whose mother was the late Mrs. Jessie Sherman Kalker, formerly resided in Chicago, where she attended the Francis W. Parker school.

Later Miss Kalker went to Monticello Junior college in Godfrey, Ill., and then to Wellesley, where she was graduated in 1939. Mr. Rodgers is a graduate of Phillips Exeter academy and Princeton university, class of 1936, where he was a member of the Cannon club. He also is a graduate of the Harvard business school. The wedding is planned for the autumn.

Executive committee members and trustees of the Ravinia association are giving a supper party Sunday at the Exmoor club for Dr. Artur Rodzinski, the Nicolai Malkos, and the Albert Spaldings. Dr. Rodzinski is conducting his final concert that afternoon, and Mr. Spalding is appearing as violin soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra at Ravinia on Saturday night.

Mexican Deal.

A private letter from well informed sources in Mexico—to use the well worn phrase—tells the answer to the Mexican presidential election: A deal between Camacho and Almazan, Camacho to be president, Almazan to have his choice of cabinet posts and one-third of the assembly seats.

Loyal American Note.

Maestro Arturo Toscanini, in South America with his NBC Symphony orchestra, called all members of the orchestra together in Montevideo, Uruguay, for a rehearsal on the morning of July 4, had them stand up and play the Star-Spangled Banner, and immediately dismissed them. It was the same Arturo Toscanini who preferred to be kicked out of Italy rather than play Giovinezza, Fascist hymn.

One of the Willkie stories that is going the rounds: An investor asked Wendell Willkie if a certain railroad stock was a good investment.

"Yes," he answered, "but I'd recommend the Pennsylvania. When those New Dealers start to leave Washington, the increase in traffic over the Pennsylvania will create big dividends."

"I took her to the Holy Land on our honeymoon," explained McEvoy, "where she could see the women waiting on their men." Mrs. McEvoy, who writes for Ladies' Home Journal, told the tale of Mrs. Chip Robert's comment to a woman who asked her what to wear to a party Mrs. Robert was giving. "It's a hen party, dear. Come in an open throat and a back suitable for knifing," Mrs. Robert told her.

Texas Query.

Freda Draper Is Soloist with Dasch Players

The George Dasch orchestra, with Freda Draper, contralto, as soloist, presented in Grant park last night the 53d of this summer's series of 101 lake front concerts.

Mr. Dasch is a conductor who seldom or never strives for big climaxes, but who relies on subtle gradations of tone and tempo to give interest and meaning to his work. In the overture fantasy, "Romeo and Juliet," he made much of the opportunities for exquisite line and balance which Tschaikowsky's melodies offer.

His performance of excerpts from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" music and of the ballet music from Saint-Saëns' "Henry VIII." was distinguished by the same sort of restraint. This is not to say that the presentation was bleak. On the contrary, the "Wedding March" had sufficient brilliance and the "Gypsy Dance" a quite exhilarating swing.

Miss Draper dug up an air from the opera "Nadeshda" by the half forgotten English composer, A. Goring Thomas. She sang it with such persuasive nuance and with so rich a voice quality that it seemed not at all a bad piece of music. E. B.

Art Institute Opens Shows for Summer

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The summer shows open today in the east wing galleries of the Art institute. For the first time in years sculpture is being featured. Three galleries are given over to conceptions in bronze, stone, wood, and plaster. There are many charming pieces in the show and among these are the little animal sculptures of Elisabeth Haseltine Hibbard.

Sylvia Shaw Judson shows an intriguing impression of a Pekinese, a nonchalant, impertinent impression which is thoroly delightful. Mrs. Judson's fountain figure is another high light, a little girl feeding two tiny chicks that nestle at her feet.

Albin Polasek shows a magnificent "Crucifixion;" one of the most impressive works to have come from a Chicago sculptor's studio in some time. Frederic Hibbard adds to the charm of the galleries with his little "Moonbeams." "Portrait of Anne Porter" by Nancy Coonsman Hahn, "Mrs. Walter S. Brewster" by Maud Phelps Hutchins, "Monk" by Malvin Marr Albright, "Torso of Boy" by Emil Zettler, "Pastoral" by Edgardo Simone, and "Anticipation" by C. Warner Williams are among the finest things in the exhibition.

Just in passing, the worst bit in the galleries is "Girl Reading" by John Pratt, eyes from a doll, complete with blue glass pupils and artificial lashes, are set in a monkey face. This is not sculpture, nor art, merely modernism at its feeblest. Laura Slobe competes with John Pratt in showing what can be done to degrade sculpture.

Ten Chicago painters show four pictures each. Frankly we found this particular summer show disappointing. There is an odd choice of artists representing Chicago and the result is a showing of modern tendency and completely dated. The most original and amusing picture is "Coercion" by Kenneth Shopen and the finest painting is "Grass Fire," also by Mr. Shopen. He seems to be the single artist of the 10 with something to say. Most of the other pictures appear forced. Florence White Williams has a summer idyl in "Connecticut River Valley" and Joseph Allworthy a lovely tho dull still life in "The Blue Glass Bowl."

The "little known French painters" represented in gallery G58 might just as well remain in obscurity. They present few claims for recognition. If one must take a stand about them, then "Self Portrait" by David Seifert and "Flowers" by Henri Hayden are worth seeing, the portrait in particular being a subtle and well handled piece of painting.

Those interested in early Chicago will enjoy the architectural details connected with the Auditorium: a 50th anniversary exhibition of the work of Louis Sullivan and Dankmar Adler. The "Prints Since 1900" is another exhibit in a purely modern vein; there is nothing much in it that will appeal to any but the ardent modernist. The prints that have made history in the last 40 years seem to have been carefully neglected. And there is entirely too little of the American school included; this is a pitiably inadequate group.

The Fate of the Darmenys

By Elizabeth York Miller

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Madge Darmeny, a childless widow, knowing she has but a short time to live, wants to select the most deserving heir for her large estate. Amelia Pennyfather, a distant cousin, lives with her, but on pretense she has to retrench financially, Madge sends for the other members of her family and suggests they live with her also. Leda, her own niece, is married to Frank, her husband's nephew, but in love with Geoffry, another nephew of Madge's husband. Frank has an 8 year old daughter, Betsy, by a former marriage. Shirley Westall, Madge's secretary, is given charge of Betsy. Madge has always been partial to Geoffry because of his continuous playing up to her, but she is beginning to find his debts and escapades rather trying. She likes Shirley and suggests to Geoffry that Shirley would make a good wife. Tiring of Leda, Geoffry pays court to Shirley and is infuriated when she repulses his advances. Frank, miserable because he suspects Leda and Geoffry, sees the sweetness of his first wife in Shirley and falls in love with her. Shirley sympathizes with Frank when she sees how Leda is treating him and finds her sympathy turning to love. After a number of tantrums by Leda, Madge begins to see things in their true light and decides to change her will. Amelia overhears Madge's conversation with Alfred Barnes, her solicitor, and learns of Madge's illness and her plans for a new will. She tells Geoffry, who in turn steals Madge's keys to her safe and reads the old will in which he is to be left the estate, and the new version in which Frank is to be the main heir. The new will is not to be signed until the following Friday. Geoffry, furious at the turn of things, goes on a rampage. He encounters Frank in the woods and threatens to get Shirley as he got Leda. Frank strikes him, knocking his front teeth out. When Frank confronts Leda with Geoffry's accusation, Leda, in a fit of temper, admits to both Frank and Madge her love for Geoffry. Madge decides to wait up for Geoffry who has gone to the city to see his dentist. She wants to talk things over with him. He arrives late, is insulting to Madge, and when she asks him to get her medicine for her he gives her an overdose which kills her. Amelia is eavesdropping, but is too afraid of Geoffry to tell, as he threatens to commit her to an asylum. When the will is read, Barnes tells them that Madge signed the new will the day she died, leaving the estate to Frank. Geoffry, furious and wanting revenge on Frank, elopes with Leda.

INSTALMENT XLVI.

AMELIA TELLS ALL.

Mrs. Lemon and the constable were conducting their courtship in a decorous, not to say domestic fashion.

The cook was knitting a sock, presumably designed for his wear, since its completed mate was about the biggest sock Amelia had ever seen, and Sawyer's feet were the traditional size of his calling. He was sitting under the lamp filling in his forms for this week's racing pools.

"O, Miss Pennyfather, you did give me a start!" cried Mrs. Lemon, dropping a couple of stitches as the sable-clad figure glided into the room.

She made a motion to rise, but graciously waved her back to her chair.

"Don't get up, Mrs. Lemon—nor you, constable. I'm sorry I startled you," Amelia said. "It seems so quiet and—and sort of spooky tonight. I thought perhaps I'd come and talk with you about the meals for tomorrow, in case Mrs. Darmeny doesn't feel up to it. That is, if I'm not in the way."

"O, not a bit, Miss Pennyfather. Do sit down, if you'll be so kind. H'm—Mrs. Darmeny—that sounds strange, doesn't it? In my mind there will never be another Mrs. Darmeny. But perhaps I'll get used to it. Have they come back yet, or isn't Mr. Geoffry likely to come back at all?"

There was an odd, almost sly note in Mrs. Lemon's voice, and Amelia did not miss it. She pricked up her ears and her nostrils twitched like an ancient fire horse sniffing a conflagration.

"As far as I know," she said, "Mr. Geoffry is in his room, and Mrs. Frank went to hers a long time ago. She didn't want any supper sent up. I heard her tell Gibson."

"Yes, I know that's what she told Gibson," the cook murmured, looking intently for her dropped stitches.

Sawyer gave a warning sort of cough.

"I can't help it, James," said Mrs. Lemon. "I told you straight off it was my duty to mention it to one of the family. I don't think Mr. Frank knows—there's been very queer goings-on here lately. And today of all days—! But of course Mr. Geoffry must be in rare temper over the way things have turned out for him, and—with all due respect—I wouldn't put it past him . . . altho at that, I may be wrong."

Amelia understood this somewhat cryptic speech only too well.

"Then they've eloped!" she gasped. "I knew they had planned to, only he tried to make me believe it wasn't true—"

"Sawyer saw them in Mr. Geoffry's car simply shooting thru Crane's Wood. They had luggage, too, Miss Pennyfather," said Mrs. Lemon.

Amelia was back in the woods where she had listened behind the old playhouse.

"'Twas Leda—I should say, Mrs. Frank—who tried to kill me. I've known it a long time, altho everybody laughed and wouldn't believe I'd been shot at. Even you, Sawyer. 'Cause she was afraid I'd tell on them—for what I knew. O, I wish now that I had told! But Mr. Geoffry made me think it wasn't true."

Amelia slithered out of the kitchen as fast as her tight black gown permitted her to go, and burst in upon Alfred Barnes and Frank with her epoch-making news.

Frank got up slowly.

Amelia thought he was taking it far too lightly, for except for a tightening of the jaws his expression did not alter very much.

"Perhaps I had better make sure," he said.

"But Sawyer saw them. In Geoffry's car. They had luggage and everything. They were planning to do it, Frank—only Geoffry made me believe otherwise. And Leda shot at me. . . ."

Frank was out of hearing by this time.

"O Mr. Barnes, it's all so dreadful! You don't know the half of it!" Amelia moaned.

"There may be a very simple explanation," Alfred Barnes said, but he had no real faith that it could be any simpler than the one they already possessed.

Frank came down with his overcoat half on.

"It's true, I guess. They're both gone, and Leda has taken some of her luggage with her."

"What are you proposing to do?" Alfred Barnes asked.

He was filled with consternation. The bad blood between Frank and Geoffry had now reached a climax which could no longer be ignored. What had gone before was mere child's play compared to this. Madge Darmeny's old friend feared for Frank. Outwardly he seemed calm, but inwardly he was a seething caldron, and Alfred Barnes knew it.

"I'm going . . . to bring Leda back," he said.

"Frank, be careful, please. You're angry—you're not fit to trust yourself."

Frank bared his teeth in a smile that bore some fleeting resemblance to Geoffry's at its most sinister.

"You needn't worry. I'll be careful," he said. "I'll be very careful to polish off a job I started about a week ago."

There was nothing Alfred Barnes could do. He would have offered to go with Frank had he not been quite sure his offer would be refused.

Indeed, it was refused without his going to the length of making it.

Frank laid a hand on his arm.

"It's all right, my friend. I know what you're thinking. But this is my job. Look after the house—Betsy and poor old Amelia. I may be back tonight—and I may not."

Alfred Barnes did not like to speculate upon what that "may not" portended.

But Alfred was almost as outraged as Frank at this indecent flouting of poor Madge's memory on the very day she had been laid to rest. Frank might blame Geoffry, but Alfred Barnes shrewdly guessed that Leda had played a considerable part in it.

He had never trusted Leda, and appraised that hysterical outburst of remorse at its true value—merely an emotional reaction at the sight of poor dear Madge being carried to her bier.

They were a worthless pair, Geoffry and Leda. If Frank could only keep his head and realize that his own life was too valuable to destroy on account of Leda. And he had not only himself and Beechbourne to think of; there was Betsy.

Would Frank cool down sufficiently on the drive up to London to see the thing in its true proportions? Poor Alfred, who liked him so much and had loved Madge Darmeny so dearly, hoped with all his heart and soul that Frank would come to his senses in time.

He put away the papers and locked the safe, and as he straightened up he saw Amelia Pennyfather standing in the doorway with that blank, mad look she had worn almost constantly since Madge's death, until he had that severe little talk with her and induced her to come out of her lair and behave more or less like a normal human being.

"Will Frank kill Geoffry?" she asked, her bony hands tightly clasped and held to her breast.

"I sincerely hope not," Alfred Barnes said firmly.

Amelia nodded her head like an old China mandarin.

"Because if he does it would be only right—on account of what Geoffry did to Madge. Geoffry killed Madge, you know."

"Miss Pennyfather, you are overwrought. Isn't there something you can take to make you sleep?"

"Listen, Mr. Barnes. I keep hearing those voices again. They keep saying, 'You must tell—you must tell!'"

"Yes, yes, I know," Alfred said uneasily.

"I thought how happy I was going to be with my little cottage and all, but now I know I wouldn't have another minute's real peace with the load that's on my mind. I told Geoffry I wouldn't tell—I told him I hadn't heard a thing. That was after he had found out about the cupboard and realized I'd been listening to every word they said."

"What said? What cupboard?" Alfred's voice was sharp, now.

"Why, Madge and Geoffry—that night she died. Behind that tapestry . . . you'll find some holes I bored. That's how I found out she was going to make a new will. I can't think why I told Geoffry. He found the keys and we opened the safe. And then—and then he came home at midnight, last Thursday it was, and went for her about her will. She asked him to give her some of her drops, and he gave her too much . . . on purpose. She knew he'd killed her. With her last words, she accused him of it."

GASOLINE ALLEY — NO NEWS IS BAD NEWS

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: I hate bridge partners! Now don't tut-tut me. I know that we should love our neighbors and all that sort of balderdash, but the plain, unvarnishable fact remains that I hate bridge partners! They either go out of their way to make fantastic bids or plays and cost me a week's wages, or, still worse, they expect me to be the world's champion mind reader and guess what is going on in their desiccated brains. Cast your glimmers over the following imbroglio.

"The bidding at our table went:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 spade	Double
Pass	2 hearts	Pass	3 diamonds
3 spades	4 hearts	Pass	Pass
Pass

"First, let me explain that this was the last board of the evening. I knew we had a good score and must be contenders for the prize, an estimate later borne out by the fact that the zero we earned on this hand just nosed us out of first money.

"I opened the spade king. East played the seven and declarer the eight. I then cashed the spade ace, East following with the nine and declarer with the jack. In view of East's delayed spade raise, at the three level, it certainly seemed reasonable to suppose that declarer was now out of spades. I had a sure trump trick, so naturally went looking for a club trick to defeat the contract. I led the seven of clubs. Dummy's ace was put up and my adorable partner gave me the emphatic come-on signal of the nine spot.

"As you can see, declarer was really in a hopeless position. He couldn't discard his spade on the diamond suit while we still had trumps, and to ruff said spade with the heart ace was certain to create two heart losers. I must say, however, that he put up a good fight, with all of us on his team. He cashed the heart ace, led to the diamond queen, cashed the heart king, then played the heart ten. I found myself on lead with the heart queen, and, I ask you, what would you have returned? Well, I did, too. But to my horror, declarer ruffed East's club queen and, virtually sneering in our faces, discarded his four of spades on dummy's diamonds.

"While I sat speechless my partner had the unbelievable crust to wave the spade queen before my eyes and ask in a reproachful, more-in-sorrow-than-in-anger tone, why I hadn't led a spade to him after taking my trump trick!

"I took a firm hold on myself and answered: [a] that his three spade bid had strongly led me to believe he had four spades and, consequently, declarer had only two; [b] that he had shouted, with the club nine, for a club continuation; [c] that nothing in the bidding or play had indicated five clubs in East's hand and a singleton in declarer's; [d] that a low grade moron holding the East cards would have seen that a third lead of spades, originally, would have used up dummy's trump ace and thereby protected East's jack, hence that said moron would have high-lowed on the first two tricks to demand said continuation; [e, f, g, h] these were devoted to more pungent remarks, of such a personal character that they cannot interest you or your readers, who undoubtedly have their own special vocabulary for such soul wracking moments as this.

"In sum, then, I hate bridge partners! M. A., New York."

Who am I to attempt to gild the above lily? No comments.

Estate to Be Theater for Jack and Jill Players

Something new in theater-going is in store for the Lake Genevans who will go to see the Jack and Jill Players in "Heidi" today at St. Anne's school, on the beautiful Younglands estate. The interior scenes of the play will be given in the ballroom of the house; the lawn and gardens will be transformed into a mountain top of the Swiss Alps, so the audience will have to move about to follow the action from one setting to another. The performances will be given at 2:30 o'clock central standard time.

"THE BISCUIT EATER" The story is a delightful tale of Southern country life concerning people and sporting dogs. The quality is hardly less than distinguished, for in all departments—acting—authentic flavor—and dramatic deftness—it emerges as enchanting entertainment. Almost all women, and a great many men, too, welcome a fresh fruit luncheon on warm days during July and August. Chilled fresh fruits, prepared attractively and arranged with eye-appeal on cold platters or luncheon plates, served with or without a sweetish-tart dressing, are good for both digestion and disposition.

A large glass platter makes a lovely foundation upon which to build an arrangement of fresh fruits and greenery from which each guest helps himself. Luncheon plates of clear glass, or the blue or green hand-blown Mexican ones, are beautiful for individual fruit luncheon service.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

One of the finest beauty aids we know of is a creamy liquid that serves as a foundation for makeup. It seems to us to have none of the flaws that beset so many of the powder bases—it's easy to apply in a smooth coating, it leaves the skin just moist enough, and it has a softening quality that makes it particularly suitable for the dry skin.

This is not a cream, nor is it a liquid powder. It's quite appropriately called a "balm" and this descriptive name gives you a suggestion of how valuable it is to the woman whose skin is paper-thin and too quickly dried out by sun and wind.

One tone is in a dark bronze, the other in a lighter shade. Both are beautiful. While not even the darkest of the two is a deep stain it is definitely on the bronzed side, infinitely flattering to the woman who likes a dark undertone to her makeup but doesn't wish to go thru the whole tedious tanning process. The makeup thus achieved would fool even the experts.

The balm, as we have said, is easy to apply. You don't have to use much, but you'll get best results if you apply it with a pad of cotton. It takes just about two minutes to apply to the face and neck—and your makeup clings for hours, with that "finished" look that is the ultimate aim in face grooming. ELEANOR NANGLE.

IMAGINARY BOMB SIGHT THEFT PLOT IN W-G-N DRAMA

Wings for America, W-G-N's new dramatic series about fifth column activities in America, will deal in its episode for tomorrow night with an imaginary plot to steal the new bomb sight on the United States army planes. The broadcast will be presented in W-G-N's main studio from 7 to 7:30 p. m. before a special audience of military pilots and air lines' employés.

Elissa Landi and Phillips Holmes, stage and screen stars, playing the rôles, respectively, of a Chicago Tribune reporter and a Mutual Broadcasting system commentator, will in this episode encounter foreign agents who attempt to learn the secret of the army's new bomb sight. They will be supported by Reese Taylor, Marvin Mueller, Frank Behrens, and Carlton Kadell.

The picture story of this episode will be presented in the Graphic section of Sunday's TRIBUNE. It will feature photographs of army planes on an army field.

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

July 18, 1940.

Universal Day—Spread a little charm and add a little graciousness to the daily contacts.

Harmonizing Numbers—Number 5 is in key with 1, and in part with 7. Since it is the number of change, as is number 1, both of these numbers are important if you are in a 1 or a 5-year. Those whose names work out to a 5 usually find that this number is "lucky" or fortunate for them, and that the 5-days or a 5 personal year brings important changes and gives them greater opportunities.

Year Ahead—Enjoy this year to the utmost. Bring your plans of the past two years to a rich fruition. Don't waste the fleeting hours, but pack them full of happy moments.

The Lloyd Laflins will be entertaining at the regular Thursday dinner-dance at the Onwentsia tonight for the junior Byron Harveys, who depart tomorrow for Santa Fe, where they will spend the remainder of the summer.

The first 11 days of August will be exciting ones for local polo enthusiasts, as the central circuit championships will be played then at the Oak Brook Polo club. All six playing fields of the club will be used during the tournament, but on Sundays the matches will be played on the stadium field at York road and 22d street.

Former Alyce Siqueland Arrives from Turkey.

Safe at home in the United States is Mrs. Ditlef Knutsen, the former Alyce Siqueland, who was married to a young Norwegian diplomat last June and who went to Turkey to reside. Mr. Knutsen has been transferred to the Norwegian consulate in San Francisco, where he is the vice consul, and his bride of a year ago is with her mother, Mrs. Jens Paasche, in Wilmette, for a visit.

Just where Mrs. Knutsen's sister, Mrs. Johannes Zimmer, is, is not certain. Dr. Zimmer crossed the Norwegian border into Sweden with Norwegian troops and was interned. His wife went to Sweden to find him and when last heard from in May she still was in Sweden. Mrs. Paasche and Mrs. Knutsen are not unduly worried over her safety, however, for she was staying with friends near Stockholm, and by now may have rejoined Dr. Zimmer, as the interned troops were to have been liberated.

The Misses Colvin have arrived from California and are staying at the Drake, seeing old friends. They formerly resided in Lake Forest.

Depart for California.

Mrs. MacCaughey Schreiner and her two children have departed to spend several months in California.

Explaining is difficult when you have to break appointments because of menstruation's functional pain. Yet how easy many women now find it to relieve such pain — to carry on in comfort—with the aid of Midol!

Midol contains no opiates. It is a new formula, developed for its special purpose. One Midol ingredient is prescribed frequently by many doctors, probably by your own. Another ingredient, exclusively in Midol, increases the comfort most users enjoy by reducing spasmodic pain peculiar to the menstrual period.

If you have no organic disorder needing surgical or medical care, don't hesitate to try Midol. It should help you. If it doesn't, consult your doctor. Get Midol at any drugstore. Five tablets, enough for a convincing trial, only 20¢. Forty cents for 12 tablets.

Madam, you may like bacon paper-thin, but ask the men—and this new Wilson Family Style package will win the nomination on the first ballot. It's fine, flavor-rich Wilson's Certified Bacon, cut in extra-thick, man-size slices—the way most men prefer it and enjoy it.

There are two pounds in this Family Style cellophane package. Slices are packed upright on the rind, to preserve the original freshness and flavor. It's thrifty, easily handled and, believe me, the men will go for those thick slices—with eggs, liver, tomatoes or any way.

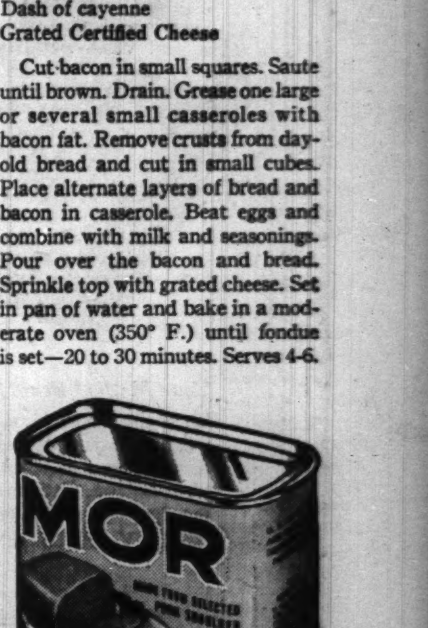
Certified Bacon Fondue

8 slices Certified Family Style Bacon
6 ½-inch slices of bread
6 Clear Brook Eggs
3 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of cayenne
Grated Certified Cheese

Cut bacon in small squares. Saute until brown. Drain. Grease one large or several small casseroles with bacon fat. Remove crusts from day-old bread and cut in small cubes. Place alternate layers of bread and bacon in casserole. Beat eggs and combine with milk and seasonings. Pour over the bacon and bread. Sprinkle top with grated cheese. Set in pan of water and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) until fondue is set—20 to 30 minutes. Serves 4-6.



For Tonight—A MORoast

Place contents one can MOR in small baking dish. Spread with mixture of ⅓ cup brown sugar and 1 teaspoon ground cloves, moistened with apricot juice. Heat (350° F.) for 30 minutes, basting with apricot juice. Garnish with apricot halves, browned under broiler. Serves 4.

ARMSTRONG STOPS JENKINS IN SIX ROUNDS

GOSHEN AND ELKHART JOIN FORCES IN ALL-STAR POLL

BOOST BUD KERR AND NICHOLSON FOR END BERTHS

Bykowski, De Witte Get Support, Too.

Votes Tossed Out

THOUSANDS of votes for a candidate from a downstate Illinois college in THE TRIBUNE'S All-Star football poll yesterday were thrown out by officials of the contest department when a sizeable percentage of the petitions were found to be spurious.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Poll on page 23.)

Elkhart, Ind., July 17.—Goshen and Elkhart, two neighborly rivals, stand united on an athletic front for the first time in history today in an attempt to place two favorite sons on The Chicago Tribune's All-Star football squad.

Under the sponsorship of the Goshen News-Democrat and the Elkhart Truth, these thriving little cities are mustering a record vote in behalf of John Nicholson and Bud Kerr, two All-Star end candidates. Nicholson, Elkhart's contribution to the long line of great ends at Michigan, gets Goshen's support thru wedlock. Last week he married Doris Yoder, one of the town's most popular young women. Elkhart reciprocates by backing Goshen's adopted son, Kerr. The Notre Dame star recently went to Goshen as supervisor of public playgrounds and coach of the high school football team.

The Votes Are Rolling In.

There are 11,000 people in Goshen. Up until noon today 2,500 had voted the Nicholson-Kerr ticket. Dale Peffley, sports editor of the News-Democrat, and Mayor Gordon D. Pease promise three times as many more votes by July 23, when the nation-wide poll closes. Elkhart is in the midst of its seventh annual All-Star campaign and Tom Stephenson, taciturn sports editor of The Truth, says he has "never seen anything like it."

What once was Stephenson's desk in The Truth's news room now is a stack of ballots the overflow from the contest department where Tom Artley and Bill Frink, two Elkhart freshmen, and Bettie Lines of The Truth are trying to catch up with the belated returns from nearby South Bend. South Bend, the home of Notre Dame and often called the capital of football, has no newspaper affiliated with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in the conduct of the poll to select the starting All-Star line-up for the game against the Green Bay Packers Aug. 29.

DeWitte, Bykowski Get Support.

The Notre Dame ticket is a popular one in Goshen and Elkhart, but most of the interest is in the chances of Kerr and Nicholson and two other northern Indiana products, Leon DeWitte, Purdue's full back from Mishawaka, and Frank Bykowski, Purdue's guard and most valuable player from South Bend. Eidy Lundquist, sports announcer for The Truth's radio station, WTRC, has taken up the Nicholson-Kerr banner with frequent plugs for Bykowski and De Witte.

Pretty Kitty Clark, winner of the baton twirling championship in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's 1935 Musical Festival, parades the streets of the business district in shorts and circus trappings, beating a big bass drum for Kerr and Nicholson. Miss Clark, a native of Elkhart and featured performer with Ringling Brothers circus, has been at home for several months recovering from an injury.

Discovers Own Vote Missing.

At the Leedy Drum company, in Elkhart, George Way, sales manager, held up returns two days until he could conduct an investigation. There are 75 employés in the firm and there were only 74 names on the Kerr-Nicholson ballot. The missing name was that of George Way. One hundred employés at the Weiss Manufacturing company voted 100 per cent for the son of Foreman John Nicholson Sr. John A. Cawley, former student manager at Michigan, now an executive of the Miles laboratories, has ballots containing the signatures of nearly all the 500 employés of the firm, including that of Lum and Abner, the radio personages of the Miles program. The combined personnel of the Conn Ltd., Inc. and the Buescher Band Instrument company, another 1,200 workmen who provide most of the nation's musical equipment, are on the calling list of Bob Nicholson, the Michigan star's younger brother, who is expected to be a star end of the Elkhart High school team this fall.

The Rev. Andrew Grutka, director of Elkhart's C. Y. O., has organized his own campaign among the young people of Elkhart.

City's Golf Enthusiasts Give Chicago Open a Rousing Cheer

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The third annual $5,000 Chicago Open golf tournament, to be played tomorrow, Saturday, and Sunday at the Tam O' Shanter Country club, went civic in a large way yesterday noon, when 400 golfers and members of the Chicago Association of Commerce gathered in the grand ballroom of the La Salle hotel. The C. A. C. turned over its regular monthly get-together to the Chicago District Golf association to impress local business men with the importance of an annual big league Chicago golf event.

Avery Brundage, chairman of the C. A. C. sports committee, pointed out that a yearly golf feature was beneficial to the city as a whole, and then turned the meeting over to Maynard G. Fessenden, C. D. G. A. president, who has enlisted the swinging appearance of 200 of the country's leading professionals and amateurs for this main event of Chicago's 1940 season.

Ellsworth Vines Speaks.

Among the speakers was Ellsworth Vines, onetime world's tennis champion who has gone for competitive golf quite seriously these last two years. Lew Waldron of the Illinois section of the P. G. A., was master of ceremonies in a shot making demonstration by a quartet of golf's leading stars. These included Patty Berg of Minneapolis, who has just become a business woman golfer; Jim Ferrier, Australian open and amateur champion; Johnny Bulla, 1939 runnerup for the British Open title, and Lloyd Mangrum of Oak Park, author of the 64 that startled the field in the Masters' tourney.

The Chicago open preview program will be completed today at the Edgewater club, where the C. D. G. A. and the Western Golf association will honor Chick Evans, the town's leading amateur veteran, on his 50th birthday. A day of golf and a banquet will comprise the program.

Proceeds Go to Caddy.

A number of the professional stars who have been competing in the Ryder cup Red Cross matches in Detroit will attend the dinner after getting in practice rounds of Tam O'Shanter. Proceeds above expenses will be turned over to the Chick Evans caddy scholarship fund, originated by Evans. The latter will be presented with a bronze statue, replica of a plaster one done of him several years ago by Sidney Bedore.

Tam O'Shanter is one of the most convenient courses on which a major local tournament has been held. Howard street is 7500 north and Caldwell road is approximately 6400 west. Season tickets for the open are $3. Daily admissions will be $1.10 for tomorrow, $1.35 for Saturday, and $1.65 for Sunday's thirty-six holes. Children under 16 years of age will be admitted for 55 cents.

HOSTAK, ZALE TAPER OFF FOR BOUT TOMORROW

Seattle, Wash., July 17 (AP).—Al Hostak and Tony Zale will taper off with only light workouts in preparation for their 15-round fight for the NBA middleweight title Friday night.

Zale won a 10 round nontitle fight from Hostak in Chicago last winter, coming up off the floor to do it. Hostak blamed the loss on a broken left hand.

CUBS AND MOOTY LOSE TO DODGERS AND HAMLIN, 2-1

Chicagoans Get Only 3 Hits; Hartnett Drives In Run.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Brooklyn Dodgers made a run in each of the first two innings then stood around and watched the Cubs fail to catch up yesterday in Wrigley field. The technique worked perfectly, for the Cubs again were meek in behalf of Jake Mooty. They made three hits off Luke Hamlin, a double by Phil Cavarretta and a single by Gabby Hartnett producing the Chicago end of a 2 to 1 Brooklyn victory.

The Chicago score so startled Mooty that he almost fell off the bench. It was the first score the Cubs had produced in his cause in 30 innings and the only one in the last 33 innings in which he has been the pitcher of record.

Sluggers Fall in Ninth.

Of course, the whole matter can't be written off as a Mooty jinx. Hamlin had the stuff and made some of the Chicago fellows look bad in the rare instances they had to do something. For instance, Bill Herman walked at the start of the ninth and moved to second on Augie Galan's sacrifice. What were the accomplishments of Bill Nicholson, the team's leading hitter, and Hank Leiber, runnerup to Bill in the slugger list? Well, Bill sent up a very high foul to Jimmy Wasdell and Hank was called out on strikes.

The Cubs, except for a fourth inning single by Nicholson and the hits by Cavarretta and Hartnett, gave every evidence they have not been reading about either Hamlin or the Dodgers. Prior to yesterday, Hamlin hadn't won a game since June 14, and had been knocked out five straight times. And the Dodgers had lost seven of their last ten games.

In five of the innings the Cubs were retired in order. The process was interrupted in two innings by those three hits and in two others by two walks. Hamlin wasn't throwing at any batsmen and there seemed no reason for their being frightened. It must have been just one of those Cub days.

Dodgers Clinch It Quickly.

The Dodgers started as tho they had set their quota at a million runs but they were quieted with a run they made before any one was put out. Peewee Reese opened the game with a single and took second on a passed ball. Cookie Lavagetto walked and Joe Medwick singled to left, scoring Reese. Then Babe Phelps fanned, Dixie Walker lined to Galan and Wasdell bounced to Cavarretta.

The Brooklyn boys added their second and final run in a hurry in the second inning. Joe Vosmik pushed off with a triple to the center field wall and scored on Pete Coscarart's fly to Nicholson. They opened the third with a rush, too, but were slowed down. Lavagetto singled and took second on a wild pitch. Cookie was out at third, tho, Bob Mattick to Stan

Slightly Mixed.

The Hogan boys were slightly stewed
That night at Murphy's wake,
And when at last the corpse they viewed
They made a grave mistake;
They knelt down by a baby grand
Which looked like Murphy's bier,
And neither one could understand
Why Murphy looked so queer.

"He don't look natural at all,"
The older Hogan said;
"He never seemed to be that tall
When he was sick in bed";
Young Hogan raised the cover and Began to peer beneath,
Then whispered: "Sure old Mike looks grand,
Ain't he got gorgeous teeth!"

SENATORS BEAT SOX, 5 TO 2; GET 3 RUNS IN EIGHTH

McNair's Four Errors Tie League Record.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 17.—Hits by the veteran Buddy Myer and Rookie Jim Pofahl gave the Washington Senators three runs with two out in the eighth inning and a 5 to 2 victory over the White Sox in the opener of the three game series today.

Manager Jimmy Dykes excused Bill Dietrich in favor of Clint Brown after Gee Walker hit his fourth single and Zeke Bonura walked with one out in the eighth. Up to that time Dietrich had done very well. In seven innings he surrendered only six singles and two unearned runs, which blossomed from two of the four errors with which Eric McNair equaled the American league record. McNair had replaced Bobby Kennedy, who was benched today by Boss Dykes because of a hitting slump.

Brown Fans Bloodworth.

Rescuer Brown started out in fancy style by striking out Young Jimmy Bloodworth, but Myer slapped a single down the left field line, scoring Walker with the winning run. Julius Solters in trying to get Walker at the plate, threw the ball past Catcher Mike Tresh, and Bonura took third and Myer second. Both scored to clinch the game when Pofahl blasted a double deep in center field, tho Pofahl was out trying to stretch his hit into a triple.

The eighth inning rally enabled Emil Leonard, the portly Belgian right hander to chalk up his 10th victory and his fourth straight over the White Sox. Leonard yielded eight hits, but the only damage done to him was by Joe Kuhel's home run with Skeeter Webb on base in the first inning.

Get Unearned Run.

The Senators pecked at Dietrich for one unearned run in the first inning and got another after McNair's fourth miscue in the fifth. Dietrich and Leonard battled on even terms then until the eighth.

Kuhel put the Sox two runs ahead in the first inning, when he hit his sixteenth homer and his third in three days over the right field fence, scoring behind Webb who had singled on Leonard's first pitch.

The Senators got one run back in their half as Dietrich started his chores by walking Case and Lewis. Walker hit a high hopper down the third base line, and McNair made a neat stop, only to follow with a wild throw past Webb which allowed Case to score. The official scorer decided Walker was entitled to a single. Lewis tried to take third, but Webb

REFEREE HALTS BATTLE; TEXAN DOWN SIX TIMES

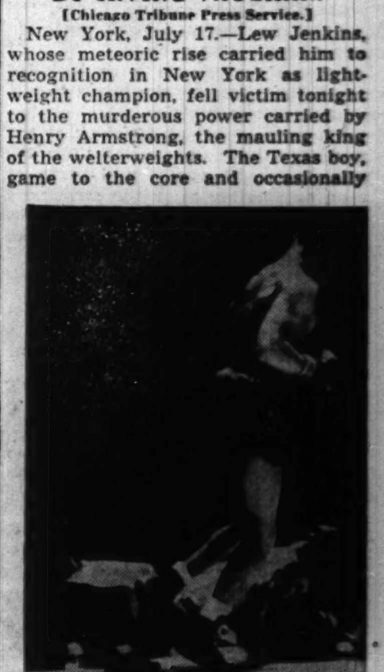
23,306 See Fight in Polo Grounds.

Fight Decisions

At New York—Henry Armstrong stopped Lew Jenkins [6]; Leo Rodak beat Johnny Bellus [5]; Holman Williams stopped Vinnie Vines [4]; Jackie Donovan stopped Izzy Redman [5]; Everett Rightmire and Sal Bartolo drew [6]; Pancho Villa beat Sammy Venti [4].

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 17.—Lew Jenkins, whose meteoric rise carried him to recognition in New York as lightweight champion, fell victim tonight to the murderous power carried by Henry Armstrong, the mauling king of the welterweights. The Texas boy, game to the core and occasionally showering punishment on his Negro opponent, staggered to his chair at the end of six rounds, and that was the finish of a nontitle battle scheduled for twice that distance before 23,306 spectators in the Polo Grounds.



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]
Lew Jenkins down in one of his three trips to the canvas last night in the sixth and final round, while his conqueror, Henry Armstrong, stands over him.

Jenkins, dangerous to his weaving, crouching opponent because of the respect the latter maintained for the ex-cavalryman's bone crushing rights and lefts, was a whipped warrior before the third round had been completed. But he kept to his task doggedly, bouncing up from one knockdown after another to summon the few remaining bits of stamina remaining in his thin body.

Jenkins Out on His Feet.

The few minutes prior to the referee's decision that the 23 year old Texan was out of action for the night saw a fighter who didn't know just what it was all about. In the sixth round he was down, he was up, he was down again and up again. When the bell ended the final round, the bronze skinned Armstrong skipped to his corner, but Jenkins, his face much the worse for wear, merely stood in his tracks, not knowing how to find his own chair.

The seconds began working on the Texan. They washed his battered face. They massaged him feverishly and he revived. But just before the bell for the seventh was due, Jenkins suddenly stood up, his chin dropped on his chest and he collapsed, whereupon Referee Arthur Donovan called a halt. An athletic commission doctor made a hasty examination and found that Jenkins hadn't been seriously injured by the mauling, but that his stomach had rebelled against the punishment inflicted. Jenkins was down six times in all—once in the fourth, twice in the fifth and three times in the sixth.

Jenkins Scores Early in Bout.

The first two rounds in which Jenkins was the more damaging of the two workmen, were tame to the four subsequent sessions that kept the spectators in an uproar. Apparently Armstrong was getting himself acquainted with the Texan's style and meanwhile taking no chances on the latter's wicked rights and lefts. In the first, one of Jenkins' rights landed on the face of the ever crouching welterweight champion. In the second, Jenkins landed again, twice with thudding effect, but Armstrong kept crowding, finally landing a punch which brought blood from Jenkins' nose.

Armstrong's power began to show in the third round, and with Jenkins retaliating with blows to his foe's body the ring was figuratively alive with padded gloves. In the fourth, Jenkins' star began an unmistakable descent. A blow on the mouth dropped him for a nine count and when the Texan arose, Armstrong began the chase in which he eventually landed his man. But as proof of his recuperative power, Jenkins arose for the fifth, battered his foe with lefts and rights, inflicting the cut over Armstrong's right eye. But a moment later the boy from Texas was down for a nine count and altho he carried to the end of this round as well as the sixth he couldn't rally again.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Six boys and a girl will represent the Kenosha, Wis., Youth Foundation in the Chicagoland 100 yard free style swimming races. Preliminaries are scheduled July 27 and 28 in four pools to qualify 120 boys and girls for the championship races in the Lincoln park lagoon on Aug. 4.

Entries close at midnight Monday. All contestants must send in their names, ages, and home addresses before that date. These are the 11th annual races sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Each contestant will receive a post card with these instructions and a racing number. This card must be brought to the pool. It will admit the bearer without charge.

EIGHT THIRTY TAKES $65,300 RACE AT SUFFOLK

Boston, Mass., July 17 [Special].—Eight Thirty today won $65,300 Massachusetts handicap at Suffolk Downs as 40,000 watched his thrust forward for top honors in the handicap division.

A length away, and driving hard, was Mrs. Payne Whitney's Hash, leading W. L. Brann's Challedon by a length and a half after a nine furlong run that saw Seabiscuit's track record of 1:49 equaled over a fast racing strip.

Trailing the leaders was Challedon, beaten but far from disgraced. Under 130 pounds the son of Challenger II. met his first defeat after seven victories and after being acclaimed the horse of the year in 1939.

Eleven competed for the rich prize, which gave $46,550 to the winner, and brought Eight Thirty's earnings for the year to $77,600. The winner was ridden by Harry Richards.

Parichys Score 8 in 7th to Beat Rockolas, 8-2

An eight-run seventh inning last night gave the Parichy Bloomer Girls an 8 to 2 victory over the Rockolas on the latter's field. Tonight the Parichys meet the Buffalo, N. Y., Democrats in Parichy stadium. The eastern team split even in two games with the Hydrox aggregation, the latter winning last night, 8 to 1. In the other league game last night the Rivals advanced to second place over the Mills by defeating the Raabs, 7 to 4, in Spencer Coals' field. Tonight the Rivals journey to Shewbridge field to meet the league leading Hydrox team.

Crown Four Champions in B. B. Y. O. Softball Finals

The finals of the B'nai B'rith Youth organization softball tournament came to a close last night in St. Philip stadium when champions in four divisions were crowned. The Dr. Waxlers defeated the Cavaliers, 7 to 4, in the junior division; Hanley Spartans won from the Standard Metals, 9 to 5, in the intermediate class; Garfield Park dislodged Lake View as title holders in the lodge division by beating them, 5 to 4, and the Witt Hanleys won the senior championship from the Ogden Sawyers [Col. Brodies], 9 to 5.

BIMELECH COMES WEST TODAY TO RACE IN CLASSIC

Field of Six Expected at Arlington Saturday.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Edward R. Bradley's Bimelech will arrive at Arlington Park today, ready to continue his quest for the 3 year old championship. In Saturday's $50,000 Classic this speedy colt, winner of the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes, is scheduled to meet one of the two horses which have been able to conquer him on previous occasions. This rival is Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Gallahadion, Kentucky Derby winner which ran back to his best form to score in last Saturday's Classic trial.

On his trip from Suffolk Downs Bimelech will be accompanied by Dixiana Farm's Sirocco, which also will go to the post in the Classic. Arnold Hanger's Dit, winner of the Wood Memorial, arrived yesterday from New York.

Six Starters Likely.

A field of six starters now seems likely in Saturday's big race. Millsdale stable's Andy K. and A. C. Ernst's Alhalan also are expected to run.

Reports from the east indicate Bimelech is in satisfactory condition to undertake an effort of a mile and a quarter in the Classic. Before being shipped he worked the full distance in 2:09 3-5. Sirocco went a mile and a furlong in 1:51 4-5.

The Bradley colt, which started the season with prospects of smothering all opposition in his division, is now forced to run hard for everything he gets. After winning the Blue Grass stakes and the Derby trial in handy fashion, he gave his followers their first big shock when he was beaten in the Derby.

Another Jolt in Withers.

When he came right back the following week to score in the Preakness many thought that the Derby was all a mistake—just one of those races which are to be disregarded and thrown out of a horse's record.

They were jolted again the following week, however, when Bimelech was beaten once more—this time by the unheralded Corydon in the Withers stakes. Shortly afterward he redeemed himself again by winning the much cherished Belmont stakes at a mile and a half.

Yesterday's arrival, Dit, started the season with excellent prospects and then faded out, but Trainer Max Hirsch is reported to have him back to his early spring condition, when he beat the best 3 year olds of the east in the Wood Memorial and followed up with a third place in the Kentucky Derby. He went on the skids when he finished last in the Preakness.

A. A. ALL-STARS DEFEAT BLUES, 5-3, BEFORE 18,499

Kansas City, Mo., July 17 [Special].—The American association All-Stars repeated last year's victory over the Kansas City Blues when they whipped the league leaders, 5 to 3, before 18,499 tonight.

The All-Stars scored two runs in the first inning when Huck Geary, Minneapolis shortstop, hit a double off Ernie Bonham with two on base. Kansas City tied it up on four walks and an error in the fourth, then, after Buck Fausett and Hub Walker, both of Minneapolis, had combined a single and double for a run in the fifth, Jerry Priddy of the Blues hit a home run in the home half for Kansas City's final score. The All-Stars counted their last two runs in the eighth. Score:

All-Stars	200 010 020	5	9	1
Kansas City	000 210 000	3	5	0

Batteries—Logan [Indianapolis], Herring [St. Paul, 2], Brecheen [Columbus, 2], and Denning [Minneapolis], Cooper [Columbus, 6]; Bonham, Lindell, and Riddle.

Palmer House, Mills Win in Semi-Pro Tournament

Peoria, Ill., July 17 (AP).—The Palmer House All-Stars of Chicago, making their first start in defense of their 1939 state semipro baseball tournament title, beat the George Evans corporation nine of Moline, 9 to 1, tonight. The game was halted at the end of seven innings by a tournament ruling which declares as the winner any team ahead by eight runs at that point. In the second game Pitcher Jack Wilkens of the Chicago Mills team struck out the last batter with the bases loaded to gain a 2 to 0 victory over Jay's of Peoria.

BAR ASSOCIATION GOLF MEET IS WON BY GERSON GLUCK

Card of 38-37-75 Low at Olympia Fields.

The Chicago Bar association installed a new golf champion in its 17th annual tournament yesterday at Olympia fields, where Gerson I. Gluck led 350 members and guests with a gross of 38—37—75, over No. 1 course. Course No. 3 was reserved for the miscellaneous events.

William H. Townsend, a former champion, blew a chance to regain his laurels by using three putts at each of the last two greens, and finished with 37—39—76.

A three-way tie for third place developed among Earle F. Tilley, another ex-title holder, who had—39—40—79; Samuel L. Golan, 39—40—79, and Martin Ward, 40—39—79.

Charles E. McGuire of Oak Park, who won last year at Medinah, led a quintet deadlocked at 80. The lowest scorer among the guests was Russell J. Chandler of Sunset Ridge, whose 36—39—75 equaled the score of the new champion.

Eleanor Dudley of Ridge, former state and western junior champion, was low with a 43—38—81, six over par, in the intradistrict team matches of the Chicago Women's District Golf association yesterday at Glen View, but the highlight of the day was the ace made by Helen Peterson of Exmoor on the 155 yard water eleventh.

The West district team retained its lead by scoring 14 points for a season total of 74. Northwest made 26 points for 66½, Northeast 18 for 44, and South 14 for 31½.

A. L. [Jimmy] Miller of Bob O'Link carried off major honors at Exmoor's Jamboree yesterday when he posted a 75 for low gross. Al Rand, also of Bob O'Link, and W. H. Morton of Exmoor tied for second with 76. H. R. Anderson of Oak Park captured low net for guests with 94—25—69. H. R. Curran of Bob O'Link was second with 88—18—70 and H. E. TAYLOR, RISSMAN MEET IN FINALS OF JUNIOR GOLF William Taylor of Acacia and Sanford Rissman of Bryn Mawr emerged as finalists in the Chicago District junior closed golf tournament yesterday in a day of upsets in which the defending champion and the qualifying medalist were eliminated. The deciding match today will be 36 holes.

Taylor provided the major fireworks by dethroning Earl Wilde of Westward Ho, last year's title holder, 2 and 1, in the morning quarter-finals. He then came back in the afternoon to conquer Shaw McCutcheon of Onwentsia, 1 up in 19 holes.

Rissman reached the title round by romping over Jack Culp, Jr., of Ridge, 6 and 5, in the quarter-finals, and beating Goodwin Clark of Hinsdale, the medalist, 1 up in the semi-finals.

In other quarter-final matches, McCutcheon beat Gordon Sibley of Skokie, 1 up in 18 holes, and Clark eliminated Tom Nash Jr. of Ridge, 6 and 4.

TIGERS LOSE TWO GAMES AND STAR PITCHER NEWSOM

Thumb Broken in Opener Against Red Sox.

Boston, Mass., July 17 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers not only dropped a double header to the Boston Red Sox today, 8 to 3 and 8 to 5, forcing them to share second place in the American league with Boston, but also lost the services of Buck Newsom, ace pitcher who had won 13 consecutive games. The Tigers' double defeat sent the Cleveland Indians into first place tho they were beaten by New York.

Newsom suffered a double fracture of the thumb on his pitching hand when he caught a throw from Rudy York while dashing to cover first base on Ted Williams' grounder in the third inning of the opener. Newsom pitched to five more batters, retiring the side but giving up two runs, before leaving the game. Up to that time, he held a 3 to 0 lead.

Newsom said a doctor told him he would be out for four weeks, but the pitcher insisted he would be back by July 27. He said he based his opinion on experience thru having had bones broken on nine different occasions.

Al Benton took over and gave up the tying run in the fifth, the Red Sox going on to clinch matters with five more runs in the seventh.

YANKEES WIN IN 13TH.

New York, July 17 (AP).—The Cleveland Indians lost to the Yankees, 4 to 3, in 13 innings today in what might have been a pitching battle between Bob Feller and Monte Pearson except for some annoying trifles that sent it into overtime. Red Rolfe and Bill Dickey wrapped two singles around a sacrifice in the 13th for the deciding run. The score was tied in the sixth when Hal Trosky of the Indians blasted his 18th homer after Lou Boudreau walked. Score:

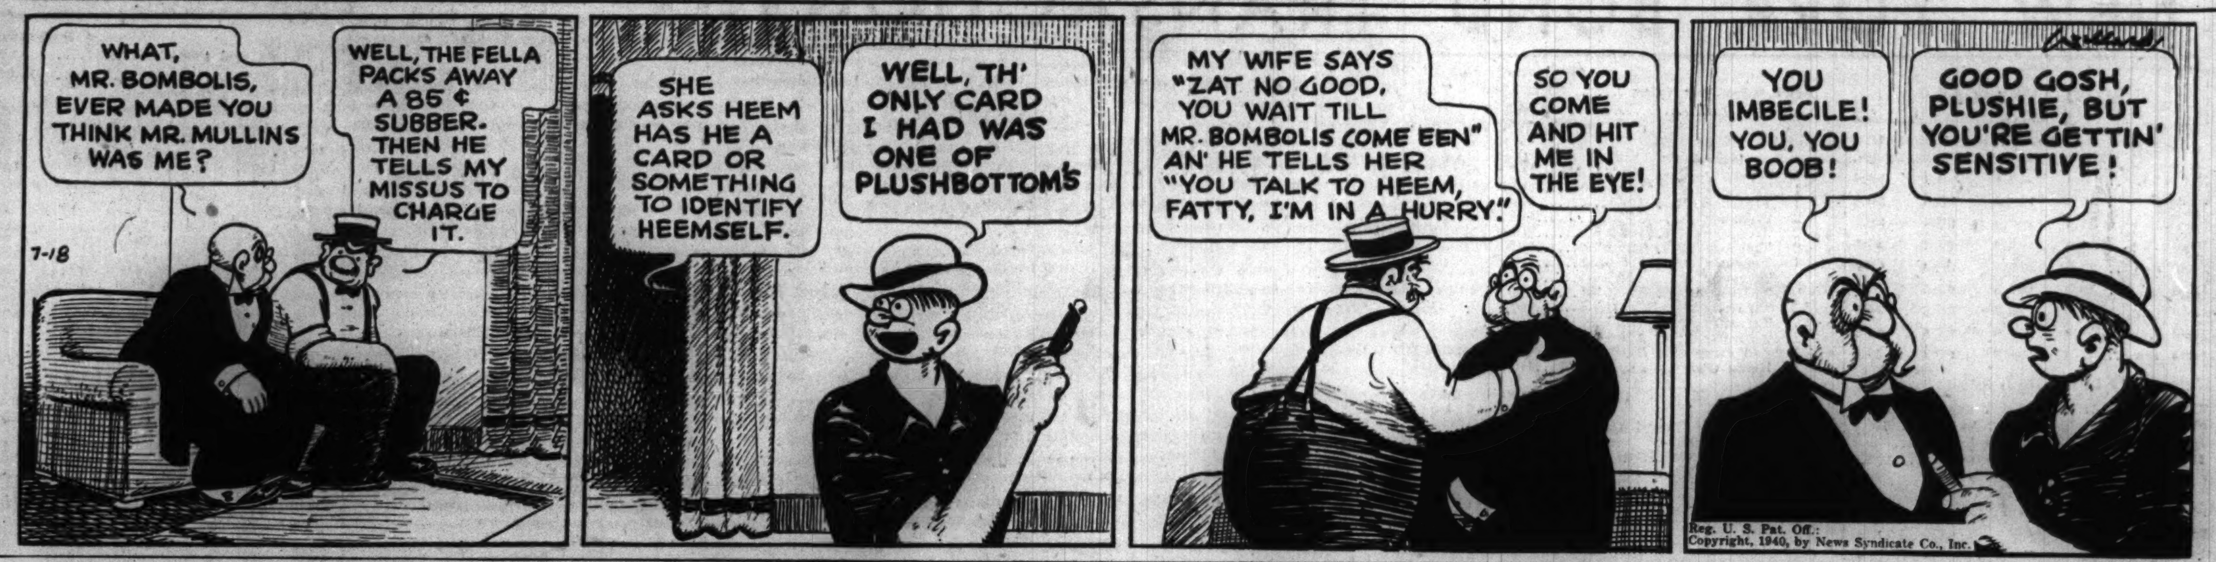
MOON MULLINS—A CARD



Memories of All-Star Game Sweet to Cuff

BY WARD CUFF.

[Former Marquette university star and now a member of the New York Giants professional team which defeated the 1939 All-Stars.]

Milwaukee, Wis., July 17.—As long as I live, I shall never forget last year's All-Star football game in Chicago between the New York Giants and the College All-Americans. It's full of sweet memories.

Ward Cuff.

As you know, we beat the All-Americans, 9 to 0, but I'm telling you now it was a ball game! And when I say that, I think I'm speaking for the other members of our squad.

I have several impressions. I still remember the crowd, and the pageantry of the introductions. And there was the thrill of playing with and against the best in professional and in college football.

Knew What It Was About.

Those All-Stars that night last August sure knew what it was all about, and they performed like it. We happened to be on our game, and no team could have licked us. Moreover, we anticipated the All-Stars would shoot the works, and we shaped our defense accordingly. After that first goal which I was lucky enough to get across, I began to feel we had 'em.

I hope you don't get the impression I'm overworking the first person pronoun. I really mean to get personal about this game. It's a dandy and it will continue to be just as long as the All-Americans go out there and try to polish off the pros, and just as long as the boys in our league try to uphold the prestige of pro football.

It's the real test between the college variety of the game and the game as it is played by men who make it a business. It has everything which makes it a thriller.

Watch the Linemen.

I just have one suggestion to make to you fans. When you watch the next All-Star game on Aug. 29 also give some attention to the linemen. They're really the ones who make it possible for ball carriers and kickers to function. I know very well I wouldn't click on a fraction of my field goal attempts if it weren't for the fellows up in front. They're the boys who pour it on.

I'm going to be on hand Aug. 29. No matter how formidable that 1940 crop of All-Americans appears, I'm taking this opportunity to warn Nile Kinnick and some of the others that they're going to have to go some to knock off those Green Bay Packers. There's a ball club. I know!

MULCAHY YIELDS 5 HITS; PHILLIES NIP CARDS, 3 TO 0

St. Louis, Mo., July 17 (AP).—The Philadelphia Phillies snapped the St. Louis Cardinals' winning streak at six straight tonight with a 3 to 0 victory behind the five-hit pitching of Hugh Mulcahy. Mort Cooper, on the mound for the Cardinals, hurled five-hit ball until the ninth when the Phillies scored two runs. Score:

DEAL CONFIRMED FOR YANKS SALE TO JIM FARLEY

New York, July 17 [Special].—The sale of the New York Yankees and affiliated clubs to Postmaster General James A. Farley for $4,000,000, of which $1,500,000 is to be in cash and the balance thru mortgage, was confirmed today by H. Garrison Silleck Jr., one of the executors of the estate of Col. Jacob Ruppert.

Because of the complexity of the deal, however, involving as it does contracts with the baseball empire which Ruppert created and the consent of other American league clubs, Silleck said that it probably will be two months before the final papers can be signed and the sale actually consummated.

Included in the deal are the Yankee stadium and the seven minor league farm clubs headed by the Kansas City Blues and the Newark Bears.

Senators Get 3 in 8th; Beat White Sox, 5-2

recovered the ball and threw him out. Dietrich then settled down and made Bonura foul out and fanned Bloodworth.

McNair Throws It Away.

McNair made his second error in the second when he threw the ball away on Pofahl's slow rolling single and drew his third in the Washington fourth when he let Myer's grounder roll thru his legs.

McNair's fourth error proved more costly. With two out in the fifth Lewis singled and went all the way to third on a wild pitch when McNair dropped Tresh's throw. Walker hit a slow hopper which McNair might have fielded but didn't, and Walker was able to beat Appling's throw for a single, scoring Lewis. That ended the scoring until the eighth, details of which have been told.

KNOTT TO PITCH TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 17.—Jack Knott, who turned in a brilliant two-hit shutout against Boston in his last start, will pitch for the White Sox in the second game of the series here tomorrow. Ken Chase, erratic young Washington left hander, will work for the Senators. Knott has won four games and lost six. Chase's record is five victories and eleven defeats.

The Senators' three game winning streak against the Cleveland Indians didn't impress the local folks much. Only 2,500 turned out to see the White Sox.

GIANTS SIGN 2 BACKS.

New York, July 17 [Special].—The New York football giants announced today they had signed Whit Baker of Cornell and John McLaughry of Brown, two of the outstanding backs in eastern collegiate circles last fall.

Cubs Held to 3 Hits; Beaten by Dodgers, 2 to 1

Hack, on Medwick's tap. Medwick stole second as Phelps executed his second strikeout. Walker was given an intentional pass, but Herman tossed out Wasdell.

In the fifth the Cubs ended Mooty's 29 inning run famine. Cavarretta doubled along the right foul line and scored on Hartnett's single to right. Hartnett reached second while Phelps was throwing out Mattick, went to third as Mooty bounced to Wasdell, but was stranded there when Hamlin threw out Hack. Cavarretta and Hartnett were the only Cubs to get to third.

Bill Lee, who has found National league parks dreary places this season, will seek to bring some happiness into his life this afternoon at the expense of the Dodgers. Curt Davis, an ex-Cub, slated to pitch yesterday's opener, will go for the Dodgers today.

Dom Dallessandro will resume in left field for the Cubs this afternoon because Mr. Gabby Hartnett still thinks Augie Galan isn't hitting enough.

Peewee Reese, Dodger shortstop beaned by Jake Mooty on June 1, didn't miss Jake's head far when he opened yesterday's game with a single.

Donie Bush, former manager of the Senators, Pirates, White Sox, and Reds, now president of the Louisville Colonels, attended yesterday's game, mostly to watch Reese, whom he sold to the Dodgers last winter.

RUSSEKS TO OPEN MICHIGAN-LAKE STORE SATURDAY

Women Shoppers' Ideas Used in Design.

Russeks-Fifth Avenue, Inc., women's apparel and fur dealer, will open a new Chicago store at 200 North Michigan avenue, at the northwest corner of Lake street, on Saturday. This "open house" to the public, with no selling, will precede the official opening for business next Monday.

Max Weinstein heads organization.

The store, it is said, will be the first retail establishment in the middle west to be completely illuminated by fluorescent lighting. There are no lighting fixtures of any other kind in the entire building, according to Lester Welch, general manager. The store is air conditioned.

Women Furnish Ideas.

Before any rebuilding was started a questionnaire was sent to several thousand women asking for suggestions in planning and operation. Every worthwhile idea was incorporated in the store's arrangement, he said.

Russeks, established more than a half century ago in New York, had space for the last five years with Henry C. Lytton & Sons at State street and Jackson boulevard.

Last March the company leased the space at Michigan and Lake, formerly occupied by the Tobey Furniture company [which moved to Wabash avenue], from the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, in behalf of the Stanley McCormick estate, owner.

Minimum Rent Guaranteed.

The ten year lease, negotiated by Joseph O. Kaplan, guarantees a minimum rental of $301,333, plus 4 per cent of all annual gross sales in excess of $640,000. It was estimated by the Continental bank that the gross sales will be at least double $640,000, which would mean an additional rental of at least $25,600 a year above the guaranteed $301,333.

According to a provision in the lease 10 per cent of the gross annual sales during the first year and 7 per cent for each of the following nine years must be spent for advertising.

Max Weinstein, president of Russeks, David Nemerov, executive vice president and merchandise manager, and Frank Russek, vice president, are in Chicago for the opening week.

LOCKERS.

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

I am trying to get some information about the American Locker company. I understand that it operates lockers in bus stations and railroad depots. Is the company owned privately?—H. K.

Answer: The American Locker company, Inc., represents a cumulative consolidation of numerous companies once engaged in renting automatic parcel checking lockers. The original company was formed in 1920.

More than 30,000 of the company's automatic lockers are operated in railroad stations, bus terminals, theaters, and other public places. The locks are made by the company itself under broad patents and the metal cabinets are manufactured by others.

Installations at the New York World's Fair contributed a substantial portion of the company's increased earnings in 1939. Net income in 1939 rose to $52,684, equal to $1.47 a class A share, from $33,686, or $1.05 a class A share in 1938.

Capitalization consists of $104,600 in funded debt, 35,913 shares of $1.50 noncumulative class A stock, and 25,464 shares of class B stock, both of no par value. The stocks are traded over the counter in New York and Boston areas.

No dividend has been paid on the class B stock. In 1938 the company paid a 4 per cent stock dividend on the class A stock; in 1939, 8 per cent in stock and a cash dividend of 25 cents per share, and in 1940 thus far 25 cents cash each on April and July 1.

BENDIX AFFILIATE.

Is there any connection between the Bendix Aviation corporation and the Bendix Home Appliances, Inc? I would like a report on the latter.—D. M.

Answer: Bendix Home Appliances, Inc., manufactures an automatic home washing machine that washes, rinses, and damp-dries clothes. The company was organized in 1936 and is 25 per cent owned by Bendix Aviation corporation. The home appliance plant is at South Bend, Ind.

The company has outstanding funded debt of $750,000, 121,840 shares of class A participating stock of $5 par value, and 762,640 shares of common stock of 33 1-3 cents par value. The shares are traded over the counter. No dividend has been paid on either stock and dividend arrears on the class A stock amounted to 90 cents a share on Jan. 1, 1940.

Net loss reported by the company for 1939 was $311,935 against net profit of $44,821, or 1 cent a common share, in 1938.

The following is a brief outline of certain information contained in the offering prospectus and is subject to the more detailed statements in such prospectus and in the registration statement, which also include important information not outlined or indicated herein and which are hereby incorporated by reference. The offering prospectus, which must be furnished to each purchaser, should be read prior to any purchase of these Bonds.

THE COMPANY: The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company, incorporated in Ohio in 1892, is engaged principally in the generation of electric energy and the transmission, distribution and sale thereof in Cleveland, Ohio, and in adjacent territory in Ohio extending nearly 100 miles along the south shore of Lake Erie. The population of the five largest cities served by the Company, according to the 1930 Federal Census, was: Cleveland, 900,000; Lakewood, 70,000; Cleveland Heights, 50,000; East Cleveland, 40,000; and Ashtabula, 23,000. The Company estimates that the population of the total area served was approximately 1,300,000. The Company is also engaged in the production, distribution and sale of steam for heating and other purposes in the downtown business section of Cleveland. The Company intends to continue in business of this general character.

The Company's properties include three electric generating stations and transmission and distribution facilities; steam heating properties consist of a distribution system and two plants for the production of steam.

The City of Cleveland owns and operates an electric generating station, the rated capacity of which is 50,000 kilowatts, and a transmission and distribution system. The City, in December, 1938, started work on construction of additions to the municipal plant, the principal item being an increase of 37,500 kilowatts in generating capacity. The principal residential and small commercial rates of the municipal system are substantially lower than those of the Company.

The North American Company owns 71.63% of the voting stock of the Company. The Company is informed that as of June 25, 1940, about 8.65% of The North American Company's voting stock was owned beneficially by Harrison Williams and certain corporations controlled by him. The Company disclaims existence of control by Harrison Williams or by such corporations except The North American Company. The Company is subject to the provisions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and is a part of the "holding company system" (as defined in the Act) consisting of The North American Company and its subsidiaries, which comprises more than one geographically and economically integrated public utility system. Section 11 of the Act, among other things, directs the Securities and Exchange Commission to require by order that each registered holding company, and each subsidiary thereof, take such action as the Commission may find necessary to limit the operations of the holding company system of which such company is a part to a single integrated public utility system, subject to the provision that the Commission is empowered to permit a registered holding company to control one or more additional integrated public utility systems upon finding certain conditions set forth in the Act. The Company makes no representation as to whether such conditions will be found to exist in the case of The North American Company and its subsidiaries. The Company is a party to proceedings instituted against The North American Company and its subsidiaries under such Section. The Company is unable at this time to determine the effect, if any, which such proceedings may have on the present stock control of the Company by The North American Company.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The Company intends to apply the net proceeds from the sale of these Bonds (estimated at $51,544,400, exclusive of accrued interest and after deducting underwriting discounts and estimated expenses) in part as follows: (a) To the redemption of its outstanding $40,000,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds, 3¾% Series due 1965 (redeemable at 105% and accrued interest), which, exclusive of interest accrued to the redemption date and premium (to be provided from other corporate funds), will require $40,000,000; and (b) To the balance of the estimated cost of construction of two new generating units and additional boiler capacity, $7,800,000. The remainder of such proceeds is initially to become part of the Company's general funds and no allocation thereof to any specific purpose has been made.

CAPITALIZATION: Funded debt and capital stock of the Company outstanding as at December 31, 1939, and to be outstanding upon the issuance of these Bonds and the redemption of the 3¾% bonds mentioned above, are as follows:

	Amount outstanding	Amount to be outstanding
First Mortgage Bonds, 3¾% Series due 1965	$40,000,000	—

(1) The initial series of the total authorized amount of 500,000 shares of Serial Preferred Stock, without par value (entitled to cumulative dividends).

MORTGAGE: These Bonds are to be issued under a Mortgage, dated July 1, 1940, from the Company to Guaranty Trust Company of New York, as Trustee, and, in the opinion of counsel for the Company, will be secured by a valid and direct first mortgage on substantially all of the fixed properties owned, and all franchises held, by the Company on the date of recording of the Mortgage, subject to the conditions and exceptions specified in the offering prospectus and in the Mortgage.

Additional bonds of this or other series ranking equally with these Bonds may be issued under the Mortgage, without restriction, in the principal amount of $8,500,000 and, without limitation as to amount, upon compliance with certain conditions and restrictions set forth in the Mortgage.

The Mortgage provides, under certain conditions, for releases of and substitutions for property subject to the lien of the Mortgage and requires the Trustee to transmit to certain bondholders, annually and at certain other times, a brief report with respect thereto. Certain provisions of the Mortgage may be modified as therein provided.

UNDERWRITING: Subject to certain terms and conditions, the principal underwriters named in the offering prospectus have agreed severally to purchase these Bonds from the Company, not later than July 26, 1940, at 103½%, or a total of $51,750,000, plus accrued interest. The offer of these Bonds is made only by the offering prospectus and is subject to the terms of offering set forth therein, and to approval of legal proceedings by Messrs. Wright, Gordon, Zachry & Parlin, counsel for the principal underwriters. It is expected that the Bonds in temporary form will be ready for delivery on or about July 19, 1940, at the office of Dillon, Read & Co., New York, against payment therefor in New York funds.

TO FACILITATE THE OFFERING, IT IS INTENDED TO STABILIZE THE PRICE OF THESE BONDS. THIS STATEMENT IS NOT AN ASSURANCE THAT THE PRICE OF THE ABOVE SECURITY WILL BE STABILIZED OR THAT THE STABILIZING, IF COMMENCED, MAY NOT BE DISCONTINUED AT ANY TIME.

Further information, in particular financial statements, is contained in the registration statement on file with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and in the offering prospectus which must be furnished to each purchaser and is obtainable from only such of the undersigned as are qualified to act as dealers in securities in this state.

EXCHANGE VOWS FIGHT AGAINST NEW YORK RULE

Continue Dual Stock Trade in Chicago.

The breach between the New York and Chicago Stock exchanges, which has grown progressively wider within recent months, reached the proportions of a complete break yesterday.

Arthur M. Betts.

Arthur M. Betts, chairman of the Chicago exchange's board of governors, in announcing action will be taken to conform with the New York board's ban against "multiple trading," declared "progressive developments" will be disclosed soon in the Chicago market's drive for increased business.

His statement assured members that there will be no interruption in service, either in round lots of stock or in odd lots, as a result of New York's ban.

Curb Members' Activities.

The "Big Board," effective Sept. 1, has forbidden its members from acting, in any other exchange, as specialists or odd lot dealers in any securities also listed in New York. This would affect a number of Chicago brokers who are members of both the New York and Chicago exchanges and deal in many stocks which are listed in both markets.

Betts' statement, issued with the unanimous approval of the governors, said:

"The Chicago Stock exchange will continue aggressive policies to expand and improve its services and to merit the continued support and coöperation of the community. Important and progressive developments will be announced in the near future."

Brokers to Be Replaced.

New York's ban, authorized in a hitherto unused section of its constitution, was decided upon several months ago. Eight "Big Board" members who are also members of the Chicago exchange and who act as Chicago specialists in dually listed securities, will be replaced by the appointment of other Chicago brokers who do not hold New York membership and thus are not affected by the multiple trading ban. Betts said the appointments will be announced soon.

The "progressive developments" mentioned in the statement were interpreted by some to mean the possibility of reducing listing fees, extending trading hours, and permitting corporate memberships.

The Chicago firms which will be affected by enforcement of the rule are Paul H. Davis & Co., Winthrop, Mitchell & Co., James H. Oliphant & Co., Wayne Hummer & Co., Faroll Brothers, Shields & Co., Mitchell, Hutchins & Co., and Rawson, Lizars & Co. These eight handle 51 of the 72 dually listed stocks. Transactions in the other 21 issues are carried out thru local firms, which do not hold New York memberships.

Davis Handles 31.

Paul H. Davis & Co. alone handles 31 of the issues. Paul H. Davis is the only Chicago broker included among the New York exchange's governors.

Discussing the New York ruling, which will be enforced in an attempt to check the diversion of business to other cities, the statement said:

"The issues involved in the controversy were deeply internal and technical. Divergence of opinion developed respecting the propriety of one exchange taking an action inconsistent with the unrestricted privilege and use of membership in another exchange located in a different city and market.

"Difference of opinion likewise existed as to the effect on the primary market of efficiently conducted secondary markets on the regional stock exchanges. About 75 per cent of the orders executed in the primary market, it is stated, originate outside of New York. Therefore it seemed to us that friendly encouragement given to the 'feeder' markets by the nation's primary market place would have been a wise policy.

Some Listed Here Originally.

"Many leading stocks listed on the New York Stock exchange had their original listed markets on the Chicago Stock exchange. The major active portion of our volume in the dually listed issues is in that category.

"Altho we would have preferred—for the welfare of the business as a whole—a mutually agreeable understanding with the New York exchange respecting listing policies and dual membership problems, this proved impossible of accomplishment at the present time."

The New York exchange and the curb exchange account for 95 per cent of the national trading in securities. Much of the volume in the dually-listed issues in Chicago and other cities consists of trades of less than 100 shares, the "round lot" on the "Big Board."

TWA to Add Fourth Daily Flight to West Coast

Transcontinental & Western Air, Inc., announced yesterday a fourth daily flight between Chicago and California will be added next Saturday. At the same time the airline will increase the flights between Chicago and Kansas City from five to six round trips daily, J. A. Thomas, central sales manager, announced.

Chicago Corp. Assets Dip, but Earnings Rise

Assets of the Chicago corporation, the middle west's largest investment company, totaled $26,401,766 on June 30, against $31,770,665 on Dec. 31, 1939. Net income for the first half of this year was $456,790, excluding $669,355 profit on the sale of securities, against $366,518, excluding $153,638 profit on the sale of securities in the first half of 1939.

The corporation sold shares of 38 companies represented in its investment portfolio during the period and bought shares in 27 companies.

This information on the corporation's activities was contained in a report sent stockholders yesterday by Richard Wagner, president.

Experience More Favorable.

Despite the general and sharp decline in market prices of common stocks since the turn of the year following intensified war activities the decline in the asset value of Chicago corporatoin's preference stock was held to 15.4 per cent. Its asset value was placed at $49.79 a share on June 30, against $58.85 a share on Dec. 31, 1939.

The experience of the Chicago corporation was more favorable in this respect than a number of other large investment companies. Blue Ridge corporation's preference stock showed a shrinkage of 23.2 per cent from Dec. 31, to June 30, Lehman corporation common registered a decline of 27.46 per cent; National Investors common 18.3 per cent, and State Street Investment common 20 per cent.

Acquire Preference Stock.

Wagner said that 9,650 shares of the corporation's own preference stock were acquired during the first six months at a cost of $328,172, or an average of $34.01 a share. Two quarterly dividends of 75 cents each were paid on the preference stock during the period. Dividend arrearages amounting to 75 cents a share were accumulated in 1938.

He said that the corporation joined with other financial interests in purchasing during May the entire capital stock of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock corporation, one of the nation's largest private builders of naval and commercial ships. The Chicago corporation's participation was $1,011,897, or 5.6 per cent of the total.

Added to Portfolio.

Among the shares of companies which Chicago corporation added to its portfolio during the first half of 1940 were the following:

STEEL MILL RATE CONTINUES HIGH AS BUYING DIPS

Altho there has been some letdown in the volume of orders for steel the decline has caused no reduction in mill rates, the magazine Iron Age said yesterday. It estimated the present operating rate at 87½ per cent of the theoretical capacity.

Operations at the Chicago mills are following the pattern outlined in national steel production, with orders here declining slightly. The Chicago mills, however, are still taking in more orders for steel each week than can be produced in a week.

Iron Age said that steel orders for the nation as a whole in the first half of July ran ahead of those in the first half of June, but the rate of increase during June is not being maintained in July.

Washington, D. C., July 17 [Special]. —Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr. announced today that 2¼ per cent treasury bonds sold last week will be alloted on a basis of 9 per cent, except for $39,000,000 of preferential allotments to bidders who sought $5,000 or less of the bonds. He said subscriptions aggregated $6,609,000,000 for the $600,000,000 public offering.

Army Adheres to Tradition in Placing Orders

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 17.—Evidence that the army is adhering to its traditional policy of procurement despite the appointment of a coördinator to speed up national defense purchases was found today.

Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war.

It was learned that prospective bidders seeking information on army contracts are referred to distant quartermaster depots, which in turn must consult Washington.

Some interests have complained that a clique in the war department from Col. Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, down is apparently trying the same procedure on Donald M. Nelson, procurement coördinator, that finally was resulted in the removal of Harry H. Woodring as secretary of war.

Letter "Too Personal"

Johnson and Woodring were at odds for a long time and Woodring was eased out of office on June 20. His letter of resignation was considered "too personal" by the White House to be made public.

Among other duties, the coördinator of procurement was directed to "insure proper coördination of, and economy and efficiency in, purchases by the government of supplies, equipment, munitions, and other materials essential to national defense."

Instead of this aim at centralized buying, the war department's traditional policy is upheld by Johnson in a letter dated July 10. The letter was used as a foreword to a pamphlet on national defense procurement issued within the last few days in the name of Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins, now directing third term strategy in Chicago.

The pamphlet describes the scattered procurement offices of the war and navy departments and the typical materials needed.

Gets Johnson's Approval.

"I commend most heartily this pamphlet prepared by the department of commerce, with the aid and coöperation of the army and navy departments, as a guide to manufacturers who are interested in putting their facilities at the disposal of their country during this armament program," Johnson wrote.

"The procurement system is decentralized. Consistent with our traditional policy, the details of the armament program from Washington are handled by the procurement districts. We have officers in the field, scattered thruout the country, experts in procurement, who know what is wanted, who understand our point of view, who are familiar with the problems of industry and who are devoting their time and efforts toward improving understanding between the procurement agencies of government and of industry.

"The best way to conserve time and effort is to deal directly with the nearest procurement officer in the field. If he finds the problem too difficult to handle, he has orders to take the matter up with Washington."

No Word on Appointment.

There was no word in Johnson's letter referring to the appointment of the coördinator of purchases by the President's order of June 27, altho both Johnson and Hopkins, as members of the theoretical cabinet council of national defense, had also signed the order setting up a coördinator.

Prospective bidders have complained of being "shoved around" and have expressed the fear much time may be lost in getting the nation rearmed and equipped. Bidders applying to the quartermaster general's office here for information on clothing and equipage bids receive the following form letter over the signature of Lieut. Col. Robert M. Littlejohn, assistant to the quartermaster general:

"The office of the quartermaster general, Washington, D. C., does not effect procurement. Procurement directives are issued from time to time on the procuring depots listed hereafter.

Issue Circular Proposals.

"These procuring depots issue circular proposals to manufacturers whose names appear on the mailing list. These proposals contain all the information as to quantities desired, quality, times of delivery, and make reference to federal specifications.

"Interested bidders whose names are not on the bidding list should write to the individuals listed below to have their names placed on the mailing list, and if not on hand should request copies of the specifications for the items in which they are interested."

VOTERS TO TOSS OUT NEW DEAL THIS FALL, ECONOMIST ASSERTS

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 16 (AP). —Carl Snyder, former economic adviser of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, predicted tonight the New Deal would be turned out "bag and baggage" by the voters in November and a "period of great prosperity, tempered probably by endless strikes and labor controversies," will follow. He said he based his prediction upon a statistical study of election trends.

Snyder said the national administration had "utterly discouraged" the small percentage of the public responsible for the production of new wealth, comforts and conveniences. This situation will continue, he said, "until the fifth of next November, or, if you prefer to be a little more exact, next January—when as I believe the New Deal and all its works goes out bag and baggage."

"In each of the 20 years since 1880, the Republicans have had three terms and the Democrats two," the economist said. "So, if we were to attempt a forecast, from this curious alternation, we might possibly expect a change of administrations this fall."

Snyder was a breakfast guest yesterday of Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican Presidential nominee. Willkie has been reading Snyder's book, "Capitalism The Creator."

BANKERS MEET TODAY ON STAMP PLAN PROBLEMS

More than 100 bank representatives will discuss the new food stamp plan, which becomes effective in Chicago, Aug. 1, at a meeting at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the American Institute of Banking, 105 West Adams street.

Altho the cashing of these stamps for all food dealers except wholesalers and department and chain stores will entail extra work, Chicago banks will make no handling charges, George R. Boyles, president of the Chicago district of the Illinois Bankers association, said. The large dealers will cash them directly with the Surplus Marketing administration.

Under the stamp plan, a person on relief now receiving $25 in food will be given orange stamps totaling $25. In addition, he will get $12.50 of blue food order stamps which may be used only for the purchase of food declared by the secretary of agriculture to be surplus.

This compared with $550,412, or $1.06 per share, on the 6 per cent preferred stock, in the second quarter of 1939.

The quarter profit increase to about six times last year's earnings was duplicated in six month earnings compared with the 1939 period. Continental Earns Less.

D. A. Williams, president of Continental Steel corporation, Kokomo, Ind., reported that company's net income for the quarter ended June 30 fell to $141,339, or 54 cents a common share, from $253,129, or $1.06 a share, in the second quarter last year.

For the first half of 1940 the company had earnings of $352,795, or $1.43 a share, against $532,307, or $2.24 a share, in the same period of 1939, Williams reported.

To manufacturers and merchants who are users of commodities, the Commodity Futures Markets offer the equivalent of insurance against loss from price fluctuations. The proper use of Commodity Futures Contracts requires extensive and skillful facilities and manpower. And, more importantly, it requires an expert knowledge of the operations and objectives of each industry and company.

The Commodity Department of Merrill Lynch, E. A. Pierce & Cassatt has been designed to do more than to act as a futures broker—additionally, it is prepared to study thoroughly the problems of each customer and recommend a specific program for the best use of this form of business insurance.

I. C. ROAD BUYS $750,000 TRAIN FOR MIAMI RUN

Defense and Other Contracts Placed.

Modern passenger equipment for railroad use was prominent in yesterday's announcements of industrial activities.

The Illinois Central announced that it has placed orders for a $750,000 streamlined passenger train which it will place in service next December between Chicago and Miami. The Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company will build the seven passenger cars to be used in the train and the Electro-Motive corporation will build the 2,000 horsepower Diesel-electric locomotive that will pull it.

The Illinois Central's new train, which will be entirely Chicago built, will consist of five de luxe passenger coaches, a diner and a club lounge car. Its interior will be of semi-tropical design.

Faster Florida Service.

In December the Illinois Central along with the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, the Pennsylvania and six southern railroads will start 29½ hour service between Chicago and Miami. The fastest time during last year's winter travel season was 31 hours 40 minutes and the present fastest time is just under 40 hours. Each of the three originating routes will operate a train out of Chicago every third day, so there will be daily service to the Florida resorts available during the winter season.

The Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company disclosed in Philadelphia that it has obtained orders for 24 new light weight streamlined cars but would not name the purchasers. However, the Budd company officials said that the cars will increase substantially modern sleeper coach service available to travelers in the eastern section of the country. The Pullman company recently brought out two sleeper coaches which are now being given tests out of Chicago.

Gets Wing Assembly Business.

Among the defense and other orders announced yesterday it was disclosed in Detroit that the Briggs Manufacturing company, automobile body builder, has entered into an arrangement with the Vought-Sikorski division of the United Aircraft corporation for production of complete metal wing assemblies for navy observation scout planes. Deliveries are to be started in November.

The Canadian War Supply board has ordered $1,000,000 worth of parachutes and parts from Irving Air Chute, Ltd. in Fort Erie, a subsidiary of the Irving Air Chute Co., Inc. of Buffalo. The order is in addition to Canadian orders placed earlier. The company will speed production on its Canadian orders with the opening of a new factory in Sorel, Quebec, near Montreal.

The Aviation Manufacturing corporation will spend $1,400,000 for machinery and equipment for its Lycoming division, which manufactures aviation motors, Harry Woodhead, president of the parent company, disclosed. He said an additional $300,000 is to be spent on hub and propellor machinery.

Bid on Machine Gun Feeders.

The Bernard Austin Aviation Equipment company, Ashley, Pa., was the apparent low bidder at the Rock Island arsenal yesterday on maximum quantities of metallic links for feeder chains for .30 and .50 caliber machine guns. The advertisements called for between 40,000,000 and 70,000,000 links for the .30 caliber gun and between 20,000,000 and 70,000,000 links for the .50 caliber gun. The amount involved in the bids was more than $900,000.

The Swenson Construction company, Kansas City., Mo., was the low bidder with $1,623,880 for the construction of a hospital and accessory buildings for the veterans administration at Marion, Ill.

UTILITY'S BONDS OF 50 MILLIONS OFFERED TODAY

Stock Marketed by Copperweld Steel.

Two more security offerings today will be placed on the investment market, which has been revived by the success of financing operations undertaken within the last week.

An underwriting syndicate of 85 members, headed by Dillon, Read & Co., will offer $50,000,000 of first mortgage 3 per cent bonds, due in 1970, of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating company. The bonds will be priced at 105½ and accrued interest.

Of the net proceeds, estimated at $51,544,400, the company will use $40,000,000 for the redemption of outstanding 3¾ per cent first mortgage bonds, due 1965; $7,800,000 for construction of new generating equipment, and add the remainder to general funds.

Entire Funded Debt.

Upon completion of the financing the new bonds will constitute the company's entire funded debt. Underwriting discounts or commissions were announced as $1,000,000, or 2 per cent of the principal amount offered.

The bonds will be redeemable at 108½ per cent for the first year, the redemption price declining thereafter to 100 per cent for the last two years prior to maturity.

Cleveland Electric is a part of the North American company system, 71.63 per cent of its voting stock being owned by North American.

The second offering will be 75,000 shares of common stock of the Copperweld Steel company at $18 a share, the initial price determined after the close of the market yesterday. Riter & Co. heads the underwriting group.

Proceeds will be used in part to pay off a $500,000 bank loan incurred in connection with plant expansion, and the remainder added to working capital. The company is completing a $3,300,000 alloy steel plant near Warren, O. Its main plant is in Glassport, Pa., in the Pittsburgh industrial area.

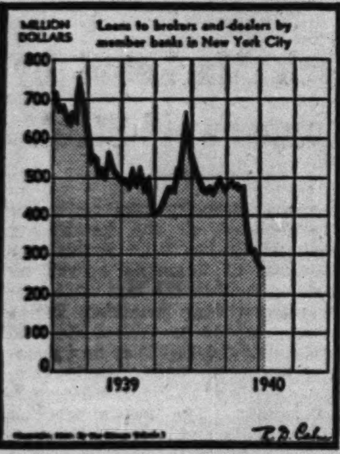
New York Stocks.

New York, July 17 (AP).—Buying was concentrated in a few stocks today as the market sluggishly tried to get out of its summer rut.

A number of shares moved up a point or more, including J. I. Case, Union Carbide, United States Gypsum, Johns-Manville and Caterpillar Tractor. But the rank and file returned to a sleepy drift after an early feint on the upside failed to develop into the real thing.

Gains partly or wholly were erased when traders realized the market did not have the push to carry forward the modest upturn of yesterday. National politics was the chief topic in boardrooms.



The graph shows the big decline in brokers' loans.

Commentators leaned to the view President Roosevelt's third-term statement was a secondary market factor, with speculators generally killing time waiting for the threatened Nazi blow against England and for the business trend and tax proposals in Washington to take more definite shape.

The proposed excess profits tax still was rated a big obstacle for the market since it was figured likely to absorb much, if not most, of whatever expansion in corporate earning power results from enlarged defense spending.

New York Bonds.

New York, July 17 (AP).—The bond market closed with an assortment of gains and losses today after making a stab at higher prices in the forenoon.

The foreign dollar group furnished some of the widest changes. French stamped 7½s of '41 bounded 9¾ points, German 7s were 1 higher, and Argentine 4s gained 2½. Losers of major fractions to a point or more included Japanese 5½s and 6½s and Buenos Aires 4¾s.

United States governments held a steady undertone thruout and ended 2-32 to 7-32 point higher. Total sales were $5,122,200, par value, compared with $4,862,000 yesterday.

Chicago Stocks.

Midland United preferred set a new 1940 high on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, tne third peak in five days. It closed at 5¼, np ¼ point. Trading was mixed in turnover of 17,000 shares. Of the 66 issues traded 30 advanced, 18 declined, and 18 were unchanged. Lynch corporation sold off a point.

Bank Stocks.

Harris Trust shares gained two points and City National advanced a point yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Chicago Title and Continental Illinois both eased half a point.

POUND STERLING LOSES 'FREEDOM' IN OPEN MARKET

Fixed Rates to Prevail; Closes at Loss.

With a drop of 6 cents the "free" British pound made virtually its last move on the foreign exchange market in New York yesterday, leaving the United States dollar and the Swiss franc in sole possession of a free rating in international trade.

In recent months sterling has ranged from a low of $3 on May 10 to a peak of $4 on June 27. It has swung wildly at times under the impacts of blows by the war and repeated tightening and relaxation of British restrictions on its use.

The pound closed yesterday at $3.78 in terms of United States dollars in a mild flurry of activity as dealers prepared for dealings today at officially fixed rates of buying sterling at $4.02 and selling at $4.04. New British restrictions forbidding the use of free sterling in payment for England's exports go into effect today.

Permit Some Few Uses.

Some few uses of free sterling in a minor capacity will still be permitted, it was said, but the Wall street foreign exchange district, despite daily interchange of cabled questions and answers with British authorities, is still confused with respect to the future of the sterling market.

The latest British restrictions, culminating a series of such dictums issued piecemeal since the first of the year, provide that no further supplies of free sterling shall be created. As the supply of the free currency dwindles thru such uses as insurance premiums, charity, and travel expenses, the market will steadily contract, exchange dealers said.

Recommendation that the New York market trade in sterling on the basis of $4.02-$4.04 for cable transfers has been made by the foreign exchange committee. Since the Bank of England buys sterling at $4.02½ and sells at $4.03½, New York banks are assured of covering expenses and a slight profit.

Eliminate British Commissions.

Under the new arrangement the Federal Reserve Bank of New York will provide sterling for the Bank of England account, eliminating British bank commissions. Banks in this country probably will deal thru the large commercial banks in New York.

Wall street bankers and exchange experts said many Americans were in the unhappy position of being "short" of pounds. That these individuals and firms will take a severe financial beating is conceded.

AIR CONDITIONING ORDERS INCREASE SHARPLY IN JUNE

Restaurants again led all types of business last month in placing contracts for air conditioning systems in Chicago, the Commonwealth Edison company reported yesterday.

Contracts were awarded for 79 central plant installations, including 24 for restaurants, with an aggregate capacity of 1,718 horse power, compared with 55 systems, and 601 horse power in June, 1939.

Sales of electric room coolers numbered 304, against 235 a year ago.

For the first six months of 1940, sales of electric room coolers reached a new high at 523, compared with 410 in the first half of 1939. Contracts were signed for 270 central plant installations, with a combined capacity of 6,562 horse power, compared with 225 systems totaling 3,410 horse power in the first half of 1939.

BANKERS TOLD INTEREST RATES WILL STAY LOW

Palo Alto, Cal., July 17 (AP).—Investors were advised today by a Harvard economist not to hold money in anticipation of interest rates going up on a war boom. Dr. J. Franklin Ebersole told bankers attending the Stanford business conference he did not expect to see 5 or 6 per cent interest, or even 4 per cent.

"I believe the United States could fight a war on 2¾ per cent interest," Ebersole said.

Defense might take a few billion in extra funds, he said, but reserve banks have around 10 billion in excess reserves; member banks another 7 billion, and the public has about 11 billion in bank deposits above the amount needed, even with increased business activity.

Two New Directors Named by Sears-Community Bank

Stockholders of the Sears-Community State bank at their annual meeting yesterday elected to the board of directors Arthur S. Barrows, a director of Sears, Roebuck & Co., and Ralph J. DeMotte, treasurer of Sears. Reviewing the annual report of the bank, J. Louis Kohn, president, said that as of June 29 deposits amounted to $11,282,318, an increase of $1,112,637 over the previous fiscal year-end.

November Butter Rises from 5 Week Low Level

Butter for delivery in November was lifted slightly yesterday above the five week low at which it rested Tuesday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange and closed with a net gain of 1-10 cent at 26.85 cents a pound. Firmer eastern markets actuated trade covering and light commission house buying, brokers said. Egg futures closed 0.05 to 0.10 cent higher, with October at 18.90 cents a dozen.

Chicago Firm to Make Disney Hats for Women

The J. B. Carroll Hat company, Chicago millinery firm, announced it has acquired rights to the Disney trade-mark and will manufacture and market a new line of tailored hats to be known as "Disney Hats for Women." Disney hats, manufactured in New York, previously have been made only for men.

INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY RECOVERS HALF OF EARLY 1940 DECLINE

Washington, D. C., July 17 (AP).—The Federal Reserve board said today that industry had made up about half of its early year losses.

The board said its index of industrial production jumped from 106 in May to 114 in June, and continued to rise thus far in July. After reaching an all time high of 128 last December, the index fell to 102 in April.

The board said that the May index rise was due primarily to increased production of iron and steel and textiles. Coal production was high, but petroleum output declined. Automobile production declined seasonally, and construction activity was virtually unchanged.

The June index of 114 brought industry back, on a seasonally adjusted basis, to about the levels of early October last year, when one of the sharpest rises in history began. In June, last year, the index was at 98.

SILEX DIVIDEND CUT TO 15 CENTS FOR 3D QUARTER

Silex company, manufacturer and distributor of glass coffee makers, yesterday declared a dividend of 15 cents a share, a reduction from the regular quarterly payment of 30 cents.

F. E. Wolcott, president, said that the cut was due "to the necessity of conserving cash to meet rather heavy capital expenditures in connection with the production of our new automatic electric steam iron and no-lift roller bearing iron stand."

Dividends announced yesterday, with payment and record dates, follow:

BROKERS FAVOR PLANNING FOR POSTWAR TASKS

New York, July 17 [Special].—Enthusiastic response has greeted the appeal of Marshall W. Pask, veteran stock broker, that financial experts of the country confer on the eventual postwar situation and means for meeting it. Pask, a member of the New York Stock exchange firm of MacKay & Co., said today that he is calling a meeting for next week to organize the national financial and commodity preparedness committee.

He said that officers would be chosen and subcommittees formed. Each of the latter would immediately commence surveys of their own particular problems and be ready to report at a subsequent meeting in the near future.

Among those who accepted his invitation were George P. Rea, president of the New York Curb exchange; Emmett F. Connely, president of the Investment Bankers association; Charles Slaughter, president of the Commodity Exchange, Inc.; R. J. Murray, president of the New York Cotton exchange; and A. J. Clear, president of the New York Curb Exchange Partners association.

F. A. Hiter, vice president and general sales manager of the Stewart-Warner corporation, reported yesterday that orders placed during the first six months of 1940 for the company's gasoline burning automobile heater equaled approximately 83 per cent of total sales last year. Hiter said that sales to June 30 this year were almost four times larger than in the first half of 1939.

CROP CONDITIONS GOOD OVER MOST OF GRAIN STATES

More Rain Needed Thru Spring Wheat Belt.

Weather conditions during the last week were favorable for most crops and harvesting operations over large areas, altho heat and drouth continued damaging in parts of the plains states, the weather bureau reported yesterday.

Temperatures east of the Mississippi river averaged 3 to 6 degrees below normal. West of the river the average was 3 to 9 degrees above normal. The week's rainfall exceeded one inch in parts of North Dakota, Iowa, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, and Minnesota.

Corn Makes Good Progress.

The corn crop made good progress, except in some of the driest areas. Tasseling has begun as far north as Montana. Winter wheat harvest is practically finished as far north as Iowa. Spring wheat is in good condition in Minnesota and parts of North Dakota. Heads are filling fairly well in South Dakota. In Montana the crop ranges from poor to good.

Condition of grain crops was reported as follows:

ILLINOIS—More rain needed. Progress of corn mostly good; generally 3 to 6 feet high; some tasseling in south, and starting in places in north and central parts of state. Winter wheat and oats mostly harvested in south; well advanced in north.

IOWA—Corn made good progress, with some tassels showing in nearly all counties; considerable chinch bug damage in south and central portions. Winter wheat harvest practically finished. Oats and barley harvest just begun in some localities and nearly finished in others.

Michigan Corn Backward.

MICHIGAN—Corn backward; best waist high. Wheat harvest started in south. Sugar beets, potatoes, and beans doing fine.

WISCONSIN—Corn good; shoulder high in south; some tassels in earliest fields. Harvest of winter wheat and barley started. Tobacco making excellent progress.

OHIO—Most wheat harvested. Progress of corn mostly good; much of it late. Oats prospects good.

INDIANA—More rain needed. Cutting of wheat finished in south; well along in central part of state; some rust damage. Oats fair to good. Corn mostly good; some tasseling in extreme south; mostly 3 to 5 feet high.

RAIN IN SPRING WHEAT STATES BREAKS PRICES

Heavy rains in parts of North Dakota and Minnesota and weakness in securities combined with increased hedging pressure to send wheat prices on the Chicago Board of Trade downward yesterday. The close was ⅞ to 1 cent a bushel lower. Corn finished ⅛ cent higher to ⅜ cent lower, the latter on December which sold within ⅜ cent of the seasonal low price. Oats were ½ cent higher to ⅛ cent lower, and rye 1 to 1⅛ cents lower. October soy beans sold off ⅝ cent.

Many professional traders turned to the selling side of wheat futures shortly after the opening, and mills, which were aggressive buyers Tuesday, were out of the market.

Chicago cash corn handlers bid 59½ to 60 cents a bushel for No. 2 yellow corn at Illinois country elevators yesterday and bought 165,000 bushels, the largest amount secured in one day for several weeks.

THE Illinois State Nurses Association with a membership of about 11,000 registered nurses including alumnae from 104 accredited schools of nursing in this state wishes to announce to all business firms, particularly those selling to hospitals, that it is in no way connected with the persons who are selling tickets or asking for contributions for an alleged benefit for needy nurses. Our Assn. has suffered much embarassment because a group using a name similar to the one under which we have been incorporated for nearly 40 years is soliciting funds throughout this city and suburbs.
